against your brethren: let every man return to his own house, for by me this thing has been done. And when they heard the word of the Lord, they returned, and did not go against Jeroboam.

5 And Roboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built walled cities in Juda.

6 And he built Beth-lehem, and Etam, and The-cue, 7 And Beth-suran, and Socho, and Odollam,

8 And Gethe, and Mareh, and Ziph,

9 And Aduram, and Lachis, and Az-zech-

10 Sama also, and Aialon, and Hebron, which are in Juda and Benjamin, well fenced cities.

11 And when he had enclosed them with walls, he put in them governors and storehouses of provisions, that is, of oil and of wine.

12 Moreover, in every city he made an armoury of shields and spears, and fortified them with great diligence, and he reigned over Juda and Benjamin.

13 And the priests and Levites, that were in all Israel, came to him out of all their seats, 14 Leaving their suburbs and their possessions, and passing over to Juda and Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons had cast them off, from executing the priestly office to the Lord.

15 And he made to himself priests for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves which he had made.

16 Moreover, out of all the tribes of Israel, whosoever gave their heart to seek the Lord, the God of Israel, came into Jerusalem to sacrifice their victims before the Lord, the God of their fathers.

17 And they strengthened the kingdom of Juda, and established Roboam, the son of Solomon, three years: for they walked in the ways of David and of Solomon, only three years.

18 And Roboam took to wife Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth, the son of David: and Abihail, the daughter of Eliab, the son of Isai.

19 And they bore him sons, Jehus, and Somorias, and Zomm.

20 And after her he married Maacha, the daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abia, and Ethai, and Ziza, and Salomith.

21 And Roboam loved Maacha, the daughter of Ab-

22 And he put at the head of them Abia, the son of Maacha, to be the chief ruler over all his brethren: for he meant to make him king.

23 Because he was wiser and mightier than all his sons, and in all the countries of Juda, and of Benjamin, and in all the walled cities: and he gave them provisions in abundance, and he sought many wives.

CHAP. XII.

1 And when the kingdom of Roboam was strengthened and fortified, he forsook the law of the Lord, and all Israel with him.

2 And in the fifth year of the reign of Roboam, Sessa, king of Egypt, came up against Jerusalem (because they had sinned against the Lord).

3 With twelve hundred chariots, and three score thousand horsemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt; to wit, Lybiens, and Troglydites, and Ethiopians.

4 And he took the strongest cities in Juda, and came to Jerusalem.

5 And Semeias, the prophet, came to Roboam, and to the princes of Juda, that were gathered together in Jeru-

6 saem, fleeing from Sessa, and he said to them: Thus saith the Lord: You have left me, and I have left you in the hand of Sessa.

7 And the princes of Israel, and the king, being in a consternation, said: The Lord is just.

8 And when the Lord saw that they were humbled, the word of the Lord came to Semeias, saying: Because they are humbled, I will not destroy them, and I will give them a little help, and my wrath shall not fall upon Jeru-

9 salem by the hand of Sessa.

10 But yet they shall serve him, that they may know the difference between my service, and the service of a kingdom of the earth.

11 So Sessa, king of Egypt, departed from Jerusalem, taking away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the king's house, and he took all with him, and the golden shields that Solomon had made,

12 And he cast them into the sea of brass, which is in the court of the king's house.

13 Moreover, the king made brazen ones, and delivered them to the captains of the shield-bearers, who guarded the entrance of the palace.

14 And when the king entered into the house of the Lord, the shield-bearers came and took them, and brought them back again to their armoury.
12 But yet, because they were humbled, the wrath of the Lord turned away from them, and they were not utterly destroyed: for even in Judah there were found good works.

13 *King Roboam, therefore, was strengthened in Jerusalem, and reigned: he was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the Lord chose out of all the tribes of Israel, to establish his name there: and the name of his mother was Naama, an Ammonitess.

14 But he did evil, and did not prepare his heart to seek the Lord.

15 Now the acts of Roboam, first and last, are written in the books of Semeitas, the prophet, and of Addo, the seer, and diligently recorded: and there was war between Roboam and Jeroboam, all their days.

16 And Roboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David. And Abia, his son, reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XIII.

Abia's reign; his victory over Jeroboam.

IN the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam, Abia reigned over Judah.

2 Three years he reigned in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Michaila, the daughter of Uriel, of Gaban: and there was war between Abia and Jeroboam.

3 And when Abia had begun battle, and had with him four hundred thousand most valiant and chosen men: Jeroboam put his army in array against him, eight hundred thousand men, who were also chosen, and most valiant for war.

4 And Abia stood upon Mount Samer, which was in Ephraim, and said: Hear me, O Jeroboam, and all Israel:

5 Do you know that the Lord God of Israel gave to David the kingdom over Israel for ever, to him and to his sons, by a covenant of salt?

6 And Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, the servant of Solomon, the son of David, rose up: and rebelled against his lord.

7 And there were gathered to him vain men, and children of Belial: and they prevailed against Roboam, the son of Solomon: for Roboam was unexperienced, and of a fearful heart, and could not resist them.

8 And now you say that you are able to withstand the kingdom of the Lord, which he possesseth by the sons of David, and you have a great multitude of people, and golden calves, which Jeroboam hath made you for gods.

9 *And you have cast out the priests of the Lord, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites: and you have made you priests, like all the nations of the earth: whosoever cometh and consecretheth his hand with a bullock of the herd, and with seven rams, is made a priest of those who are no gods.

10 But the Lord is our God, whom we forsake not; and the priests, who minister to the Lord, are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites are in their order.

11 And they offer holocausts to the Lord every day, morning and evening, and incense, made according to the ordinance of the law, and the loaves are set forth on a most clean table, and there is with us the golden candlestick, and the lamps thereof, to be lighted always in the evening: for we keep the precepts of the Lord, our God, whom you have forsaken.

12 Therefore, God is the leader in our army, and his priests, who sound with trumpets, and resound against you: O children of Israel, fight not against the Lord, the God of your fathers, for it is not good for you.

13 While he spoke these things, Jeroboam caused an ambushment to come about behind him. And while he stood facing the enemies, he encompassed Judah, who perceived it not, with his army.

14 And when Judah looked back, they saw the battle coming upon them, both before and behind, and they cried to the Lord: and the priests began to sound with the trumpets.

15 And all the men of Judah shouted: and beheld when

* 2 Kings xv. 7. A. M. 5804.-3 Kings xli. 26.-3 Kings xii. 38.
they shouted, God terrified Jeroboam, and all Israel, that stood against Abia and Juda.
16 And the children of Israel fled before Juda, and the Lord delivered them into their hand.
17 And Abia, and his people, slew them with a great slaughter, and there fell wounded of Israel five hundred thousand valiant men.
18 And the children of Israel were brought down at that time, and the children of Juda were exceedingly strengthened, because they had trusted in the Lord, the God of their fathers.
19 And Abia pursued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him; Bethel, and her daughters, and Jesana, with her daughters, Ephron also, and her daughters.
20 And Jeroboam was not able to resist any more, in the days of Abia: and the Lord struck him, and he died.
21 But Abia, being strengthened in his kingdom, took fourteen wives: and begot two and twenty sons, and sixteen daughters.
22 And the rest of the acts of Abia, and of his ways and works, are written diligently in the book of Addo, the prophet.

CHAP. XIV.

The reign of Asa: his victory over the Ethiopians.

AND Abia slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Asa, his son, reigned in his stead; in his days, the land was quiet ten years.
1 And Asa did that which was good and pleasing in the sight of the Lord, and he destroyed the altars of foreign worship, and the high places;
2 And broke the statues, and cut down the groves.
3 And he commanded Judah to seek the Lord, the God of their fathers, and to do the law, and all the commandments.
4 And he took away out of all the cities of Judah the altars, and temples, and reigned in peace.
5 He built also strong cities in Juda, for he was quiet, and there had no wars risen in his time, the Lord giving peace.

CHAP. XV.

The prophecy of Azarias. Asa's covenant with God. He deposeth his mother.

AND the Spirit of God came upon Azarias, the son of Oded,
7 And he said to Juda: Let us build these cities, and compass them with walls, and fortify them with towers, and gates, and bars, while all is quiet from wars, because we have sought the Lord, the God of our fathers, and he hath given us peace round about. So they built, and there was no hinderance in building.
8 And Asa had in his army men that bore shields and spears; of Juda, three hundred thousand; and of Benjamin, that bore shields and drew bows two hundred and eighty thousand, all these were most valiant men.
9 And Zara, the Ethiopian, came out against them, with his army of ten hundred thousand men, and with three hundred chariots: and he came as far as Maressa.
10 And Asa went out to meet him, and set his army in array for battle in the vale of Sephasta, which is near Maressa:
11 And he called upon the Lord God, and said: Lord, there is no difference with thee, whether thou help with few or with many: help us, O Lord, our God: for with confidence in thee, and in thy name, we are come against this multitude. O Lord, thou art our God, let not man prevail against thee.
12 And the Lord terrified the Ethiopians before Asa and Juda: and the Ethiopians fled.
13 And Asa, and the people that were with him, pursued them to Gerara: and the Ethiopians fell even to utter destruction; for the Lord slew them, and his army fought against them, and they were destroyed. And they took abundance of spoils,
14 And they took all the cities round about Gerara for a great fear was come upon all men: and they pillaged the cities, and carried off much booty.
15 And they destroyed the sheep-cotes, and took an infinite multitude of cattle, and of camels: and returned to Jerusalem.

2 And he went out to meet Asa, and said to him:
Hear ye me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin: The Lord is with you, because you have been with him. If you seek him, you shall find: but if you forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 And many days shall pass in Israel, without the true God, and without a priest, and without the law.

4 And when in their distress, they shall return to the Lord, the God of Israel, and shall seek him, they shall find him.

5 At that time, there shall be no peace to him that goeth out and cometh in, but terror on every side, among all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation shall fight against nation, and city against city; for the Lord will trouble them with all distress.

7 Do you, therefore, take courage, and let not your hands be weakened: for there shall be a reward for your work.

8 And when Asa had heard the words, and the prophecy of Azariah, the son of Oded, the prophet, he took courage, and took away the idols out of all the land of Judah, and out of Benjamin, and out of the cities of Mount Ephraim, which he had taken, and he dedicated the altar of the Lord, which was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And he gathered together all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them, of Ephraim, and Manasses, and Simeon: for many were come over to him out of Israel, seeing that the Lord, his God, was with him.

10 And when they were come to Jerusalem, in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa.

11 They sacrificed to the Lord in that day of the spoils, and of the prey, that they had brought, seven hundred oxen, and seven thousand rams.

12 And he went in to confirm as usual the covenant, that they should seek the Lord, the God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soul.

13 And if any one, said he, seek not the Lord, the God of Israel, he let him die, whether little or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware to the Lord, with a loud voice, with joyful shouting, and with sound of trumpet, and sound of cornets.

15 All that were in Juda with a curse: for with all their heart they sware, and with all their will they sought him, and they found him, and the Lord gave them rest round about.

16 Moreover, Maacha, the mother of king Asa, he deposed from the royal authority, because she had made in a grove an idol of Priapus: and he entirely destroyed it, and breaking it into pieces, burnt it at the torrent Cedron.

17 But high places were left in Israel: nevertheless, the heart of Asa was perfect all his days.

18 And the things which his father had vowed, and he himself had vowed, he brought into the house of the Lord, gold and silver, and vessels, of divers uses.

And in the six and thirtieth year of his kingdom, Baasha, the king of Israel, came up against Juda, and built a wall about Rama, that no one might safely go out or come in, of the kingdom of Asa.

1 Then Asa brought out silver and gold, out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the king’s treasures, and sent to Benhadad, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying:

3 There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father, wherefore I have sent thee silver and gold, that thou mayst break thy league with Baasha, king of Israel, and make him depart from me.

4 And when Benhadad heard this, he sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel: and they took Ahion, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and all the walled cities of Nephtali.

5 And when Baasha heard of it, he left off the building of Rama, and interrupted his work.

6 Then king Asa took all Juda, and they carried away... from Rama, the stones, and the timber that Baasa had gathered together for the building: and he built with them Gabaa and Maspha.

7 At that time Hanani, the prophet, came to Asa, king of Judah, and said to him: Because thou hast not had confidence in the king of Syria, and not in the Lord, thy God, therefore hath the army of the king of Syria escaped out of thy hand.

8 'Were not the Ethiopians, and the Lybians, much more numerous in chariots, and horsemen, and an exceedingly great multitude: yet because thou trustedst in the Lord, he delivered them into thy hand?

9 For the eyes of the Lord behold all the earth, and giveth strength to those who with a perfect heart trust in him. Wherefore, thou hast done foolishly; and for this cause, from this time wars shall arise against thee.

10 And Asa was angry with the seer; and commanded him to be put in prison: for he was greatly enraged because of this thing: and he put to death many of the people at that time.

11 But the works of Asa, the first and last, are written in the Book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

12 And Asa fell sick in the nine and thirtieth year of his reign, of a most violent pain in his feet, and yet in his illness he did not seek the Lord, but rather trusted in the skill of physicians.

13 And he slept with his fathers: and he died in the one and fortyth year of his reign.

14 And they buried him in his own sepulchre, which he had made for himself in the city of David: and they laid him on his bed, full of spices and odorous ointments, which were made by the art of the perfumers, and they burnt them over him with very great pomp.

2 And he placed numbers of soldiers in all the fortified cities of Juda. And he put garrisons in the land of Juda, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa, his father, had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Josaphat, because he walked in the first ways of David, his father: and trusted not in Baalim,

4 But in the God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not according to the sins of Israel.

5 And the Lord established the kingdom in his hand, and all Juda brought presents to Josaphat: and he acquired immense riches, and much glory.

6 And when his heart had taken courage for the ways of the Lord, he took away also the high places, and the groves, out of Juda.

7 And in the third year of his reign, he sent of his princes Benhail, and Abdias, and Zacharias, and Nathanael, and Micheas, to teach in the cities of Juda:

8 And with them the Levites, Semeias, and Nathaniael, and Zabadias, and Asael, and Semiramoth, and Jonathan, and Adoniyas, and Tobias, and Thobadonias, Levites, and with them Elisama, and Joram, priests.

9 And they taught the people in Juda, having with them the book of the law of the Lord: and they went about all the cities of Juda, and instructed the people.

10 And the fear of the Lord came upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Juda, and they durst not make war against Josaphat.

11 The Philistines also brought presents to Josaphat, and tribute in silver; and the Arabians brought him cattle, seven thousand seven hundred rams, and as many he-goats.

12 And Josaphat grew, and became exceedingly great: and he built in Juda houses like towers, and walled cities.

13 And he prepared many works in the cities of Juda, and he had warriors, and valiant men, in Jerusalem.

14 Of whom this is the number of the houses, and families, of every one: in Juda captains of the army:

CHAP. XVIII.

Josaphat accompanied Ahab in his expedition against Ramoth; where Ahab is slain, as Micaiah had foretold.

NOW Josaphat was rich and very glorious, and was joined by affinity to Ahab.
2 And he went down to him after some years, to Samaria: and Ahab, at his coming, killed sheep and oxen in abundance, for him and the people that came with him: and he persuaded him to go up to Ramoth-Galaad.
3 And Ahab, king of Israel, said to Josaphat, king of Judah: Come with me to Ramoth-Galaad. And he answered him: Thou art as I am, and my people as thy people, and we will be with thee in the war.
4 And Josaphat said to the king of Israel: Inquire, I beseech thee, at present the word of the Lord.
5 So the king of Israel gathered together of the prophets four hundred men, and he said to them: Shall we go to Ramoth-Galaad to fight, or shall we forbear? But they said: Go up, and God will deliver it into the king's hand.
6 And Josaphat said: Is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that we may inquire also of him?
7 And the king of Israel said to Josaphat: There is one man, of whom we may ask the will of the Lord: but I hate him, for he never prophesies good to me, but always evil: and it is Micaiah, the son of Jelma. And Josaphat said: Speak not thus, O king.
8 And the king of Israel called one of the eunuchs, and said to him: Call quickly Micaiah, the son of Jelma.
9 Now the king of Israel, and Josaphat, king of Judah, both sat on their thrones, clothed in royal robes, and they sat in the open court by the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them.
10 And Zedecias, the son of Channaanah, made him horns of iron, and said: Thus saith the Lord: With these shalt thou push Syria, and thou shalt destroy it.
11 And all the prophets prophesied in like manner, and said: Go up to Ramoth-Galaad, and thou shalt prosper, and the Lord will deliver them into the king's hand.

12 And the messenger that went to call Micaiah, said to him: Behold the words of all the prophets with one mouth declare good to the king: I beseech thee, therefore, let not thy word disagree with them, and speak thou also good success.
13 And Micaiah answered him: As the Lord liveth, whatsoever my God shall say to me, that will I speak.
14 So he came to the king: and the king said to him: Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-Galaad to fight, or forbear? And he answered him: Go up, for all shall succeed prosperously, and the enemies shall be delivered into your hands.
15 And the king said: I adjure thee again and again to say nothing but the truth to me, in the name of the Lord.
16 Then he said: I saw all Israel scattered in the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd: and the Lord said: These have no masters: let every man return to his own house in peace.
17 And the king of Israel said to Josaphat: Did I not tell thee that this man would not prophesy me any good, but evil?
18 Then he said: Hear ye therefore the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne, and all the army of heaven standing by him on the right hand and on the left.
19 And the Lord said: Who shall deceive Ahab, king of Israel, that he may go up and fall in Ramoth-Galaad? And when one spoke in this manner, and another otherwise:
20 There came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said: I will deceive him. And the Lord said to him: By what means wilt thou deceive him?
21 And he answered: I will go out, and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And the Lord said: Thou shalt deceive, and shalt prevail: go out, and do so.
22 Now, therefore, behold the Lord hath put a spirit of lying in the mouth of all thy prophets, and the Lord hath spoken evil against thee.
23 And Zedecias, the son of Channaanah, came, and struck Micaiah on the cheek, and said: Which way went the spirit of the Lord from me, to speak to thee?
24 And Micaiah said: Thou thyself shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go in from chamber to chamber, to hide thyself.
25 And the king of Israel commanded, saying: Take Micaiah, and carry him to Amon, the governor of the city, and to Joas, the son of Amelech.
26 And say: Thus saith the king: Put this man in prison, and give him bread, and water in a small quantity, till I return in peace.
27 And Micaiah said: If thou return in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he said: Hear, all ye people.
28 So the king of Israel, and Josaphat, king of Juda, went up to Ramoth-Galadu.
29 And the king of Israel said to Josaphat: I will change my dress, and so will I go to the battle, but put thou on thy own garments. And the king of Israel having changed his dress, went to the battle.
30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of his cavalry, saying: Fight ye not with small, or great, but with the king of Israel only.
31 So when the captains of the cavalry saw Josaphat, they said: This is the king of Israel. And they surrounded him, to attack him: but he cried to the Lord, and he helped him, and turned them away from him.
32 For when the captains of the cavalry saw, that he was not the king of Israel, they left him.
33 And it happened that one of the people shot an arrow at a venture, and struck the king of Israel between the neck and the shoulders, and he said to his charioteer: Turn thy hand, and carry me out of the battle, for I am wounded.
34 And the fight was ended that day: but the king of Israel stood in his chariot against the Syrians until the evening, and died at the sunset.

CHAP. XIX.
Josaphat's charge to the judges and to the Levites.

A ND Josaphat, king of Juda, returned to his house in peace to Jerusalem.
2 And Jehu, the son of Hanani, the seer, met him, and said to him: Thou hast helped the ungodly, and thou art joined in friendship with them that hate the Lord, and therefore thou didst deserve indeed the wrath of the Lord:
3 But good works are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the groves out of the land of Juda, and hast prepared thy heart to seek the Lord, the God of thy fathers.
4 And Josaphat dwelt at Jerusalem: and he went out again to the people from Bersabee to Mount Ephraim, and brought them back to the Lord, the God of their fathers.
5 And he set judges of the land in all the fenced cities of Juda, in every place.
6 And charging the judges, he said: Take heed what you do: for you exercise not the judgment of man, but of the Lord: and whatsoever you judge, it shall redound to you.
7 Let the fear of the Lord be with you, and do all things with diligence: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor desire of gifts.
8 In Jerusalem also Josaphat appointed Levites, and priests, and chiefs of the families of Israel, to judge the judgment and the cause of the Lord for the inhabitants thereof.
9 And he charged them, saying: Thus shall you do in the fear of the Lord faithfully, and with a perfect heart.
10 Every cause that shall come to you of your brethren, that dwell in their cities, between kindred and kindred, wheresoever there is question concerning the law, the commandment, the ceremonies, the justifications: show it them, that they may not sin against the Lord, and that wrath may not come upon you and your brethren: and so doing, you shall not sin.
11 And Amarias, the priest, your high priest, shall be chief in the things which regard God: and Zabudias, the son of Ismael, who is ruler in the house of Juda, shall be over those matters which belong to the king's office: and you have before you the Levites for masters; take courage and do diligently, and the Lord will be with you in good things.

CHAP. XX.
The Ammonites, Moabites, and Syrians combine against Josaphat; he seeketh God's help by public prayer and fasting.

A FTER this the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them of the Ammonites, were gathered together to fight against Josaphat.
2 And there came messengers, and told Josaphat, saying: There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea, and out of Syria, and behold they are in Assanthamar, which is Engaddi.
3 And Josaphat being seized with fear, betook himself wholly to pray to the Lord, and he proclaimed a fast for all Juda.
4 And Juda gathered themselves together to pray to the Lord: and all came out of their cities to make supplication to him.

5 And Josaphat stood in the midst of the assembly of Juda, and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord before the new court.

6 And said: O Lord God of our fathers, thou art God, in heaven, and rulest over all the kingdoms and nations; in thy hand is strength and power, and no one can resist thee.

7 Didst thou, our God, kill all the inhabitants of this land before they peopled Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham, thy friend, for ever?

8 And they dwelt in it, and built it in a sanctuary to thy name, saying:

9 If evils fall upon us, the sword of judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand in thy presence before his house, in which thy name is called upon: and we will cry to thee, in our afflictions, and thou wilt hear, and save us.

10 Now, therefore, behold the children of Ammon, and of Moab, and Mount Seir, through whose lands thou didst not allow Israel to pass, when they came out of Egypt, but they turned aside from them, and slew them not:

11 They do the contrary, and endeavour to cast us out of the possession which thou hast delivered to us.

12 O our God, wilt thou then judge them? as for us we have not strength enough to be able to resist this multitude, which cometh violently upon us. But as we know not what to do, we can only turn our eyes to thee.

13 And all Juda stood before the Lord, with their little ones, and their wives, and their children.

14 And Jahnziel, the son of Zacharias, the son of Barhias, the son of Jehiel, the son of Mathanias, a Levite, of the sons of Asaph, was there, upon whom the Spirit of the Lord came in the midst of the multitude.

15 And he said: Attend ye, all Juda, and you that dwell in Jerusalem, and thou king Josaphat: Thus saith the Lord to you: Fear ye not, and be not dismayed at this multitude: for the battle is not yours, but God's.

16 To-morrow you shall go down against them: for they will come up by the ascent named Sis, and you shall find them at the head of the torrent, which is over against the wilderness of Jeruel.

17 It shall not be you that shall fight, but only stand with confidence, and you shall see the help of the Lord ever you, O Juda, and Jerusalem: fear ye not, nor be you dismayed: to-morrow you shall go out against them, and the Lord will be with you.

18 Then Josaphat and Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell flat on the ground before the Lord, and adored him.

19 And the Levites of the sons of Caath, and of the sons of Core, praised the Lord, the God of Israel, with a loud voice on high.

20 And they rose early in the morning, and went out through the desert of Thecua: and as they were marching, Josaphat standing in the midst of them, said: Hear me, ye men of Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: believe in the Lord your God, and you shall be secure: believe his prophets, and all things shall succeed well.

21 And he gave counsel to the people, and appointed the singing men of the Lord, to praise him by their companies, and to go before the army, and with one voice to say: Give glory to the Lord, for his mercy endureth for ever.

22 And when they began to sing praises, the Lord turned their ambushments upon themselves, that is to say, of the children of Ammon, and of Moab, and of Mount Seir, who were come out to fight against Juda, and they were slain.

23 For the children of Ammon, and of Moab, rose up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir, to kill and destroy them: and when they had made an end of them, they turned also against one another, and destroyed one another.

24 And when Juda came to the watch-tower, that looketh toward the desert, they saw afar off all the country, for a great space, full of dead bodies, and that no one was left that could escape death.

25 Then Josaphat came, and all the people with him, to take away the spoliis of the dead, and they found among the dead bodies, stuff of various kinds, and garments, and most precious vessels: and they took them for themselves, insomuch that they could not carry all, nor in three days take away the spoils, the booty was so great.

26 And on the fourth day they were assembled in the valley of Blessing: for there they blessed the Lord, and therefore they called that place the valley of Blessing until this day.

27 And every man of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, returned, and Josaphat, at their head, into Jerusalem, with great joy; because the Lord had made them rejoice over their enemies.

28 And they came into Jerusalem with psalteries, and harps, and trumpets, into the house of the Lord.

29 And the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands, when they heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 And the kingdom of Josaphat was quiet, and God gave him peace round about.

31 And Josaphat reigned over Judah, and was five and thirty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned five and twenty years in Jerusalem: and the name of his mother was Azuba, the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of his father, Asa, and departed not from it, doing the things that were pleasing before the Lord.

33 But yet he took not away the high places, and the people had not yet turned their heart to the Lord, the God of their fathers.

34 But the rest of the acts of Josaphat, first and last, are written in the words of Jehiel, the son of Hanani, which he digested into the Books of the kings of Israel.

35 After these things Josaphat, king of Judah, made friendship with Ochozias, king of Israel, whose works were very wicked.

36 And he was at war with him in making ships, to go to Tharsis: and they made the ships in Asiongaber.

37 And Eliezer, the son of Dodaiah, of Maresha, prophesied to Josaphat, saying: Because thou hast made a league with Ochozias, the Lord hath destroyed thy works, and the ships are broken, and they could not go to Tharsis.

CHAP. XXII.
Josaphat's wicked reign: his punishment and death.

And Josaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David: and Joram, his son, reigned in his stead.

2 And he had brethren, the sons of Josaphat, Azarias, and Jehiel, and Zacharias, and Azaria, and Michael, and Saphathias: all these were the sons of Josaphat, king of Judah.

3 And their father gave them great gifts of silver, and of gold, and pensions, with strong cities in Judah: but the kingdom he gave to Joram, because he was the eldest.

4 So Joram rose up over the kingdom of his father:

and when he had established himself, he slew all his brethren with the sword, and some of the princes of Israel.

5 Joram was two and thirty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

6 And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for his wife was a daughter of Ahab, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord.

7 But the Lord would not destroy the house of David: because of the covenant which he had made with him: and because he had promised to give a lamp to him, and to his sons for ever.

8 In those days Edom revolted, from being subject to Judah, and made themselves a king.

9 And Joram went over with his princes, and all his cavalry with him, and rose in the night, and defeated the Edomites who had surrounded him, and all the captains of his cavalry.

10 However, Edom revolted from being under the dominion of Judah unto this day: at that time Lophna also revolted from being under his hand. For he had forsaken the Lord, the God of his fathers:

11 Moreover he built also high places in the cities of Judah, and he made the inhabitants of Jerusalem commit fornication, and Juda to transgress.

12 And there was a letter brought him from Elias, the prophet, in which it was written: Thus saith the Lord, the God of David, thy father: Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Josaphat, thy father, nor in the ways of Asa, king of Juda,

13 But hast walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and hast made Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to commit fornication, imitating the fornication of the house of Ahab; moreover, also, thou hast slain thy brethren, the house of thy father, better men than thyself.

14 Behold the Lord will strike thee with a great plague, with all thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt be sick of a very grievous disease of thy bowels, till thy vital parts come out by little and little every day.

16 And the Lord stirred up against Joram the spirit of the Philistines, and of the Arabsians, who border on the Ethiopians.

And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ochozias, his youngest son, king in his place: for the rovers of the Arabians, who had broke in upon the camp, had killed all that were his elder brothers. So Ochozias, the son of Joram, king of Judah, reigned.

2 Ochozias was forty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was Athaliah, the daughter of Amri.

3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother pushed him on to do wickedly.

4 So he did evil in the sight of the Lord, as the house of Ahab did: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after his counsellors. And he went with Joram, the son of Ahab, king of Israel, to fight against Hazael, king of Syria, at Ramoth-Galad: and the Syrians wounded Joram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Jezrohel: for he received many wounds in the foresaid battle. And Ochozias, the son of Joram, king of Judah, went down to visit Joram, the son of Ahab, in Jezrohel, where he lay sick.

7 For it was the will of God against Ochozias, that he should come to Joram: and when he was come, should go out also against Jehu, the son of Numbi, whom the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 So when Jehu was rooting out the house of Ahab, he found the princes of Judah, and the sons of the brethren of Ochozias, who served him, and he slew them.

9 And he sought for Ochozias himself, and took him lying hid in Samaria: and when he was brought to him, he killed him, and they buried him: because he was the son of Josaphat, who had sought the Lord with all his heart. And there was no more hope that any one should reign of the race of Ochozias.

10 For Athalia, his mother, seeing that her son was dead, rose up, and killed all the royal family of the house of Joram.

11 But Joscabel, the king’s daughter, took Joas, the son of Ochozias, and stole him from among the king’s sons, that were slain. And she hid him with her nurse in a bed-chamber: now Josapheth that hid him, was daughter of king Joram, wife of Joida, the high priest, and sister of Ochozias, and therefore Athalia did not kill him.

12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six years, during which Athalia reigned over the land.

And in the seventh year, Joida being encouraged, took the captains of hundreds, to wit, Azarias, the son of Jerobam, and Ismael, the son of Johanan, and Azarias, the son of Obad, and Maasias, the son of Adias, and Eliaphaz, the son of Zechar: and made a covenant with them.

And they went about Judah, and gathered together the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, and the chief of the families of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

And all the multitude made a covenant with the king, in the house of God: and Joida said to them: Behold the king’s son shall reign, as the Lord hath said of the son of David.

And this is the thing that you shall do:

A third part of you that come to the sabbath, of the priests, and of the Levites, and of the porters, shall be at the camp.
the gates: and a third part at the king's house: and a third at the gate that is called the Foundation: but let all the rest of the people be in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And let no one come into the house of the Lord, but the priests, and they that minister of the Levites: let them only come in, because they are sanctified: and let all the rest of the people keep the watches of the Lord.

7 And let the Levites be round about the king, every man with his arms (and if any other come into the temple, let him be slain): and let them be with the king, both coming in and going out.

8 So the Levites, and all Juda, did according to all that Joiada, the high priest, had commanded: and they took every one his man that were under him, and that came in by the course of the sabbath, with those who had fulfilled the sabbath, and were to go out. For Joiada, the high priest, permitted not the companies to depart, which were accustomed to succeed one another every week.

9 And Joiada, the priest, gave to the captains the spears, and the shields, and targets of king David, which he had dedicated in the house of the Lord.

10 And he set all the people with swords in their hands, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, before the altar, and the temple, round about the king.

11 And they brought out the king's son, and put the crown upon him, and the testimony, and gave him the law to hold in his hand, and they made him king: and Joiada, the high priest, and his sons, anointed him: and they prayed for him, and said: God save the king.

12 Now when Athalia heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came in to the people into the temple of the Lord.

13 And when she saw the king standing upon the step in the entrance, and the princes, and the companies about him, and all the people of the land rejoicing, and sounding with trumpets, and playing on instruments of divers kinds, and the voice of those that praised, she rent her garments, and said: Treason, treason.

14 And Joiada, the high priest, going out to the captains, and the chiefs of the army, said to them: Take her forth without the precinct of the temple, and when she is without, let her be killed with the sword. For the priest commanded that she should not be killed in the house of the Lord.

15 And they laid hold on her by the neck: and when she was come within the horse-gate of the palace, they killed her there.

16 And Joiada made a covenant between himself and all the people, and the king, that they should be the people of the Lord.

17 And all the people went into the house of Baal, and destroyed it: and they broke down his altars and his idols: and they slew Mathan, the priest of Baal, before the altars.

18 And Joiada appointed overseers in the house of the Lord, under the hands of the priests, and the Levites, whom David had distributed in the house of the Lord: to offer holocausts to the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moses, with joy and singing, according to the disposition of David.

19 He appointed also porters in the gates of the house of the Lord, that none was unclean in any thing should enter in.

20 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the most valiant men, and the chiefs of the people, and all the people of the land, and they brought down the king from the house of the Lord, and brought him through the upper gate into the king's house, and set him on the royal throne.

21 And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet: but Athalia was slain with the sword.

CHAP. XXIV.

Joas reigned all the days of Joiada: afterwards fell into idolatry, and causeth Zacharias to be slain. He is slain himself by his servants.

JoaS was seven years old when he began to reign: and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Sibia, of Bersabee.

2 And he did that which was good before the Lord all the days of Joiada, the priest.

3 And Joias took for him two wives, by whom he had sons and daughters.

4 After this Joas had a mind to repair the house of the Lord.

5 And he assembled the priests, and the Levites, and said to them: Go out to the cities of Juda, and gather of all Israel money to repair the temple of your God, from year to year, and do this with speed: but the Levites were negligent.

6 And the king called Joias, the chief, and said to him: Why hast thou not taken care to oblige the Levites to bring in out of Juda and Jerusalem, the money that was appointed by Moses, the servant of the Lord, for all the multitude of Israel to bring into the tabernacle of the testimony?

7 For that wicked woman, Athalia, and her children, have destroyed the house of God, and adorned the temple of Baal with all the things that had been dedicated in the temple of the Lord.

8 And the king commanded, and they made a chest: and set it by the gate of the house of the Lord, on the outside.

9 And they made a proclamation in Judah and Jerusalem, that every man should bring to the Lord, the money which Moses, the servant of God, appointed for all Israel, in the desert.

10 And all the princes and all the people rejoiced: and going in, they contributed, and cast so much into the chest of the Lord, that it was filled.

11 And when it was time to bring the chest before the king by the hands of the Levites, (for they saw there was much money,) the king's scribe, and he whom the high priest had appointed, went in: and they poured out the money that was in the chest: and they carried back the chest to its place: and thus they did from day to day, and there was gathered an immense sum of money.

12 And the king and Joiada gave it to those who were over the works of the house of the Lord: but they hired with it stone-cutters, and artificers of every kind of work, to repair the house of the Lord: and such as wrought in iron and brass, to uphold what began to be falling.

13 And the workmen were diligent, and the breach of the walls was closed up by their hands, and they set up the house of the Lord in its former state, and made it stand firm.

14 And when they had finished all the works, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Joiada: and with it were made vessels for the temple for the ministry, and for holocausts and bowls, and other vessels of gold and silver: and holocausts were offered in the house of the Lord continually all the days of Joiada.

15 But Joiada grew old and was full of days, and died when he was a hundred and thirty years old.

16 And they buried him in the city of David, among the kings, because he had done good to Israel, and to his house.

17 And after the death of Joiada, the princes of Juda went in, and worshipped the king: and he was soothed by their services, and hearkened to them.

18 And they forsook the temple of the Lord, the God of their fathers, and served groves and idols: and wrath came upon Juda and Jerusalem for this sin.

19 And he sent prophets to them to bring them back to the Lord, and they would not give ear when they testified against them.

20 The Spirit of God then came upon Zacharias, the son of Joiada, the priest, and he stood in the sight of the people, and said to them: Thus saith the Lord God: Why transgress you the commandment of the Lord which will not be for your good, and have forsaken the Lord, to make him forsake you?

21 And they gathered themselves together against him, and stoned him at the king's commandment in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 And king Joas did not remember the kindness that Joiada, his father, had done to him, but killed his son. And when he died, he said: The Lord see, and requite it.

23 And when a year was come about, the army of Syria came up against him: and they came to Juda and Jerusalem, and killed all the princes of the people, and they sent all the spoils to the king to Damascus.

24 And whereas there came a very small number of the Syrians, the Lord delivered into their hands an infinite multitude, because they had forsaken the Lord, the God of their fathers: and on Joas they executed shameful judgments.

25 And departing, they left him in great diseases: and his servants rose up against him, for revenge of the blood of the son of Joiada, the priest, and they slew him in his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 Now the men that conspired against him were, Zabad, the son of Semmaath, an Ammonite, and Jozabad, the son of Semarithe, a Moabite.

27 And concerning his sons, and the sum of money, which was gathered under him, and the repairing of the house of God, they are written more diligently in the book of kings: and Amasia, his son, reigned in his stead.

MASIAS was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Joadan, of Jerusalem.

2 And he did what was good in the sight of the Lord: but yet not with a perfect heart.

3 And when he saw himself strengthened in his kingdom.
dom, he put to death the servants that had slain the king, his father.

4 But he slew not their children, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying: The fathers shall not be slain for the children, nor the children for their fathers; but every man shall die for his own sin.

5 Amasias, therefore, gathered Judah together, and appointed them by families, and captains of thousands, and of hundreds in all Juda, and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty years old and upwards, and found three hundred thousand young men that could go out to battle, and could hold the spear and the shield.

6 He hired also of Israel a hundred thousand valiant men, for a hundred talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to him, and said: O king, let not the army of Israel go out with thee, for the Lord is not with Israel, and all the children of Ephraim:

8 And if thou think that battles consist in the strength of the army, God will make thee to be overcome by the enemies: for it belongeth to God both to help, and to put to flight.

9 And Amasias said to the man of God: What will then become of the hundred talents which I have given to the soldiers of Israel? and the man of God answered him: The Lord is rich enough to be able to give thee much more than this.

10 And Amasias separated the army, that came to him out of Ephraim, to go home again: but they were much enraged against Judah, returned to their own country.

11 And Amasias, taking courage, led forth his people, and went to the vale of salt pits, and slew of the children of Seir, ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand men the sons of Juda took, and brought to the steep of a certain rock, and cast them down headlong from the top, and they all were broken to pieces.

13 But that army which Amasias had sent back, that they should not go with him to battle, spread themselves among the cities of Judah, and Samaria, to Bethhoron, and having killed three thousand, took away much spoil.

14 And Amasias, after he had slain the Edomites, set up the gods of the children of Seir, which he had brought thence, to be his gods, and adored them, and burnt incense to them.

15 Wherefore the Lord being angry against Amasias, sent a prophet to him, to say to him: Why hast thou adored gods that have not delivered their own people out of thy hand?

16 And when he spoke these things, he answered him: Art thou the king's counsellor? be quiet, lest I kill thee. And the prophet departing, said: I know that God is minded to kill thee, because thou hast done this evil, and moreover hast not hearkened to my counsel.

17 Then Amasias, king of Judah, taking very bad counsel, sent to Joas, the son of Joachaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel: saying: Come, let us see one another.

18 But he sent back the messengers, saying: The thistle that is in Libanus sent to the cedar in Libanus, saying: Give thy daughter to my son to wife: and behold the beasts that were in the wood of Libanus, passed by, and trod down the thistle.

19 Thou hast said: I have overthrown Edom, and therefore thy heart is lifted up with pride: stay at home; why dost thou provoke evil against thee, that both thou shouldst fall and Juda with thee.

20 Amasias would not hearken to him, because it was the Lord's will that he should be delivered into the hands of enemies, because of the gods of Edom.

21 So Joas, king of Israel, went up, and they presented themselves to be seen by one another: and Amasias, king of Juda, was in Bethsames of Juda:

22 And Juda fell before Israel, and they fled to their dwellings.

23 And Joas, king of Israel, took Amasias, king of Juda, the son of Joas, the son of Joachaz, in Bethsames, and brought him to Jerusalem: and broke down the walls thereof from the gate of Ephraim, to the gate of the corner, four hundred cubits.

24 And he took all the gold, and silver, and all the vessels, that he found in the house of God, and with Obededom, and in the treasures of the king's house: moreover also the sons of the hostages, he brought back to Samaria.

25 And Amasias, the son of Joas, king of Juda, lived, after the death of Joas, the son of Joachaz, king of Israel, fifteen years.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Amasias, the first and last are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel.

27 And after he revolted from the Lord, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem. And he fled into Lachis, and they sent, and killed him there.
28 And they brought him back upon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the city of David.

AND all the people of Judah took his son, Ozias, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the room of Amasias, his father.

2 He built Ailath, and restored it to the dominion of Juda, after that the king slept with his fathers.

3 Ozias was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two and fifty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Jechelia, of Jerusalem.

4 And he did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Amasias, his father, had done.

5 And he sought the Lord in the days of Zacharias, that understood and saw God: and as long as he sought the Lord, he directed him in all things.

6 Moreover, he went forth, and fought against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Geth, and the wall of Jabina, and the wall of Azotus: and he built towns in Azotus, and among the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians, that dwelt in Gabaal, and against the Amnonites.

8 And the Ammonites gave gifts to Ozias: and his name was spread abroad, even to the entrance of Egypt, for his frequent victories.

9 And Ozias built towers in Jerusalem over the gate of the corner, and over the gate of the valley, and the rest, in the same side of the wall, and fortified them.

10 And he built towers in the wilderness, and dug many cisterns, for he had much cattle, both in the plains and in the waste of the desert: he had also vineyards and dressers of vines in the mountains, and in Carmel: for he was a man that loved husbandry.

11 And the army of his fighting men, that went out to war, was under the hand of Jehiel, the scribe, and Maasias, the doctor, and under the hand of Hananiah, who was one of the king's captains.

12 And the whole number of the chiefs, by the families of valiant men, were two thousand six hundred.

13 And the whole army under them, three hundred and seven thousand five hundred: who were fit for war, and fought for the king against the enemy.

14 And Ozias prepared for them, that is, for the whole army, shields, and spears, and helmets, and coats of mail, and bows, and slings to cast stones.

15 And he made in Jerusalem engines of diverse kinds, which he placed in the towers, and in the corners of the walls, to shoot arrows, and great stones: and his name went forth far abroad, for the Lord helped him, and had strengthened him.

16 But when he was made strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction, and he neglected the Lord, his God, and going into the temple of the Lord, he had a mind to burn incense upon the altar of incense.

17 And immediately Azarias, the priest, going in after him, and with him fourscore priests of the Lord, most valiant men,

18 Withstood the king, and said: It doth not belong to thee, Ozias, to burn incense to the Lord, but to the priests, that is, to the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated for this ministry: go out of the sanctuary, do not despise: this thing shall not be accounted to thy glory by the Lord God.

19 And Ozias was angry; and holding in his hand the censer to burn incense, threatened the priests. And presently there arose a leprosy in his forehead before the priests, in the house of the Lord, at the altar of incense.

20 And Azarias, the high priest, and all the rest of the priests, looked upon him, and saw the leprosy in his forehead, and they made haste to thrust him out. Yea, himself also being frightened, hasted to go out, because he had quickly felt the stroke of the Lord.

21 And Ozias, the king, was a leper unto the day of his death; and he dwelt in a house apart, being full of the leprosy, for which he had been cast out of the house of the Lord. And Joatham, his son, governed the king's house, and judged the people of the land.

22 But the rest of the acts of Ozias, first and last, were written by Isias, the son of Amos, the prophet.

23 And Ozias slept with his fathers; and they buried him in the field of the royal sepulchres, because he was a leper: and Joatham, his son, reigned in his stead.

JOATHAM was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Jerusa, the daughter of Sadoc.
And he did that which was right before the Lord, according to all that Ozius, his father, had done, only that he entered not into the temple of the Lord, and the people still transgressed.

3 He built the high gate of the house of the Lord, and on the wall of Ophiel he built much.

4 Moreover, he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and castles and towers in the forests.

5 He fought against the king of the children of Ammon, and overcame them, and the children of Ammon gave him at that time a hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheat, and as many measures of barley: so much did the children of Ammon give him in the second and third year.

6 And Joatham was strengthened, because he had his way directed before the Lord, his God.

7 Now the rest of the acts of Joatham, and all his wars, and his works, are written in the Book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

8 He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem.

9 And Joatham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Achaz, his son, reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The wicked and unhappy reign of Achaz.

ACHAZ was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: he did not that which was right in the sight of the Lord, as David, his father, had done.

2 But walked in the ways of the kings of Israel: moreover, also, he cast statutes for Baalim.

3 It was he that burnt incense in the valley of Bencenom, and consecrated his sons in the fire, according to the manner of the nations, which the Lord slew at the coming of the children of Israel.

4 He sacrificed also, and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.

5 And the Lord, his God, delivered him into the hands of the king of Syria, who defeated him, and took a great booty out of his kingdom, and carried it to Damascus: he was also delivered into the hands of the king of Israel, who overthrew him with a great slaughter.

6 For Phaccæ, the son of Rœmia, slew of Juda a hundred and twenty thousand in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord, the God of their fathers.

7 At the same time, Zechria, a powerful man of Ephraim.

slew Masias, the king’s son, and Ezricham, the governor of his house, and Ecana, who was next to the king.

8 And the children of Israel carried away of their brethren, two hundred thousand women, boys, and girls, and an immense booty: and they brought it to Samaria.

9 At that time there was a prophet of the Lord there, whose name was Oded: and he went out to meet the army that came to Samaria, and said to them: Behold the Lord, the God of your fathers, being angry with Juda, hath delivered them into your hands, and you have butched them cruelly, so that your cruelty hath reached up to heaven.

10 Moreover, you have a mind to keep under the children of Juda and Jerusalem for your bond-men and bond-women, which ought not to be done: for you have sinned in this against the Lord, your God.

11 But hear ye my counsel, and release the captives that you have brought of your brethren, because a great indignation of the Lord hangeth over you.

12 Then some of the chief men of the sons of Ephraim, Azarias, the son of Johanan, Barachias, the son of Mosulisom, Elezias, the son of Sellum, and Amass, the son of Adali, stood up against them that came from the war.

13 And they said unto them: You shall not bring in the captives hither, lest we sin against the Lord. Why will you add to our sins, and heap up upon our former offences? for the sin is great, and the fierce anger of the Lord hangeth over Israel.

14 So the soldiers left the spoils, and all that they had taken, before the princes and all the multitude.

15 And the men, whom we mentioned above, rose up and took the captives, and with the spoils, clothed all them that were naked: and when they had clothed and shod them, and refreshed them with meat and drink, and anointed them because of their labour, and had taken care of them: they set such of them as could not walk, and were feeble, upon beasts, and brought them to Jericho, the city of palm-trees, to their brethren, and they returned to Samaria.

16 At that time king Achaz sent to the king of the Assyrines, asking help.

17 And the Edomites came and slew many of Juda, and took a great booty.

18 The Philistines also spread themselves among the cities of the plains, and to the south of Juda: and they took Bethensames, and Ainlon, and Gederoth, and Socho and Thamman, and Gamzo, with their villages, and they dwelt in them.

19 For the Lord had humbled Juda, because of Achaz, the king of Juda, for he had stript it of all help, and had contemned the Lord.

20 And he brought against him the Thelgathphilnasar, king of the Assyrians, who also afflicted him, and plundered him without any resistance.

21 And Achaz stripped the house of the Lord, and the house of the kings, and of the princes, and gave gifts to the king of the Assyrians; and yet it availed him nothing:

22 Moreover also, in the time of his distress, he increased contempt against the Lord; king Achaz himself, by himself,

23 Sacrificed victims to the gods of Damascus that struck him, and he said: The gods of the kings of Syria help them, and I will appease them with victims, and they will help me; whereas, on the contrary, they were the ruin of him, and of all Israel.

24 Then Achaz having taken away all the vessels of the house of God, and broken them, shut up the doors of the temple of God, and made himself altars in all the corners of Jerusalem.

25 And in all the cities of Juda he built altars to burn frankincense, and he provoked the Lord, the God of his fathers, to wrath.

26 But the rest of his acts, and all his works, first and last, are written in the Book of the kings of Juda and of Israel.

27 And Achaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of Jerusalem: for they received him not into the sepulchres of the kings of Israel. And Ezechias, his son, reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXIX.

Ezechias purifieth the temple, and restoreth religion.

NOW Ezechias began to reign, when he was five and twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Abia, the daughter of Zacharias.

2 And he did that which was pleasing in the sight of the Lord, according to all that David, his father, had done.

3 In the first year and month of his reign he opened the doors of the house of the Lord, and repaired them.

4 And he brought the priests and the Levites, and assembled them in the east street.

5 And he said to them: Hear me, ye Levites, and be sanctified, purify the house of the Lord, the God of your fathers, and take away all filth out of the sanctuary.

6 Our fathers have sinned, and done evil in the sight of the Lord God, forsaking him: they have turned away their faces from the tabernacle of the Lord, and turned their backs.

7 They have shut up the doors that were in the porch, and put out the lamps, and have not burnt incense, nor offered holocausts in the sanctuary of the God of Israel.

8 Therefore, the wrath of the Lord hath been stirred up against Juda and Jerusalem, and he hath delivered them to trouble, and to destruction, and to be hissed at, as you see with your eyes.

9 Behold, our fathers are fallen by the sword, our sons, and our daughters, and wives, are led away captives for this wickedness.

10 Now, therefore, I have a mind, that we make a covenant with the Lord, the God of Israel, and he will turn away the wrath of his indignation from us.

11 My sons, be not negligent: the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, and to minister to him, and to worship him, and to burn incense to him.

12 Then the Levites arose: Mahath, the son of Amasai, and Joel, the son of Azaria, of the sons of Coath; and of the sons of Merari, Cis, the son of Abdi, and Azaria, the son of Jalaleel. And of the sons of Gerson, Josiah, the son of Zemma, and Eden, the son of Joah.

13 And of the sons of Elissaphan, Samri, and Jahiel.

14 And of the sons of Asaph, Zacharias, and Mathaniah.

15 And they gathered together their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and went in according to the commandment of the king, and the precept of the Lord, to purify the house of God.

16 And the priests went into the temple of the Lord to sanctify it, and brought out all the uncleanness, that they found within, to the entrance of the house of the Lord, and the Levites took it away, and carried it out abroad, to the torrent Cedron.

17 And they began to cleanse on the first day of the first month, and, on the eighth day of the same month, they came into the porch of the temple of the Lord, and they purified the temple in eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the same month, they finished what they had begun.

18 And they went in to king Ezechias, and said to him: We have sanctified all the house of the Lord, and the altar of holocausts, and the vessels thereof, and the able of proposition, with all its vessels.

19 And all the furniture of the temple, which king Achaz, in his reign, had defiled, after his transgression; and behold they are all set forth before the altar of the Lord.

20 And king Ezechias, rising early, assembled all the rulers of the city, and went up into the house of the Lord:

21 And they offered together seven bullocks, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven he-goats, for sin, for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, for Juda: and he spoke to the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them upon the altar of the Lord.

22 Therefore they killed the bullocks, and the priests took the blood, and poured it upon the altar, they killed also the rams, and their blood they poured also upon the altar, and they killed the lambs, and poured the blood upon the altar.

23 And they brought the he-goats, for sin, before the king, and the whole multitude, and they laid their hands upon them:

24 And the priests immolated them, and sprinkled their blood before the altar, for an expiation of all Israel: for the king had commanded that the holocaust and the sin-offering should be made for all Israel.

25 And he set the Levites, in the house of the Lord, with cymbals, and psalteries, and harps, according to the regulation of David, the king, and of Gad, the seer, and of Nathan, the prophet: for it was the commandment of the Lord, by the hand of his prophets.

26 And the Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with trumpets.

27 And Ezechias commanded that they should offer holocausts upon the altar: and when the holocausts were offered, they began to sing praises to the Lord, and to sound with trumpets, and divers instruments, which David, the king of Israel, had prepared.

28 And all the multitude adored, and the singers, and the trumpeters, were in their office, till the holocaust was finished.

29 And when the oblation was ended, the king, and all that were with him, bowed down, and adored.

30 And Ezechias, and the princes, commanded the Levites to praise the Lord with the words of David, and Asaph, the seer: and they praised him with great joy, and bowing the knee, adored.

31 And Ezechias added, and said: You have filled your hands to the Lord, come and offer victims, and praises in the house of the Lord. And all the multitude offered victims, and praises, and holocausts, with a devout mind.

32 And the number of the holocausts which the multitude offered, was seventy bullocks, a hundred rams, and two hundred lambs.

33 And they consecrated to the Lord six hundred oxen, and three thousand sheep.

34 But the priests were few, and were not enough to slay the holocausts: wherefore the Levites, their brethren, helped them till the work was ended, and priests were sanctified, for the Levites were sanctified with an easier rite than the priests.

35 So there were many holocausts, and the fat of peace-offerings, and the libations of holocausts: and the service of the house of the Lord was completed.

36 And Ezechias, and all the people rejoiced because the ministry of the Lord was accomplished. For the resolution of doing this thing was taken suddenly.

CHAP. XXX.

Ezechias invited all Israel to celebrate the Pasch: the solemnity is kept fourteen days.

And Ezechias sent to all Israel and Juda: and he wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasses, that they should come to the house of the Lord, in Jerusalem, and keep the Phase to the Lord, the God of Israel.

2 For the king taking counsel, and the princes, and all the assembly of Jerusalem, decreed to keep the Phase the second month.

3 For they could not keep it in its time: because there were not priests enough sanctified; and the people was not as yet gathered together to Jerusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the people.

5 And they decreed to send messengers to all Israel, from Bersabee even to Dan, that they should come, and keep the Phase to the Lord, the God of Israel, in Jerusalem: for many had not kept it as it is prescribed by the law.

V. 29. We have prepared and purified, behold they are, &c. H.

V. 36. Month. Those who had a lawful impediment, were authorized to put off the feast till the second month. Num. iv. 10. The nation was under this precept, as they had not priests at hand. (T) nor were they assembled. D.

V. 38. Men. None had kept the Phase this year. H. But those of Israel had not done it for a long time. Grotius.---Heb. "for they had not long before done according to the Scripture." Sept. "the multitude had not done,"
6 And the posts went with letters by commandment of the king, and his princes, to all Israel and Judah, proclaiming according to the king's orders: Ye children of Israel, turn again to the Lord, the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Israel: and he will return to the remnant of you that have escaped the hand of the king of the Assyrians.

7 Be not like your fathers, and brethren, who departed from the Lord, the God of their fathers, and he hath given them up to destruction, as you see.

8 Harden not your necks, as your fathers did: yield yourselves to the Lord, and come to his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified for ever: serve the Lord, the God of your fathers, and the wrath of his indignation shall be turned away from you.

9 For if you turn again to the Lord: your brethren, and children, shall find mercy before their masters, that have led them away captive, and they shall return, into this land: for the Lord, your God, is merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if you return to him.

10 So the posts went speedily from city to city, through the land of Ephraim, and of Manasses, even to Zebulun, whilst they laughed at them, and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless, some men of Aser, and of Manasses, and of Zebulun, yielding to the counsel, came to Jerusalem.

12 But the hand of God was in Judah, to give them one heart to do the word of the Lord, according to the commandment of the king, and of the princes.

13 And much people were assembled to Jerusalem, to celebrate the solemnity of the unleavened bread in the second month.

14 And they arose, and destroyed the altars that were in Jerusalem, and took away all things in which incense was burnt to idols, and cast them into the torrent Cedron.

15 And they immolated the Phase on the fourteenth day of the second month. And the priests and the Levites being at length sanctified, offered holocausts in the house of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their order, according to the disposition and law of Moses, the man of God: but the priests received the blood which was to be poured out from the hands of the Levites.

17 Because a great number was not sanctified: and, therefore, the Levites immolated the Phase for them that came not in time to be sanctified to the Lord.

18 For a great part of the people from Ephraim, and Manasses, and Issachar, and Zebulun, that had not been sanctified, eat the Phase, otherwise than it is written: and Ezechias prayed for them, saying: The Lord, who is good, will show mercy.

19 To all them, who with their whole heart seek the Lord, the God of their fathers: and will not impute it to them, that they are not sanctified.

20 And the Lord heard him, and was merciful to the people.

21 And the children of Israel, that were found at Jerusalem, kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with great joy, praising the Lord every day: The Levites also, and the priests, with instruments, that agreed to their office.

22 And Ezechias spoke to the heart of all the Levites, that had good understanding, concerning the Lord: and they eat during the seven days of the solemnity, immolating victims of peace-offerings, and praising the Lord, the God of their fathers.

23 And it pleased the whole multitude to keep other seven days, which they did with great joy.

24 For Ezechias, the king of Judah, had given to the multitude a thousand bullocks, and seven thousand sheep: and the princes had given the people a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheep: and a great number of priests was sanctified.

25 And all the multitude of Judah, with the priests and Levites, and all the assembly, that came out of Israel: and the proselytes of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah, were full of joy.

26 And there was a great solemnity in Jerusalem, such as had not been in that city since the time of Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel.

27 And the priests and the Levites rose up, and blessed the people: and their voice was heard: and their prayer came to the holy dwelling-place of heaven.

CHAP. XXXI.

 Idolatry is abolished: and provisions made for the ministers.

AND when these things had been duly celebrated, all Israel, that were found in the cities of Judah, went out, and they broke the idols, and cut down the groves, demolished the high places, and destroyed the altars, not only out of all Judah and Benjamin, but out of Ephraim also, and Manasseh, till they had utterly destroyed them: then all the children of Israel returned to their possessions and cities.

2 And Ezechias appointed companies of the priests, and the Levites, by their courses, every man in his own office; to wit, both of the priests, and of the Levites, for holocausts, and for peace-offerings, to minister, and to praise, and to sing in the gates of the camp of the Lord.

3 And the king's part was, that of his proper substance the holocaust should be offered always, morning and evening; and on the sabbaths, and the new moons, and the other solemnities, as it is written in the law of Moses.

4 He commanded also the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to give to the priests, and the Levites, their portion, that they might attend to the law of the Lord.

5 Which when it was noise abroad in the ears of the people, the children of Israel offered in abundance the first-fruits of corn, wine, and oil, and honey: and brought the tithes of all things which the ground brought forth.

6 Moreover, the children of Israel and Judah, that dwelt in the cities of Judah, brought in the tithes of oxen, and sheep, and the tithes of holy things, which they had vowed to the Lord, their God: and carrying them all, made many heaps.

7 In the third month, they began to lay the foundations of the heaps; and in the seventh month, they finished them.

8 And when Ezechias, and his princes, came in, they saw the heaps, and blessed the Lord, and the people of Israel.

9 And Ezechias asked the priests, and the Levites, why the heaps lay so.

10 Azarias, the chief priest of the race of Sadoc, answered him, saying: Since the first-fruits began to be offered in the house of the Lord, we have eaten, and have been filled, and abundance is left, because the Lord hath blessed his people: and of that which is left, is this great store which thou seest.

11 Then Ezechias commanded to prepare storehouses in the house of the Lord. And when they had done so,

12 They brought in faithfully both the first-fruits, and the tithes, and all they had vowed. And the overseer of them was Chonennias, the Levite, and Semei, his brother, was the second,

13 And after him, Jehiel, and Azarias, and Nathai, and Asael, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Jesmachias, and Mahath, and Baniath, overseers under the hand of Chonennias, and Semei, his brother, by the commandment of Ezechias, the king, and Azarias, the high priest of the house of God, to whom all things appertained.

14 But Core, the son of Jemna, the Levite, the porter of the east-gate, was overseer of the things which were freely offered to the Lord, and of the first-fruits, and the things dedicated for the holies of holies,

15 And under his charge were Eden, and Benjamin, Jesue, and Semeiaus, and Aminias, and Sechenias, in the cities of the priests, to distribute faithfully portions to their brethren, both little and great:

16 Besides the males, from three years old and upward, to all that went into the temple of the Lord, and whatsoever there was need of in the ministry, and their offices according to their courses by day.

17 To the priests, by their families, and to the Levites, from the twentieth year and upward, by their classes and companies.

18 And to all the multitude, both to their wives, and to their children of both sexes, victuals were given faith fully out of the things that had been sanctified.

19 Also of the sons of Aaron who were in the fields, and in the suburbs of each city, there were men appointed, to distribute portions to all the males, among the priests and the Levites.

20 So Ezechias did all things which we have said in all Judah: and wrought that which was good, and right, and true, before the Lord, his God.

21 In all the service of the ministry of the house of the Lord, according to the law and the ceremonies, desiring to seek his God with all his heart; and he did it, and prospered.

After these things, and this truth, Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians, came and entered into Judah, and besieged the fenced cities, desiring to take them.

And when Ezechias saw that Sennacherib was come, and that the whole force of the war was turning against Jerusalem,

3 He took counsel with the princes, and the most valiant men, to stop up the heads of the springs, that were without the city: and as they were all of this mind,

4 He gathered together a very great multitude, and they stopped up all the springs, and the brook, that ran through the midst of the land, saying: Lest the kings of the Assyrians should come, and find abundance of water.

5 He built up, also, with great diligence, all the wall that had been broken down, and built towers upon it, and another wall without: and he repaired Mello, in the city of David, and made all sorts of arms and shields:

6 And he appointed captains of the soldiers of the army: and he called them all together in the street of the gate of the city, and spoke to their heart, saying:

7 Behave like men, and take courage: be not afraid, nor dismayed for the king of the Assyrians, nor for all the multitude that is with him: for there are many more with us than with him.

8 For with him is an arm of flesh: with us the Lord, our God, who is our helper, and fighteth for us. And the people were encouraged with these words of Ezechias, king of Judah.

9 After this, Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians, sent his servants to Jerusalem, (for he, with all his army, was besieging Lachis,) to Ezechias, king of Judah, and to all the people that were in the city, saying:

10 Thus saith Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians: In whom do you trust, that you sit still besieged in Jerusalem?

11 Doth not Ezechias deceive you, to give you up to die, by hunger and thirst, affirming, that the Lord your God, shall deliver you from the hand of the king of the Assyrians?

12 Is it not this same Ezechias, that hath destroyed his high places, and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying: You shall worship before one altar, and upon it you shall burn incense?

13 Know you not what I and my fathers have done to all the people of the lands? have the gods of any nations and lands been able to deliver their country out of my hand?

14 Who is there among all the gods of the nations, which my fathers have destroyed, that could deliver his people out of my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you out of this hand?

15 Therefore let not Ezechias deceive you, nor delude you with a vain persuasion, and do not believe him. For if no god of all the nations and kingdoms, could deliver his people out of my hand, and out of the hand of my fathers, consequently neither shall your God be able to deliver you out of my hand.

16 And many other things did his servants speak against the Lord God, and against Ezechias, his servant.

17 He wrote also letters full of blasphemy against the Lord, the God of Israel, and he spoke against him: As the gods of other nations could not deliver their people out of my hand, so neither can the God of Ezechias deliver his people out of this hand.

18 Moreover, he cried out with a loud voice, in the Jews' tongue, to the people that sat on the walls of Jerusalem, that he might frighten them and take the city.

19 And he spoke against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, the works of the hands of men.

20 And Ezechias, the king, and Isaies, the prophet, the son of Amos, prayed against this blasphemy, and cried out to heaven.

21 And the Lord sent an angel, who cut off all the stout men, and the warriors, and the captains of the army of the king of the Assyrians: and he returned with disgrace into his own country. And when he was come into the house of his god, his sons that came out of his bowels, slew him with the sword.

22 And the Lord saved Ezechias, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, out of the hand of Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians, and out of the hand of all, and gave them treasures on every side.

23 Many, also, brought victims, and sacrifices to the Lord, to Jerusalem, and presents to Ezechias, king of Judah: and he was magnified thenceforth in the sight of all nations.

24 In those days Ezechias was sick, even to death, and he prayed to the Lord: and he heard him, and gave him a sign.

25 But he did not render again according to the benefits which he had received, for his heart was lifted up: and wrath was kindled against him, and against Judah, and Jerusalem.

26 And he humbled himself afterwards, because his heart had been lifted up, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: and, therefore, the wrath of the Lord came not upon them in the days of Ezechias.

27 And Ezechias was rich, and very glorious, and he gathered himself great treasures of silver, and of gold, and of precious stones, of spices, and of arms of all kinds, and of vessels of great price.

28 Storehouses also, of corn, of wine, and of oil, and stalls for all beasts, and folds for cattle.

29 And he built himself cities: for he had flocks of sheep, and herds without number; for the Lord had given him very much substance.

30 This same Ezechias was he that stopped the upper source of the waters of Gihon, and turned them away underneath toward the west of the city of David; in all his works he did prosperously what he would.

31 But yet in the embassy of the princes of Babylon, that were sent to him, to inquire of the wonder that had happened upon the earth, God left him that he might be tempted, and all things might be made known that were in his heart.

32 Now the rest of the acts of Ezechias, and of his mercies, are written in the Book of the kings of Juda and Israel.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Manasses, for his manifold wickedness, is led captive to Babylon; he repents, and is restored to his kingdom, and destroys idolatry; his successor, Amon, is slain by his servants.

MANASSES was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem.

2 And he did evil before the Lord, according to all the abominations of the nations, which the Lord cast out before the children of Israel:

3 And he turned, and built again the high places which Ezechias, his father, had destroyed: and he built altars to Baalim, and made groves, and he adored all the host of heaven, and worshipped them.

4 He built also, altars, in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had said: "In Jerusalem shall my name be for ever.

5 And he built them for all the host of heaven, in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And he made his sons to pass through the fire, in the valley of Benennom: he observed dreams, followed divinations, gave himself up to magic arts, had with him magicians, and enchanters: and he wrought many evils before the Lord, to provoke him to anger.

7 He set also a graven, and a molten statue in the house of God, of which God had said to David, and to Solomon, his son: In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever.

8 And I will not make the foot of Israel to be removed out of the land which I have delivered to their fathers: yet so if they will take heed to do what I have commanded them, and all the law, and the ceremonies, and judgments, by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasses seduced Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to do evil beyond all the nations, which the Lord had destroyed before the face of the children of Israel.

10 And the Lord spoke to him, and to his people, and they would not hearken.

11 Therefore, he brought upon them the captains of the army of the king of the Assyrians: and they took Manasses, and carried him, bound with chains and fetters, to Babylon.

12 And after that he was in distress, he prayed to the Lord, his God: and did penance exceedingly before the God of his fathers.

13 And he entreated him, and besought him earnestly: and he heard his prayer, and brought him again to Jerusalem, into his kingdom; and Manasses knew that the Lord was God.

14 After this he built a wall without the city of David, on the west side of Gihon, in the valley, from the entering-in of the fish-gate round about to Ophel, and raised it up to a great height: and he appointed captains of the army in all the fenced cities of Juda:

15 And he took away the strange gods, and the idol, out of the house of the Lord: the altars also, which he had made in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Jerusalem, and he cast them all out of the city.

16 And he repaired the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed upon it victims, and peace-offerings, and praise: and he commanded Judah to serve the Lord, the God of Israel.
17 Nevertheless, the people still sacrificed in the high places to the Lord, their God.
18 But the rest of the acts of Manasses, and his prayer to his God: and the words of the seers, that spoke to him in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, are contained in the words of the kings of Israel.
19 His prayer also, and his being heard, and all his sins, and contempt, and places wherein he built high places, and set up groves, and statues, before he did penance, are written in the words of Hozai.
20 And Manasses slept 7 with his fathers, and they buried him in his house: and his son, Amon, reigned in his stead.
21 Amon was two and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.
22 And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, as Manasses, his father, had done: and he sacrificed to all the idols which Manasses, his father, had made, and served them.
23 And he did not humble himself before the Lord, as Manasses, his father, had humbled himself, but committed far greater sins.
24 And his servants conspired against him, and slew him in his own house.
25 But the rest of the multitude of the people slew them that had killed Amon, and made Josias, his son, king in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIV.
Josias destroys idolatry, repaireth the temple, and reneweth the covenant between God and the people.

Josias was eight years old when he began to reign, and reigned one and thirty years in Jerusalem.
2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of David, his father: he declined not either to the right hand, or to the left.
3 And in the eight year of his reign, when he was a boy, he began to seek the God of his father, David: and in the twelfth year after he began to reign, he cleansed Juda and Jerusalem from the high places, and the groves, and the idols, and the graven things.
4 And they broke down before him the altars of Baalim, and demolished the idols that had been set upon them and he cut down the groves and the graven things, and broke them in pieces: and strewed the fragments upon the graves of them that had sacrificed to them.
5 And he burnt the bones of the priests on the altars of the idols, and he cleansed Juda and Jerusalem.
6 And in the cities of Manasses, and of Ephraim, and of Simeon, even to Nephthali, he demolished all.
7 And when he had destroyed the altars, and the groves, and had broken the idols in pieces, and had demolished all profane temples throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.
8 Now, in the eighteenth year 6 of his reign, when he had cleansed the land, and the temple of the Lord, he sent Saphan, the son of Eselias, and Maasias, the governor of the city, Joha, the son of Joachaz, the recorder, to repair the house of the Lord, his God.
9 And they came to Helcias, the high priest: and received of him the money which had been brought into the house of the Lord, and which the Levites and porters had gathered together from Manasses, and Ephraim, and all the remnant of Israel, and from all Juda, and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
10 Which they delivered into the hands of them that were over the workmen in the house of the Lord, to repair the temple, and mend all that was weak.
11 But they gave it to the artificers, and to the masons, to buy stones out of the quarries, and timber for the couplings of the building, and to rafter the houses, which the kings of Juda had destroyed.
12 And they did all faithfully. Now the overseers of the workmen were Jahath and Abdis, of the sons of Merari, Zacharias and Mosollam, of the sons of Caath, who fastened the work: all Levites, skilful to play on instruments.
13 But over them that carried burdens for divers uses, were scribes, and masters of the number of the Levites, and porters.
14 Now when they carried out the money that had been brought into the temple of the Lord, Helcias, the priest, found the book of the law of the Lord, by the hand of Moses.
15 And he said to Saphan, the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord: and he delivered it to him.

16 But he carried the book to the king, and told him, saying: Lo, all that thou hast committed to thy servant, is accomplished.

17 They have gathered together the silver that was found in the house of the Lord: and it is given to the overseers of the artificers, and of the workmen, for divers works.

18 Moreover, Helcias, the priest, gave me this book. And he read it before the king.

19 And when he had heard the words of the law, he rent his garments:

20 And he commanded Helcias, and Ahicam, the son of Saphan, and Abdon, the son of Micha, and Saphan, the scribe, and Asa, the king's servant, saying:

21 Go, and pray to the Lord for me, and for the remnant of Israel, and Juda, concerning all the words of this book, which is found: for the great wrath of the Lord hath fallen upon us, because our fathers have not kept the words of the Lord, to do all things that are written in this book.

22 And Helcias, and they that were sent with him by the king, went to Oida, the prophetess, the wife of Sellum, the son of Thecuath, the son of Hasra, keeper of the wardrobe: who dwelt in Jerusalem, in the second part: and they spoke to her the words above-mentioned.

23 And she answered them: Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: Tell the man that sent you to me:

24 Thus saith the Lord: Behold I will bring evils upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, and all the curses that are written in this book, which they read before the king of Juda.

25 Because they have forsaken me, and have sacrificed to strange gods, to provoke me to wrath with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall fall upon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But as to the king of Juda that sent you to beseach the Lord, thus shall you say to him: Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: Because thou hast heard the words of this book,

27 And thy heart was softened, and thou hast humbled thyself in the sight of God for the things that are spoken against this place, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and reverencing my face, hast rent thy garments, and wept before me: I also have heard thee, saith the Lord.

28 For now I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be brought to thy tomb in peace: and thy eyes shall not see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and the inhabitants thereof. "They, therefore, reported to the king all that she had said.

29 And he called together all the ancients of Juda and Jerusalem,

30 And went up to the house of the Lord, and all the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests, and the Levites, and all the people, from the least to the greatest. And the king read in their hearing in the house of the Lord, all the words of the book.

31 And standing up in his tribunal, he made a covenant before the Lord to walk after him, and keep his commandments, and testimonies, and justifications, with all his heart, and with all his soul, and to do the things that were written in that book which he had read.

32 And he adjured all that were found in Jerusalem, and Benjamin, to do the same: and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of the Lord, the God of their fathers.

33 And Josias took away all the abominations out of all the countries of the children of Israel: and made all that were left in Israel, to serve the Lord, their God. As long as he lived, they departed not from the Lord, the God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

Josias celebrated a most solemn Pasch. He is slain by the king of Egypt.

And "Josias kept a Phase to the Lord in Jerusalem, and it was sacrificed on the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 And he set the priests in their offices, and exhorted them to minister in the house of the Lord.

3 And he spoke to the Levites, by whose instruction all Israel was sanctified to the Lord, saying: Put the ark in the sanctuary of the temple, which Solomon, the son of David, king of Israel, built: for you shall carry it no more: but minister now to the Lord, your God, and to his people, Israel.

4 And prepare yourselves by your houses, and families, according to your courses, as David, king of Israel, commanded, and Solomon, his son, hath written.

5 And serve ye in the sanctuary by the families and companies of Levi.

6 And being sanctified, kill the Phase, and prepare your brethren, that they may do according to the words which the Lord spoke by the hand of Moses.

7 And Josias gave to all the people that were found there in the solemnity of the Phase, or lambs, and of kids, of the flocks, and of other small cattle, thirty thousand, and of oxen, three thousand: all these were of the king's substance.

8 And his princes willingly offered what they had upon your shoulders" (H.); whereas it is inferred that it had been carried about the cities of Juda, under the impious kings, who would not suffer it in the temple. C.

vowed, both to the people, and to the priests and the Levites. Moreover, Helcias, and Zacharias, and Jabin, runners of the house of the Lord, gave to the priests to keep the Phase, two thousand six hundred small cattle, and three hundred oxen.

9 And Choenias, and Semceas, and Nathanael, his brethren, and Hasbasas, and Jehiel, and Jozabad, princes of the Levites, gave to the rest of the Levites to celebrate the Phase, five thousand small cattle, and five hundred oxen.

10 And the ministry was prepared, and the priests stood in their office: the Levites, also, in their companies, according to the king’s commandment.

11 And the Phase was immolated: and the priests sprinkled the blood with their hand, and the Levites flayed the holocausts:

12 And they separated them to give them by the houses and families of every one, and to be offered to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses; and with the oxen they did in like manner.

13 And they roasted the Phase with fire, according to that which is written in the law: but the victims of peace-offerings they boiled in cauldrons, and kettles, and pots, and they distributed them speedily among all the people.

14 And afterwards they made ready for themselves, and for the priests: for the priests were busied in offering of holocausts and the fat until night: wherefore the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests, the sons of Aaron, last.

15 And the singers, the sons of Asaph, stood in their order, according to the commandment of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Idithun, the prophets of the king: and the porters kept guard at every gate, so as not to depart one moment from their service: and, therefore, their brethren, the Levites, prepared meats for them.

16 So all the service of the Lord was duly accomplished that day, both in keeping the Phase, and offering holocausts upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias.

17 And the children of Israel that were found there, kept the Phase at that time, and the feast of unleavened bread seven days.

18 There was no Phase like this in Israel, from the days of Samuel the prophet: neither did any of all the kings of Israel keep such a Phase as Josias kept, with the priests, and the Levites, and all Juda, and Israel that were found, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias this Phase was celebrated.

20 "Now after Josias had repaired the temple, Necho, king of Egypt, came up to fight in Charchemis, by the Euphrates: and Josias went out to meet him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, saying: What have I to do with thee, O king of Juda? I come not against thee this day, but I fight against another house, to which God hath commanded me to go in haste: forbear to do against God, who is with me, lest he kill thee.

22 Josias would not return, but prepared to fight against him, and hearkened not to the words of Necho, from the mouth of God, but went to fight in the field of Megiddo.

23 And there he was wounded by the archers, and he said to his servants: Carry me out of the battle, for I am grievously wounded.

24 And they removed him from the chariot into another, that followed him after the manner of kings, and they carried him away to Jerusalem, and he died, and was buried in the monument of his fathers, and all Juda and Jerusalem mourned for him.

25 Particularly Jeremias: whose lamentations for Josias all the singing men and singing women repeat unto this day, and it became like a law in Israel: Behold it is found written in the Lamentations.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Josias, and of his mercies, according to what was commanded by the law of the Lord;

27 And his works, first and last, are written in the Book of the kings of Juda and Israel.

CHAP. XXXVI.

The reigns of Joachaz, Josiah, Josich, and Jeconias: the captivity of Babylon released at length by Cyrus.

THEN the people of the land took Joachaz, the son of Josias, and made him king instead of his father in Jerusalem.

2 Joachaz was three and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt came to Jerusalem, and deposed him, and condemned the land, in a hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

4 And he made "Elakim, his brother, king in his stead, over Juda and Jerusalem: and he turned his name to Joakim: but he took Joachaz with him, and carried him away into Egypt.

5 Joakim was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: and he did evil before the Lord, his God.

Against him came up Nabuchodonosor, king of the Chaldeans, and led him bound in chains into Babylon.
And he carried also thither the vessels of the Lord, and put them in his temple.
But the rest of the acts of Joakim, and his abominations, which he wrought, and the things that were found in him, are contained in the Book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And Joachin, his son, reigned in his stead.
Joachin was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord.
And at the return of the year, king Nabuchodonosor sent, and brought him to Babylon, carrying away, at the same time, the most precious vessels of the house of the Lord: and he made Sedecias, his uncle, king over Juda and Jerusalem.
Sedecias was one and twenty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem.
And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, his God, and did not reverence the face of Jeremias, the prophet, speaking to him from the mouth of the Lord.
He also revolted from king Nabuchodonosor, who had made him swear by God: and he hardened his neck and his heart, from returning to the Lord, the God of Israel.
Moreover, all the chief of the priests, and the people, wickedly transgressed according to all the abominations of the Gentiles: and they defiled the house of the Lord, which he had sanctified to himself in Jerusalem.
And the Lord, the God of their fathers, sent to them, by the hand of his messengers, rising early, and daily admonishing them: because he spared his people and his dwelling-place.
But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused the prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and there was no remedy.
For he brought upon them the hand of the Chaldeans, and he slew their young men with the sword in the house of his sanctuary; he had no compassion on young man, or maiden, old man, or even him that stooped for age; but he delivered them all into his hands.
And all the vessels of the house of the Lord, great and small, and the treasures of the temple, and of the king, and of the princes, he carried away to Babylon.
And the enemies set fire to the house of God, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem, burnt all the towers, and whatsoever was precious they destroyed.
Whosoever escaped the sword, was led into Babylon, and there served the king and his sons, till the reign of the king of Persia.
That the word of the Lord, by the mouth of Jeremia, might be fulfilled, and the land might keep her sabbaths: for all the days of the desolation she kept a sabbath, till the seventy years were expired.
But in the first year of Cyrus, king of the Persians, to fulfil the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by the mouth of Jeremia, the Lord stirred up the heart of Cyrus, king of the Persians: who commanded it to be proclaimed through all his kingdom, and by writing also, saying:
Thus saith Cyrus, king of the Persians: All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord, the God of heaven, given, to me, and he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea: who is there among you of all his people? The Lord, his God, be with him, and let him go up.
CHAPTER I.

 Cyrus, king of Persia, released God's people from their captivity, with licence to return and build the temple in Jerusalem; and restored the holy vessels which Nabuchodonosor had taken from thence.

IN the first year of Cyrus, king of the Persians, that is, the word of the Lord, by the mouth of Jeremiah, might be fulfilled, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, king of the Persians; and he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and in writing also, saying:

1 Thus saith Cyrus, king of the Persians: The Lord, the God of heaven, hath given to me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea.

2 Who is there among you of all his people? His God be with him. Let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord, the God of Israel; he is the God that is in Jerusalem.

3 And let all the rest, in all places, wheresoever they dwell, help him every man from his place, with silver and gold, and goods, and cattle, besides that which they offer freely to the temple of God, which is in Jerusalem.

4 Then rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests, and Levites, and every one whose spirit God had raised up, to go up to build the temple of the Lord, which was in Jerusalem.

I. ESDRAS.

The number of them that returned to Judah: their offspring.

NOW these are the children of the province, that went out of the captivity, which Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, had carried away to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judea, every man to his city:

6 And all they that were round about, helped their hands with vessels of silver, and gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with furniture, besides what they had offered on their own accord.

7 And king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the temple of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had taken from Jerusalem, and had put them in the temple of his god.

8 Now Cyrus, king of Persia, brought them forth by the hand of Mithridates, the son of Gazabar, and numbered them to Sassabasar, the prince of Judea.

9 And this is the number of them: thirty bows of gold, a thousand bowls of silver, nine and twenty knives thirty cups of gold,

10 Silver cups of a second sort, four hundred and ten other vessels, a thousand.

11 All the vessels of gold and silver, five thousand and four hundred. All these, Sassabasar brought with them that came up from the captivity of Babylon to Jerusalem.

2. Who came with Zorobabel, Josue, Nehemia, Sarai, Rahelai, Mardochai, Belsan, Meshpar, Beguai, Rehum, Baana. The number of the men of the people of Israel:
   3. The children of Pharos, two thousand one hundred seventy-two.
   4. The children of Sephathia, three hundred seventy-two.
   5. The children of Areaua, seven hundred seventy-five.
   6. The children of Phahath Moab, of the children of Josue: Joab, two thousand eight hundred twelve.
   7. The children of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty-four.
   8. The children of Zethua, nine hundred forty-five.
   10. The children of Bani, six hundred forty-two.
   11. The children of Bebai, six hundred twenty-three.
   12. The children of Azgad, a thousand two hundred twenty-two.
   14. The children of Begai, two thousand fifty-six.
   15. The children of Adin, four hundred fifty-four.
   16. The children of Ather, who were of Ezechias, ninety-eight.
   17. The children of Besai, three hundred and twenty-three.
   18. The children of Jora, a hundred and twelve.
   19. The children of Hasum, two hundred thirty-three.
   20. The children of Gebbar, ninety-five.
   21. The children of Bethlehem, a thousand two hundred twenty-two.
   23. The men of Anathoth, a hundred twenty-eight.
   24. The children of Azmaveth, forty-two.
   25. The children of Curiatharmim, Cephim, and Beroth, seven hundred forty-three.
   26. The children of Rama and Gabaa, six hundred twenty-one.
   27. The men of Machmas, a hundred twenty-two.
   28. The men of Bethel and Hai, two hundred thirty-three.
   29. The children of Nebo, fifty-two.
   30. The children of Magbis, a hundred fifty-six.
   31. The children of the other Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty-four.
   32. The children of Harim, three hundred and twenty.

43,860, as these could not make out their genealogies, or were of the ten tribes. In this chapter only 20,818 are specified, whereas 2 Esd. viii. has 31,069; the latter reckons 1068 unnotated by Esdras, who has 494 not specified in Nehemiah. The difference, that seems to make a reconciliation impossible, is what makes these authors agree; for if you add the surplus of each to the other, the same total, 31,583, will arise. All the law of this solution, though ingenious, is not solid or satisfactory. Bude, t. v. p. 170.—De Venee rather thinks that the difference is to be laid to the charge of transcribers, or that some people enrolled themselves after the registers had been made up; so that they are only included in the general sum. II. The list given in 1 Par. 4, 4 comprises only those who came from Babylon. C.—After this remark, it will hardly be requisite to specify all the variations of names and numbers. H.—For what can be herein inferred, but that there are some arithmetical mistakes in Scripture, which no one denies? Huet.—Almost all who are conversant with ancient copies, agree in the decision of S. Jerom, as they cannot but perceive that some variations have crept in, particularly with respect to numbers and proper names. Walton.—Judaism now is used to denote Judaism. H.

V. 2. Zorobabel was the prince, Josue the high priest. C.—There are twelve mentioned in 2 and 3 Esd. But here the sixth, Nahanan, or Ensaian, is omitted. H.—They represented the twelve tribes, (Kammaæi,) and were chief. M.—It is wonderful that Esdras is not here mentioned, as well as Nehemia, who led a company after him, many of whom are here recorded. C.

V. 3. Children. When this term precedes the name of a man, it means his offspring (ver. 29); when placed before a city, it designates the inhabitants. Ver. 21, 66. C.

CHAP. II.

33. The children of Lod, Hadid and Ono, seven hundred twenty-five.
34. The children of Jericho, three hundred forty-five.
35. The children of Senaa, three thousand six hundred thirty.
36. The priests: the children of Jadaia, of the house of Josue, nine hundred seventy-three.
37. The children of Emmer, a thousand fifty-two.
38. The children of Phashur, a thousand two hundred forty-seven.
39. The children of Harim, a thousand and seventeen.
40. The Levites: The children of Josue, and of Cedmiel, the children of Odiva, seventy-four.
41. The singing men: The children of Asaph, a hundred twenty-eight.
42. The children of the porters: the children of Selum, the children of Ater, the children of Telmon, the children of Accub, the children of Haitia, the children of Solai: in all a hundred thirty-nine.
43. The Nathinites: The children of Siha, the children of Hasupha, the children of Tabbuth.
44. The children of Ceros, the children of Sia, the children of Phadon.
45. The children of Lebanon, the children of Hagaba, the children of Accub.
46. The children of Hagab, the children of Semlaui, the children of Hanan.
47. The children of Gaddel, the children of Gaheer, the children of Rasia.
48. The children of Rasin, the children of Nekoda, the children of Gazam.
49. The children of Aza, the children of Phasea the children of Besse.
50. The children of Azena, the children of Muniim, the children of Nephusim.
51. The children of Baccuc, the children of Hacuc, the children of Harbur.
52. The children of Blesuth, the children of Mahida, the children of Harus.
53. The children of Bercos, the children of Sisara, the children of Themis.
54. The children of Nasia, the children of Hatipha.
55. The children of the servants of Solomon, the children...
57 The children of Saphatia, the children of Hatil, the children of Phocereth, which were of Asebaim, the children of Ami, 58 All the Nephites, and the children of the servants of Solomon, three hundred ninety-two.
59 And these are they that came up from Thelmela, Thelharsa, Cherub, and Adon, and Emer. And they could not show the house of their fathers and their seed, whether they were of Israel.
60 The children of Dalai, the children of Tobia, the children of Necoda, six hundred fifty-two.
61 And of the children of the priests: The children of Hoba, the children of Accos, the children of Berzella, who took a wife of the daughters of Berzella, the Galaadite, and was called by their name:
62 These sought the writing of their genealogy, and found it not; and they were cast out of the priesthood.
63 And Athersatha said to them, that they should not eat of the holy of holies, till there arose a priest, learned and perfect.
64 All the multitudes as one man, were forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty,
65 Besides their men-servants, and women-servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven: and among them singing men and singing women, two hundred.
66 Their horses, seven hundred thirty-six, their mules, two hundred forty-five, 67 Their camels, four hundred thirty-five, their asses, six thousand seven hundred and twenty.
68 And some of the chief of the fathers, when they came to the temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, offered freely to the house of the Lord to build it in its place.
69 According to their ability, they gave towards the expenses of the work, sixty-one thousand solids of gold, five thousand pounds of silver, and a hundred garments for the priests.
70 So the priests, and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singing men, and the porters, and the Nethinites, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

CHAP. III.

AND now the seventh month was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities: and the people gathered themselves together as one man to Jerusalem.
2 And Josue, the son of Josedec, rose up, and his brethren, the priests, and Zorobabel, the son of Salathiel, and his brethren, and they built the altar of the God of Israel, that they might offer holocausts upon it: as it is written in the law of Moses, the man of God.
3 And they set the altar of God upon its bases, while the people of the lands, round about, put them in fear and they offered upon it a holocaust to the Lord, morning and evening:
4 And they kept the feast of the tabernacles, as it was written, and offered the holocaust every day orderly, according to the commandment, the duty of the day in its day.
5 And afterwards the continual holocaust, both on the new moons, and on all the solemnities of the Lord, that were consecrated, and on all in which a free-will offering was made to the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer holocausts to the Lord: but the temple of God was not yet founded.

7 And they gave money to hewers of stones and to masons: and meat and drink, and oil to the Sidonians and Tyrians, to bring cedar-trees from Libanus to the sea of Joppa, according to the orders which Cyrus, king of the Persians, had given them.

8 And in the second year of their coming to the temple of God in Jerusalem, the second month, Zorobabel, the son of Salathiel, and Josue, the son of Josedec, and the rest of their brethren, the priests and Levites, and all that were come from the captivity to Jerusalem began, and they appointed Levites, from twenty years old and upward, to hasten forward the work of the Lord.

9 Then Josue, and his sons, and his brethren, Cedmiel, and his sons, and the children of Juda, as one man, stood to hasten them that did the work in the temple of 11 And they sang together hymns, and praise to the Lord: because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever towards Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, praising the Lord, because the foundations of the temple of the Lord were laid.

12 But many of the priests and the Levites, and the chief of the fathers and the ancients, that had seen the former temple; when they had the foundation of this temple before their eyes, wept with a loud voice: and many shouting for joy, lifted up their voice.

13 So that one could not distinguish the voice of the shout of joy, from the noise of the weeping of the people: for one with another the people shouted with a loud shout, and the voice was heard afar off.

CHAP. IV.

The Samaritans, by their letter to the king, hinder the building.

NOW the enemies of Juda and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity were building a temple to the Lord, the God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zorobabel, and the chief of the fathers, and said to them: Let us build with you, for we seek your God as ye do: behold we have sacrificed to him, since the days of Asor Haddan, king of Assyria, who brought us hither.

3 But Zorobabel and Josue, and the rest of the chief of the fathers of Israel, said to them: You have nothing to do with us to build a house to our God, but we ourselves, alone, will build to the Lord, our God, as Cyrus, king of the Persians, hath commanded us.

4 Then the people of the land hindered the hands of the people of Juda, and troubled them in building.

records: and shalt know that this city is a rebellious city, and hurtful to the kings and provinces, and that wars were raised therein of old times: for which cause also, the city was destroyed.

16 We certify the king, that if this city be built, and the walls thereof repaired, thou shalt have no possession on this side of the river.

17 The king sent word to Reum Boeletem, and Samasai, the scribe, and to the rest that were in their counsel, inhabitants of Samaria, and to the rest beyond the river, sending greeting and peace.

18 The accusation, which you have sent to us, hath been plainly read before me;

19 And I commanded: and search hath been made, and it is found, that this city of old times hath rebelled against kings, and seditions and wars have been raised therein.

20 For there have been powerful kings in Jerusalem, who have had dominion over all the country that is beyond the river: and have received tribute, and toll, and revenues.

21 Now, therefore, hear the sentence: Hinder those men, that this city be not built, till further orders be given by me.

22 See that you be not negligent in executing this, lest by little and little the evil grow to the hurt of the kings.

23 Now the copy of the edict of king Artaxerxes was read before Reum Boeletem, and Samasai, the scribe, and their counsellors: and they went up in haste to Jerusalem to the Jew, and hindered them with arm and power.

24 Then the work of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was interrupted, and ceased till the second year of the reign of Darius, king of the Persians.

CHAP. V.

By the exhortation of Aggeus, and Zacharias, the people proceeded in building the temple: which their enemies strive in vain to hinder.

NOW Aggeus, the prophet, and Zacharias, the son of Addo, prophesied to the Jews that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel.

2 Then rose up Zerobabel, the son of Salathiel, and Josue, the son of Josedeck, and began to build the temple of God in Jerusalem, and with them were the prophets of God helping them.

3 And at the same time came to them, Thathanai, who was governor beyond the river, and Scharbuzanai, and their counsellors: and said thus to them: Who hath given you counsel to build this house, and to repair the walls thereof?

4 In answer to which we gave them the names of the men who were the promoters of that building.

5 But the eye of their God was upon the ancients of the Jews, and they could not hinder them. And it was agreed, that the matter should be referred to Darius, and then they should give satisfaction concerning that accusation.

6 The copy of the letter that Thathanai, governor of the country beyond the river, and Scharbuzanai, and his counsellors, the Arpharsachites, who dwelt beyond the river, sent to Darius, the king.

7 The letter which they sent him, was written thus.

To Darius, the king, all peace.

8 Be it known to the king: that we went to the province of Judea, to the hov of the great God, which they are building with unpolished stones; and timber is laid in the walls: and this work is carried on diligently, and advantage in their hands.

9 And we asked those ancients, and said to them thus: Who hath given you authority to build this house, and to repair these walls?

10 We asked also of them their names, that we might give thee notice: and we have written the names of the men that are the chief among them.

11 And they answered us in these words, saying: We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are building a temple that was built these many years ago, and which a great king of Israel built and set up.

12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heaven to wrath, he delivered them into the hands of Nauchodonosor, the king of Babylon, the Chaldean: and he destroyed this house, and carried away the people to Babylon.

13 But in the first year of Cyrus, the king of Babylon, king Cyrus set forth a decree, that this house of God should be built.

14 And the vessels also of gold and silver of the temple of God, which Nabuchodonosor had taken out of the temple, that was in Jerusalem, and had brought them to the temple of Babylon, king Cyrus brought out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered to one Sassa-basar, whom also he appointed governor,

15 And said to him: Take these vessels, and go, and put them in the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be built in its place.

16 Then came this same Sassa-basar, and laid the foundations of the temple of God in Jerusalem, and from that time, until now, it is in building, and is not yet finished. 17 Now, therefore, if it seem good to the king, let him search in the king’s library, which is in Babylon, whether it hath been decreed by Cyrus, the king, that the house of God, in Jerusalem, should be built, and let the king send his pleasure to us concerning this matter.

CHAP. VI.

Then spake Darius favourably of the building, and contributed to it.

10 And let them offer oblations to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king, and of his children. 11 And I have made a decree: That if any, whosoever, shall alter this commandment, a beam be taken from his house, and set up, and be nailed upon it, and his house be confiscated. 12 And may the God, that hath caused his name to dwell there, destroy all kingdoms, and the people that shall put out their hand to resist, and to destroy the house of God, that is in Jerusalem. 13 Darius, have made the decree, which I will have diligently complied with. 14 So then Thathanai, governor of the country beyond the river, and Sitarbazanai, and his counsellors, diligently executed what Darius, the king, had commanded. 15 And the ancients of the Jews built, and prospered, according to the prophecy of Aggeus, the prophet, and of Zacharias, the son of Addo: and they built and finished, by the commandment of the God of Israel, and by the commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes, kings of the Persians.

16 And they were finishing this house of God, until the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius. 17 And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the rest of the children of the captivity, kept the dedication of the house of God with joy. 18 And they set the priests in their divisions, and the Levites, in their courses, over the works of God, in Jerusalem, as it is written in the book of Moses. 19 And the children of Israel, of the captivity, kept the Passover, on the fourteenth day of the first month. 20 For all the priests and the Levites were purified as one man: all were clean to kill the Passover for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren, the priests, and themselves. 21 And the children of Israel that were returned from captivity, and all that had separated themselves from the filthiness of the nations of the earth to them, to seek the Lord, the God of Israel, did eat.
And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days, with joy; for the Lord had made them joyful and had turned the heart of the king of Assyria to them, that he should help their hands in the work of the house of the Lord, the God of Israel.

CHAP. VII.

Esther goeth up to Jerusalem, to teach and assist the people, with a gracious decree of Artaxerxes.

NOW after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes, king of the Persians, Esdras, the son of Sarsais, the son of Azarai, the son of Helecas, the son of Sullam, the son of Sadoc, the son of Achitob,

2 The son of Amarias, the son of Azarias, the son of Mariob,

4 The son of Zarabias, the son of Ozi, the son of Boci,

5 The son of Abisue, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, the priest, from the beginning.

6 This Esdras went up from Babylon, and he was a ready scribe in the law of Moses, which the Lord God had given to Israel; and the king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the Lord, his God, upon him.

7 And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the children of the priests, and of the singing men, and of the porters, and of the Nethinities, to Jerusalem, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes, the king.

8 And they came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, in the seventh year of the king.

9 For upon the first day of the month he began to go up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him.

10 For Esdras had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do and to teach, in Israel, the commandments and judgment.

11 And this is the copy of the letter of the edict, which king Artaxerxes gave to Esdras, the priest, the scribe, instructed in the words and commandments of the Lord, and his ceremonies, in Israel.

12 Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Esdras, the priest, the most learned scribe of the law of the God of heaven, greeting.

13 It is decreed by me, that all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests, and of the Levites, in my reign,

3 Of the sons of Sechenias, the son of Pharos, Zacharias, and with him were numbered a hundred and fifty men.

4 Of the sons of Phalath Moab, Eleoenai, the son of Zareha, and with him two hundred men.

5 Of the sons of Sechenias, the son of Ezechiel, and with him three hundred men.

6 Of the sons of Adan, Abel, the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty men.

7 Of the sons of Alam, Isaia, the son of Athalias, and with him seventy men.

8 Of the sons of Saphatia, Zebedia, the son of Michael, and with him eighty men.

9 Of the sons of Joab, Obedia, the son of Jahiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen men.

10 Of the sons of Selomith, the son of Josphia, and with him a hundred and sixty men.

11 Of the sons of Bebai, Zacharias, the son of Bebai: and with him eight and twenty men.

12 Of the sons of Azgad, Joanan, the son of Ezcetan, and with him a hundred and ten men.

13 Of the sons of Adonicam, who were the last: and these are their names: Elipelet, and Jehiel, and Samaias, and with them sixty men.

14 Of the sons of Begui, Uthai and Zachur, and with them seventy men.

15 And I gathered them together to the river, which runneth down to Ahava, and we stayed there three days: and I sought among the people, and among the priests, for the sons of Levi, and found none there.

16 So I sent Eliezer, and Ariel, and Semeias, and Elathan, and Zerib, and another Elathan, and Nathan, and Zacharias, and Mosollam, chief men: and Joiarib, and Elathan, wise men.

17 And I sent them to Eddo, who is chief in the place of Chasphia, and I put in their mouth the words that they should speak to Eddo, and his brethren, the Nathinites, in the place of Chasphia, that they should bring us ministers of the house of our God.

18 And by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a most learned man of the sons of Moholi, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, and Sarabias, and his sons, and his brethren, eighteen.

19 And Hasabias, and with him Isaia, of the sons of Merari, and his brethren, and his sons, twenty.

20 And of the Nathinites, whom David, and the princes, gave for the service of the Levites, Nathinites, two hundred and twenty; all these were called by their names.

21 And I proclaimed there a fast by the river Ahava, that we might afflict ourselves before the Lord, our God, and might ask of him a right way for us, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to ask the king for aid, and for horsemen, to defend us from the enemy in the way: because we had said to the king: The hand of our God is upon all them that seek him in goodness: and his power and strength, and wrath, upon all them that forsake him.

23 And we fasted, and besought our God for this: and it fell out prosperous unto us.

24 And I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sarabias, and Hasabias, and with them ten of their brethren.

25 And I weighed unto them the silver and gold, and the vessels consecrated for the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel, that were found, had offered.

26 And I weighed to their hands six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and a hundred vessels of silver, and hundred talents of gold,

27 And twenty cups of gold, of a thousand solids, and two vessels of the best shining brass, beautiful as gold.

28 And I said to them: You are the holy ones of the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and gold, that is freely offered to the Lord, the God of our fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keep them, till ye deliver them by weight before the chief of the priests, and of the Levites, and the heads of the families of Israel, in Jerusalem, into the treasure of the house of the Lord.

30 And the priests, and the Levites, received the weight of the silver and gold, and the vessels, to carry them to Jerusalem, to the house of our God.

31 Then we set forward from the river Ahava, on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and we stayed there three days.

33 And on the fourth day the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, were weighed in the house of our God, by the hand of Meremoth, the son of Urias, the priest; and with him was Eleazar, the son of Phinees, and with them Jozabad, the son of Josue, and Noadain, the son of Bennoi, Levites.

34 According to the number and weight of every thing: and all the weight was written at that time.

35 Moreover, the children of them that had been carried away, that were come out of the captivity, offered holocausts and oblations of all manner of beasts twelve calves for all the people of Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve he-goats, for sin: all for a holocaust to the Lord.

36 And they gave the king's edicts to the lords that were from the king's court, and the governors beyond the river, and they furthered the people and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

Esdras mourneth for the transgression of the people: his confession and prayer.

And after these things were accomplished, the princes came to me, saying: The people of Israel, and the priests, and Levites, have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, and from their abominations, namely, of the Chanaanites, and the Hethites, and the Perizzites, and the Jebusites, and the Ammonites, and the Moabites, and the Egyptians, and the Amorrites.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themselves, and for their sons, and they have mingled the holy seed with the people of the lands. And the hand of the princes and magistrates hath been first in this transgression.

3 And when I had heard this word, I rent my mantle and my coat, and plucked off the hair of my head and my beard, and I sat down mourning.

4 And there were assembled to me all those that feared the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those, that were come from the captivity, and I sat sorrowful, until the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I rose up from my affliction, and having rent my mantle and my garment, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands to the Lord, my God.

6 And said: My God, I am confounded and ashamed to lift up my face to thee: for our iniquities are multiplied over our heads, and our sins are grown up even unto heaven.

7 From the days of our fathers: and we ourselves, also, have sinned grievously unto this day, and for our iniquities we, and our kings, and our priests, have been delivered into the hands of the kings of the lands, and to the sword, and to captivity, and to spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is at this day.

8 And now as a little, and, for a moment, has our prayer been made before the Lord, our God, to leave us a remnant, and give us a pin in his holy place, and that our God would enlighten our eyes, and would give us a little life in our bondage.

9 For we are bondmen, and in our bondage our God hath not forsaken us, but hath extended mercy upon us before the king of the Persians, to give us life, and to set up the house of our God, and to rebuild the desolations thereof, and to give us a fence in Juda and Jerusalem.

10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments.

11 Which thou hast commanded by the hand of thy servants, the prophets, saying: The land which ye go to possess, is an unclean land, according to the uncleanness of the people, and of other lands, with their abominations, who have filled it from mouth to mouth with their filth.

12 Now, therefore, give not your daughters to their sons, and take not their daughters for your sons, and seek not their peace, nor their prosperity for ever: but you may be strengthened, and may eat the good things of the land, and may have your children your heirs for ever.
13 And after all that is come upon us, for our most wicked deeds, and our great sin, seeing that thou, our God, hast saved us from our iniquity, and hast given us a deliverance as at this day.

14 That we should not turn away, nor break thy commandments, nor join in marriage with the people of these abominations. Art thou angry with us unto utter destruction, not to leave us a remnant to be saved?

15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art just: for we remain yet to be saved, as at this day. Behold we are before thee in our sin, for there can be no standing before thee in this manner.

CHAP. X.

Order is taken for discharging strange women: the names of the guilty.

NOW when Esdras was thus praying, and beseeching, and weeping, and lying before the temple of God, there was gathered to him of Israel an exceedingly great assembly of men and women, and children, and the people wept with much lamentation.

2 And Scehemin, the son of Jehiel, of the sons of Elam, answered, and said to Esdras: We have sinned against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: and now, if there be repentance in Israel concerning this,

3 Let us make a covenant with the Lord, our God, to put away all the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the will of the Lord, and of them that fear the commandment of the Lord, our God: let it be done according to the law.

4 Arise, it is thy part to give orders, and we will be with thee: take courage, and do it.

5 So Esdras arose, and made the chiefs of the priests, and of the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they would do according to this word; and they swore.

6 And Esdras rose up from before the house of God, and went to the chamber of Johanan, the son of Eliasib, and entered in thither, he eat no bread, and drank no water: for he mourned for the transgression of them that were come out of the captivity.

7 And proclamation was made in Juda, and Jerusalem, to all the children of the captivity, that they should assemble together into Jerusalem.

8 And that whereas would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes, and the ancients, all his substance should be taken away, and he should be cast out of the company of them that were returned from captivity.

9 Then all the men of Juda, and Benjamin, gathered themselves together to Jerusalem within three days, in the ninth month, the twentieth day of the month: and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling, because of the sin, and the rain.

10 And Esdras, the priest, stood up, and said to them: You have transgressed, and taken strange wives, to add to the sins of Israel.

11 And now make confession to the Lord, the God of your fathers, and do his pleasure, and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from your strange wives.

12 And all the multitude answered, and said with a loud voice: According to thy word unto us, so be it done.

13 But as the people are many, and it is time of rain, and we are not able to stand without, and it is not a work of one day or two, (for we have exceedingly sinned in this matter,)

14 Let rulers be appointed in all the multitude: and in all our cities, let them that have taken strange wives come at the times appointed, and with them the ancients, and the judges of every city, until the wrath of our God be turned away from us for this sin.

15 Then Jonathan, the son of Azahel, and Jassia, the son of Thecua, were appointed over this, and Mosollam and Sebeethia, Levites, helped them.

16 And the children of the captivity did so. And Esdras, the priest, and the men, heads of the families in the houses of their fathers, and all by their names, went and sat down, in the first day of the month, to examine the matter.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives, by the first day of the first month.

18 And there was found among the sons of the priests, that had taken strange wives: Of the sons of Josue, the son of Josebed, and his brethren, Maasia, and Elizeer, and Jarib, and Gododia.

19 And they gave their hands to put away their wives and to offer for their offence a ram of the flock.

20 And of the sons of Emmer, Hamani, and Zebedia.

21 And of the sons of Harim, Maasia, and Elia, and Semeia, and Jehiel, and Ozias.

22 And of the sons of Pheschur, Elioenai, Maasia, Ismael, Nathanael, Jozabed, and Elia.

VER. 8. Asey. Heb. and Sept., "subjected to anathema," (C.) and utterly destroyed (V. 15.) or, according to some editions of the Sept. and Josephus, "consecrated to the temple." Esdras exercises the power which had been intrusted to him. Chap. vii. 16.

25 And of Israel, of the sons of Pharos, Remela, and Jeziya, and Melchias, and Miamin, and Eliezer, and Melchias, and Bencan.
26 And of the sons of Elam, Mathania, Zacharias, and Jehiel and Abdi, and Jeremoth, and Elia.
27 And of the sons of Zethua, Elioenai, Elisib, Mathania, Jerimoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.
28 And of the sons of Bebai, Johanan, Hanaania, Zabbai, Athaliah:
29 And of the sons of Bani, Mosollam, and Melchis, and Adaia, and Junab, and Sali, and Ramoth.
30 And of the sons of Phahath Moab, Edna, and Chalal, Banaas, and Maasias, Mathanias, Bezeel, Ben-nui, and Manasse.

VER. 44. Children. Heb. may be, “and some of these women had exposed their children.” But most follow the Sept. and Vulg. 3 Est. ix. 30, “and they ejected them with their children.” C.—Only seventeen priests.

31 And of the sons of Herem, Eliezer, Josue, Melchias, Semeias, Simeon, 32 Benjamin, Maloch, Samarias.
33 And of the sons of Hasom, Mathanias, Mathathia,

38 And Bani, and Bennui, Semei,
39 And Salmias, and Nathan, and Adanias.
40 And Mechnedesbai, Sisai, Sarai,
41 Ezrel, and Semelam, Semeria,
42 Sellum, Amaria, Joseph.
43 Of the sons of Nebo, Jehiel, Mathathias, Zaba,
44 All these had taken strange wives, and there were among them women that had borne children.

THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH;
COMMONLY CALLED,
THE SECOND OF ESDRAS.

This book takes its name from the writer, who was cup-bearer to Artaxerxes (surnamed Longinuus), king of Persia, and was sent by him with a commission to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. It is also called the Second Book of Esdras, because it is a continuation of the history begun by Esdras, of the state of the people of God after their return from captivity. C.—Gesenius believes that the latter wrote the work. But how long must he thus have lived? and how come the lists to vary so much? C.—We may allow that these variations are owing to the mistakes of transcribers, (1 Est. ii. 1.) for the writer of both works was certainly inspired. Esdras lived a long time along with Nehemiah (chap. xii. 35); and he may have left memorials, as well as the latter, from which the present work seems to have been compiled. H.—Some additions have been made since the days of Nehemiah, particularly chap. xii. to ver. 26, or at least (C) the five last of these verses. Capel, Chron. —The passage cited from the commentaries of Nehemiah, (2 Mac. ii. 15), is not to be found here; which shows that we have not his entire work, but only an abridgment, in which the author has adopted his words, with some few alterations.

The fifth chapter seems to be out of its place, and also the dedication of the walls, chap. xii. 27. Nehemiah was a person in great favour at the court of Persia; and of high birth, probably of the royal family, (Rhees, Iaid., Genebrard in Chron.,) as most of the ancients believe that all who governed, till the time of the Assuwees, were of the tribe of Juda. Hence he styles Hanani his brother, (chap. i. 2) and declines entering into the temple, chap. vi. 11. His name never occurs among the priests; and though we read, 2 Mac. i. 18, 21, juedi sacerdor Nehemias, (T) the Greek has, “Nehemiah moved the priests;” iexaq. C. Haet. D. Nehemiah, by order of Artaxerxes, and notwithstanding the obstruptions of the enemies of Juda, rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem, and returned after twelve years to court, making a second visit to his own country a little before the death of the king, whom he probably survived only one year, dying A. 3580, about thirty years after he had been appointed governor. C.—In the first two chapters we behold his solicitude for the welfare of his country, in the ten following, his success, and in the last, what abuses he corrected. W.—He renewed the covenant with God, (chap. ix. and x.) sent for the sacred fire, and established a library at Jerusalem. 3 Mac. i. 19, 54, and ii. 13. H.

Nehemiah, hearing of the miserable state of his countrymen in Judea, lamenteth, fasteth, and prayeth for God to their relief.

2 That Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and some men of Juda; and I asked them concerning the Jews, that remained and were left of the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem.

3 And they said to me: They that have remained and are left of the captivity there in the province, as in great affliction and reproach: and the wall of Jeru

See 1 Est. iv. 12, and xiv. 7,) or rather the Nabuchodonosor, as the kings of Persia would not suffer the city to be fortified for fear of a fresh rebellion. Lyran, T.—We find that little progress (chap. iii. and iv. C.) had at least been made in the work, though the blame must rather be laid on the enemies of Israel, than on several of the kings of Persia, who seem to have authorized the undertaking, which Cambyses, or Smerdis, had for some time interrupted. Nehemiah, with commission from king Artaxerxes, cometh to Jerusalem: and exhorteth the Jews to rebuild the walls.

And it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes, the king: that wine was before him, and I took up the wine, and gave it to the king: and I was as one languishing away before his face.

And the king said unto me: Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou dost not appear to be sick? this is not without cause, but some evil, I know not what, is in thy heart. And I was seized with an exceedingly great fear:

And I said to the king: O king, live for ever: why should not my countenance be sorrowful, seeing the city of the place of the sepultures of my fathers is desolate, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire?

Then the king said to me: For what doest thou make request? And I prayed to the God of heaven.

And I said to the king: If it seem good to the king, let him give me letters to the governors of the country beyond the river, that they convey me over till I come into Judea:

And a letter to Asaph, the keeper of the king’s forest, to give me timber, that I may cover the gates of the tower of the house, and the walls of the city, and the house that I shall enter into. And the king gave me according to the good hand of my God with me.

And I came to the governors of the country beyond the river, and gave them the king’s letters. And the king had sent with me captains of soldiers, and horsemen.

And Sanballat, the Horonite, and Tobias, the servant, the Ammonite, heard it, and it grieved them exceedingly, that a man was come, who sought the prosperity of the children of Israel.

And I came to Jerusalem, and was there three days.

And I arose in the night, and some few men with me, and told not any man what God had put in my heart to do in Jerusalem, and there was no beast with me, but the beast that I rode upon.

And I went out by night, by the gate of the valley, and by the dung-gate, and I viewed the wall of Jerusalem, which was broken down, and the gates thereof, which were consumed with fire.

great men did not put their necks to the work of their Lord.

6 And Joia, the son of Phaeas, and Mosollam, the son of Besodia, built the old gate: they covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars.

7 And next to them built Meltis, the Gabuonite, and Jadon, the Meronathite, the men of Gabaaon and Maspha, for the governor that was in the country beyond the river.

8 And next to him built Eziel, the son of Arani, the goldsmith: and next to him built Anias, the son of the perfumer: and they left Jerusalem unto the wall of the broad street.

9 And next to him built Raphaia, the son of Hur, lord of the street of Jerusalem.

10 And next to him Jedain, the son of Haromaph, over against his own house: and next to him built Hatus, the son of Hasebiona.

11 Melechias, the son of Harem, and Hasub, the son of Phahath Moab, built half the street, and the tower of the furnaces.

12 And next to him built Sellum, the son of Aloha, lord of half the street of Jerusalem, and his daughters.

13 And the gate of the valley Hanun built, and the inhabitants of Zano: they built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars, and a thousand cubits in the wall unto the gate of the dunghill.

14 And the gate of the dunghill, Melchias, the son of Rechab, built, lord of the street of Bethacharam: he built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars.

15 And the gate of the fountain, Sellum, the son of Cholhoza, built, lord of the street of Maspha: he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks and the bars, and the walls of the pool of Siloe, unto the king's garden, and unto the steps that go down from the city of David.

16 After him built Nehemia, the son of Azboe, lord of half the street of Bethur, as far as over against the sepulchre of David, and to the pool, that was built with great labour, and to the house of the mighty.

17 After him built the Levites, Rehum, the son of Benni. After him built Hasebiona, lord of half the street of Cella, in his own street.

18 After him built their brethren Bavi, the son of Enadad, lord of half Cella.

21 After him Merimuth, the son of Urias, the son of Huccus, built another measure, from the door of the house of Eliasib, to the end of the house of Eliasib.

22 And after him built the priests, the men of the plains of the Jordan.

23 After him built Benjamin and Hasub, over against their own house: and after him built Azarias, the son of Maasias, the son of Ananias, over against his house.

24 After him built Bennui, the son of Hanadad, another measure, from the house of Azarias unto the bending, and unto the corner.

25 Phael, the son of Ozi, over against the bending and the tower, which lieth out from the king's high house, that is, in the court of the prison: after him Phadaia: the son of Pharos.

26 And the Nethinim dwelt in Ophel, as far as over against the water-gate toward the east, and the tower that stood out.

27 After him the Thecuvites built another measure over against, from the great tower that standeth out unto the wall of the temple.

28 And upward, from the horse-gate, the priests built, every man over against his house.

29 After them built Sadoc, the son of Emmer, over against his house. And after him built Semaina, the son of Sechenias, keeper of the east-gate.

30 After him built Hanania, the son of Selame, and Hanun, the sixth son of Seleph, another measure: after him built Mesullam, the son of Baruch, over against his treasury. After him Mechesiah, the goldsmith's son, built unto the house of the Nethinim, and of the sellers of small wares, over against the judgment-gate, and unto the chamber of the corner.

31 And within the chamber of the corner of the flock-gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants built.

CHAP. IV.

The building is carried on notwithstanding the opposition of their enemies.

A ND it came to pass, that when Sanballat heard that we were building the wall, he was angry: and being moved exceedingly, he scoffed at the Jews.

2 And said before his brethren, and the multitude of the Samaritans: What are the silly Jews doing? Will the Gentiles let them alone? will they sacrifice and make an end in a day? are they able to raise stones out of the heaps of the rubbish, which are burnt?

3 Tobias also, the Ammonite, who was by him, said: Let them build: if a fox go up, he will leap over their stone wall.

4 Hear thou, God, for we are despised: turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them to be despised in a land of captivity.

5 Cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin be blotted out from before thy face, because they have mocked thy builders.

6 So we built the wall, and joined it all together unto the half thereof: and the heart of the people was excited to work.

7 And it came to pass, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Azotians, heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and the breaches began to be closed, that they were exceedingly angry.

8 And they all assembled themselves together, to come, and to fight against Jerusalem, and to prepare ambushes.

9 And we prayed to our God, and set watchmen upon the wall day and night against them.

10 And I sent men to him; and he said: We do no mischief; but for the sake of our workmen's children hath a wall also been built against us.

11 And our enemies said: Let them not know, nor understand, till we come in the midst of them, and kill them, and cause the work to cease.

12 And it came to pass, that when the Jews that dwelt by them, came and told us ten times, out of all the places from whence they came to us,

13 I set the people in the place behind the wall round about in order, with their swords, and spears, and bows.

14 And I looked and rose up: and I said to the chief men and the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: Be not afraid of them. your sons, and your daughters, and your wives, and your houses.

15 And it came to pass, when our enemies heard that the thing had been told us, that God defeated their counsel. And we returned all of us to the walls, every man to his work.

16 And it came to pass from that day forward, that half of their young men did the work, and half were ready for to fight, with spears, and shields, and bows, and coats of mail, and the rulers were behind them in all the house of Juda.

17 Of them that built on the wall, and that carried burdens, and that laded: with one of his hands he did the work, and with the other he held a sword.

18 For every one of the builders was girded with a sword about his reins. And they built, and sounded with a trumpet by me.

19 And I said to the nobles, and to the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: The work is great and wide, and we are separated on the wall, one far from another:

20 In what place soever you shall hear the sound of the trumpet, run all thither unto us: our God will fight for us.

21 And let us do the work: and let one half of us hold our spears from the rising of the morning, till the stars appear.

22 At that time, also, I said to the people: Let every one with his servant stay in the midst of Jerusalem, and let us take our turns, in the night, and by day, to work.

23 Now I and my brethren, and my servants, and the watchmen, that followed me, did not put off our clothes: only every man stripped himself when he was to be washed.

CHAP. V.

Nehemiah blameth the rich for their oppressing the poor. His exhortation, and bounty to his countrymen.

NOW there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives, against their brethren, the Jews.

2 And there were some that said: Our sons and our daughters are very many: let us take up corn for the price of them, and let us eat and live.

3 And there were some that said: Let us mortgage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and let us take corn because of the famine.

4 And others said: Let us borrow money for the king’s tribute, and let us give up our fields and our vineyards:

5 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren: and our children as their children. Behold we bring into bondage our sons, and our daughters; and some of our daughters are bond-women already, neither have we where with to redeem them, and our fields and our vineyards other men possess.

6 And I was exceedingly angry, when I heard their cry according to these words.

7 And my heart thought with myself: and I rebuked the nobles and magistrates, and said to them: Do you every one exact usury of your brethren? And I gathered together a great assembly against them.

8 And I said to them: We, as you know, have redeemed, according to our ability, our brethren, the Jews, that were sold to the Gentiles: and will you then sell your brethren, for us to redeem them? And they held their peace, and found not what to answer.

9 And I said to them: The thing you do is not good: why walk you not in the fear of our God, that we be not exposed to the reproaches of the Gentiles, our enemies?

10 Both I and my brethren, and my servants, have lent money and corn to many: let us all agree not to call for it again; let us forgive the debt that is owing to us.

11 Restore ye to them this day their fields, and their vineyards, and their oliveyards, and their houses: and the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, which you were wont to exact of them, give it rather for them.

12 And they said: We will restore, and we will require nothing of them: and we will do so as thou sayest. And I called the priests, and took an oath of them, to do according to what I had said.

13 Moreover, I shook my lap, and said: So may God shake every man that shall not accomplish this word, out of his house, and out of his labours: thus may he be shaken out, and become empty. And all the multitude said: Amen. And they praised God. And the people did according to what was said.

14 And from the day, in which the king commanded me to be governor in the land of Juda, from the twentieth year, even to the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes, the king, for twelve years, I and my brethren, did not eat the yearly allowance that was due to the governors.

15 But the former governors that had been before me, were chargeable to the people, and took of them, in bread, and wine, and in money every day, forty sicles: and the expense of the walls, and of the joins therein, I have not demanded of them.
their officers also oppressed the people. But I did not so for the fear of God.

16 Moreover, I built the work of the wall, and I sought no land, and all my servants were gathered together to the work.

17 The Jews also, and the magistrates, to the number of one hundred fifty men, were at my table, besides them that came to us from among the nations that were round about us.

18 And there was prepared for me, day by day, one ox, and six choice rams, besides fowls, and once in ten days I gave store of divers wines, and many other things: yet I did not require my yearly allowance as governor: for the people were very much impoverished.

19 Remember me, O my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

CHAP. VI.
The enemies seek to terrify Nehemias. He proceedeth and finisheth the wall.

AND it came to pass, when Sanballat and Tobias, and Gossen, the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies, heard that I had built the wall, and that there was no breach left in it, (though at that time I had not set up the doors in the gates,) 2 Sanballat and Gossen sent to me, saying: Come, and let us make a league together in the villages, in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me mischief.

3 And I sent messengers to them, saying: I am doing a great work, and I cannot come down, lest it be neglected whilst I come, and go down to you.

4 And they sent to me according to this word, four times: and I answered them after the same manner.

5 And Sanballat sent his servant to me the fifth time, according to the former word, and he had a letter in his hand, written in this manner:

6 It is reported amongst the Gentiles, and Gossen hath said it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel, and therefore thou buildest the wall, and hast a mind to set thyself king over them: for which end

7 Thou hast also set up prophets, to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying: There is a king in Judea. The king will hear of these things: therefore come now, that we may take counsel together.

8 And I sent to them, saying: There is no such thing done as thou sayest: but thou feignest these things out of thy own heart.

9 For all these men thought to frighten us, thinking that our hands would cease from the work, and that we would leave off. Wherefore I strengthened my hands the more:

10 And I went into the house of Semina, the son of Dalai, the son of Metebeel, privately. And he said: Let us consult together in the house of God in the midst of the temple: and let us shut the doors of the temple, for they will come to kill thee, and in the night they will come to slay thee.

11 And I said: Should such a man as I flee? and who is there that, being as I am, would go into the temple, to save his life? I will not go in.

12 And I understood that God had not sent him, but that he had spoken to me as if he had been prophesying, and Tobias, and Sanballat, had hired him.

13 For he had taken money, that I, being afraid, should do this thing, and sin, and they might have some evil to upbraid me withal.

14 Remember me, O Lord, for Tobias and Sanballat, according to their works of this kind: and Noadias, the prophet, and the rest of the prophets, that would have put me in fear.

15 But the wall was finished the five and twentieth day of the month of Elul, in two and fifty days.

16 And it came to pass, when all our enemies heard of it, that all nations which were round about us, were afraid, and were cast down within themselves, for they perceived that this work was the work of God.

17 Moreover, in those days, many letters were sent by the principal men of the Jews to Tobias; and from Tobias there came letters to them.

18 For there were many in Judea sworn to him, because he was the son-in-law of Sechenias, the son of Area, and Johanan, his son, had taken to wife the daughter of Mosollam, the son of Barachias.
CHAP. VII.

And they praised him also before me, and they related my words to him: and Tobias sent letters to put me in fear.

II. ESDRAS.

Nehemiah appointeth watchmen in Jerusalem. The list of those who came first from Babylon.

Now after the wall was built, and I had set up the doors, and numbered the porters and singing-men, and Levites:

2 I commanded Hanani, my brother, and Hananiah, ruler of the house of Jerusalem, (for he seemed as a sincere man, and one that feared God above the rest,) And I said to them: Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened till the sun be hot. And while they were yet standing by, the gates were shut, and barred: and I set watchmen of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, every one by their courses, and every man over against his house. And the city was very wide and great, and the people few in the midst thereof, and the houses were not built. But God had put in my heart, and I assembled the princes and magistrates, and common people, to number them: and I found a book of the number of them who came up at the first, and therein it was found written:

6 "These are the children of the province, who came up from the captivity of them that had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, had carried away, and who returned into Judæa, every one into his own city. Who came with Zorobabel, Josue, Nehemiah, Azarias, Raamias, Nahamani, Mardoehai, Belsam, Mesarpar, Beogai, Nahum, Baana. The number of the men of the people of Israel.

CHAP. VII. VER. 2. House: "the ephah" (Tigur.); "palmæ." Vatab. The Sept. retain the original, Beiron, (II.) which signifies a palace, (Pagnin.) concerning which Nehemiah had spoken. Chap. II. 8, M.-But as it was not yet built, the house, being placed alone, more properly signifies the temple.

VER. 3. Lit. "the best of the sun," or perfect daylight. II. -They, ye, and Arabs, "while it was still day," (C.), or the sun shines. Before dusk the gates were shut, to prevent any improper person from entering. II. -House, on the walls. C.-These things protect a city; as grass, a guard over the senses, and watchfulness do the soul. W.

VER. 5. Heart, inspired me to provide inhabitants for the city, as was afterwards done by lot. Chap. xi. 15.-Written. Hence it seems evident that Nehemiah here only transcribes this ancient record, of those who came under Zoroaster, and consequently this chapter ought to agree with I Esd. II., as well as with II. Esd. v. 9, (II.) which is now strangely corrupted; so that it can throw no light upon the matter. C.—Some think that various catalogues were taken, a Babylonian, at the first coming to Jerusalem, (M.) and at the dedication of the temple, (T.) and that Nehemiah refers to a different one from that of Esdras. Sa. Lucas. T.—Others suppose that changes were introduced, as the families were increased or diminished, in the time of Nehemiah, (T.); who, therefore, judged it unnecessary to write a fresh catalogue, but only added the old one to the present circumstances, including probably the names of those who had returned with Esdras, or with himself. C.

VER. 35. Other Nabo. We find no first mention, but in the older Latin edition, Nabo occurs instead of Geba. Ver. 30. See I Esd. ii. 59. Sep. and Arab. omit "the other." "

50 And some of the heads of the families gave unto the work. Athersatha gave into the treasure a thousand drams of gold, fifty bowls, and five hundred and thirty garments for priests.

51 And some of the heads of families gave to the treasure of the work, twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand two hundred pounds of silver.

52 And that which the rest of the people gave, was twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand pounds of silver, and sixty-seven garments for priests.

53 And the priests, and the Levites, and the porters, and the singing-men, and the rest of the common people and the Nathinites, and all Israel, dwelt in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

Esdra readeth the law before the people. Nehemiah comforteth them. They celebrate the feast of tabernacles.

And the seventh month came: and the children of Israel were in their cities. And all the people were gathered together as one man, to the street which is before the water-gate, and they spoke to Esdras, the scribe, to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 Then Esdras, the priest, brought the law before the multitude of men and women, and all those that could understand, in the first day of the seventh month.

3 And he read it plainly in the street that was before the water-gate, from the morning until mid-day, before the men, and the women, and all those that could understand: and the ears of all the people were attentive to the book.

4 And Esdras, the scribe, stood upon a step of wood, which he had made to speak upon: and there stood by him, Mathathias, and Semeia, and Ania, and Uria, and Helcia, and Maasia, on his right hand: and on the left, Phadain, Misael, and Melchiah, and Hasum, and Hasbana, Zacharia, and Mosollam.

5 And Esdras opened the book before all the people: for he was above all the people: and when he had opened it, all the people stood.

6 And Esdras blessed the Lord, the great God; and all the people answered: Amen, amen: lifting up their hands: and they bowed down, and adored God with their faces to the ground.

7 Now Josue, and Bani, and Serebia, Jamin, Accev, Septhai, Oda, Maasia, Celita, Azarias, Jozabeed, Hanan, Phalaina, the Levites, made silence among the people to hear the law: and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the book of the law of God distinctly and plainly to be understood: and they understood when it was read.

VER. 63. Athersatha: Nehemia, (C) as he is called in Chaldee. 1 Esd. II. 63. M. V. 70. Athersatha; that is, Nehemia, as appears from chap. viii. 9. Either that he was so called at the court of the king of Persia, where he was exalted, or that, as some think, this name signifies governor: and he was at that time governor of Judah. C. Rom. Sept. insinuates that the princes gave these things to Nehemia. C. Alex. Sept. They gave for the work, unto Athersatha. C. Prot. The Thrasatha gave. T. Thea means, he fed, and sotia, he caused to drink. T.
And Nehemiah (he is Athersoth) and Esdras, the priest and scribe, and the Levites, who interpreted to all the people, said: This is a holy day to the Lord, our God; do not mourn, nor weep: for all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law.

And he said to them: Go, eat fat meats, and drink sweet wine, and send portions to them that have not prepared for themselves: because it is the holy day of the Lord, and be not sad: for the joy of the Lord is our strength.

And the Levites stilled all the people, saying: Hold your peace, for the day is holy, and be not sorrowful.

So all the people went to eat and drink, and to send portions, and to make great mirth: because they understood the words that he had taught them.

And on the second day the chiefs of the families of all the people, the priests, and the Levites, were gathered together to Esdras, the scribe, that he should interpret to them the words of the law.

And they found written in the law, that the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in tabernacles, on the feast, in the seventh month:

And that they should proclaim and publish the word in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying: Go forth to the mount, and fetch branches of olive, and branches of beautiful wood, branches of myrtle, and branches of palm, and branches of thick trees, to make tabernacles, as it is written.

And the people went forth, and brought. And they made themselves tabernacles every man on the top of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street of the water-gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

And all the assembly of them that were returned from the captivity, made tabernacles, and dwelt in tabernacles: for since the days of Josue, the son of Nun, the children of Israel had not done so, until that day: and there was exceeding great joy.

And he read in the book of the law of God, day by day, from the first day till the last, and they kept the solemnity seven days, and in the eighth day a solemn assembly according to the manner.

The people repeat with fasting and sack-cloth. The Levites confess God’s benefits, and the people’s ingratitude: they pray for them, and make a covenant with God.

And in the four and twentieth day of the month, the children of Israel came together with fasting, and with sack-cloth, and earth upon them.

And the seed of the children of Israel separated themselves from every stranger: and they stood, and confessed their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers.

And they rose up to stand: and they read in the book of the law of the Lord, their God, four times in the day, and four times they confessed, and adored the Lord their God.

And there stood upon the step of the Levites, Josue, and Bani, and Cedmihel, Sabatia, Bonni, Sarebins, Bani, and Chanani: and they cried with a loud voice to the Lord, their God.

And the Levites, Josue and Cedmihel, Bonni, Hasebihia, Serebin, Odaia, Sebinia, and Phanabia, said: Arise, bless the Lord, your God, from eternity to eternity.

And blessed be the name of thy glory, with all blessing and praise.

Thou, thyself, O Lord, alone, thou hast made heaven, and the heaven of heavens, and all the host thereof: the earth, and all things that are in it: the seas, and all that are therein: and thou givest life to all these things, and the host of heaven adores thee.

Thou, O Lord God, art he who chosest Abram, and broughtest him forth out of the fire of the Chaldeans, and gavest him the name of Abraham.

And the conversion of the respective peoples, whether Greek, Latin, &c., while she takes care to explain to the people what is necessary, in their own language. Any change might be attended with more serious inconveniences than benefit. Our saviour never blamed this practice, which subsisted among the Jews in his time, so more than that which obliged the people to keep without, while the priest officiated, &c. Luke i. 10. 14.

Ver. 9. Interpreted. A. Jerom renders the same term, made silence, (ver. 14.) as it was the office of the Levites to keep the people in awe. Ver. 11. C. - trad. taught. They had also (H.) to instruct. 1 Esai. viii. 10. M. - Wep. The Jews had only one feast for mourning, the day of expiation. On all the rest, a holy day was commanded. For the same reason, the Church does not fast on such days. C.

Ver. 10. Wine. Heb. and Sept. "things." Syr. and Arab. have simply, "drinks." - Parthenos. The Greeks styled them, parthenoi; and the Latins, parasceutas. The custom prevailed not only among the Jews, (Esai. ix. 19.) but also among Christians and pagans. Moses frequently exhorts the people to invite the poor. (Deut. xvi. 14.) and S. Paul exhorts the rich Christians, giving no part of their feast to them. 1 Cor. xiv. 21.

Ver. 15. And that. This is not expressed in the law, though it was probably practised. C. - Some translate, "And they proclaimed," &c. Vatab. - Beautifully. LXX. "Hb. of oys. mod." - Sept. "cypress." Syr. "nat-tree." Others understand the pine, (Punnum) balm, (Marana) citron, (H.) or any other species of branches, which might then be used. C. T.

Chap. X. Ver. 1. Month: Tissa, the day after they had sent away those among them (C.) who were beyond the boundary now covered them with confusion. H. - They were moved to compunction, by the hearing of the law read by Esdras. M.

Ver. 2. Strangers; idolatrous women. H. - True repentance requires the works of mortification, and particularly the removal of all occasions of sin and disorderly pleasures. W. - The reformation had been commenced under Esdras, but some had relapsed. 1 Esai. x. 5. C. - The true-born Israelites would have no society with the sons of idolaters. T. - Fathers, that they might not be punished for them. Exod. xx. 26.

Ver. 3. Stand, to hear the law, out of reverence (M.); or the Levites ascended the pulpit to read, four times in the day. T. - After each lecture, psalms were sung, (C.) to praise God, and to declare the sins of the people, and their sincere repentance. H. - On days of mourning, the Jews assembled four times to pray, and thrice on other days, by the institution of Esdras. Maimonides. See Acts iii. 1. - On their lists, they refrained from all meat, as well as from work, spending their time in prayer. They began at the first hour, and continued their exercises of devotion till the third, when they recommenced for other three hours. They did the like at the sixth and ninth hours; hearing the law, then prostrating themselves to confess their sins. Afterwards they rose to join with the Levites in praising the Lord. C.

Ver. 4. Step, erected by Esdras. Chap. viii. 4. - Josue, &c. These Levites are mentioned again, (ver. 5.) with some variation. Bani is called Bonni; Sebinia, Sabatia; H. - Perhaps some of them might be different, as there seems to be no reason for thus changing their names so soon. There are eight persons in both places. H.

Ver. 5. To eternity. Existing. S. A. - Bless him continually. M. - Let one generation after another praise his holy name. H.

Ver. 6. Of heavens. The highest (C.) and most glorious (H.) residence of the Eternal. - Host. Stars (C) and angels (M.) which are like his guards, - Life, or being.

Ver. 7. The fire of the Chaldeans. The city of Ur, in Chaldea, the name of which signifies fire. Or out of the fire of the tribulations and temptations, which he was there exposed. The ancient Babylonians understood this literally, affirming that Abraham was cast into the fire by the idolaters, and brought out by a miracle without any hurt. Ch. - S. Jerom treats Ur of the Chaldeans, in all other places. Am. - Sept. "the country of," &c. C.
8 And thou didst find his heart faithful before thee: and thou madest a covenant with him, to give him the land of the Chanaanite, of the Hethite, and of the Amorrite, of the Pherezite, and of the Jebusite, and of the Gergesite, to give it to his seed: and thou hast fulfilled thy words, because thou art just.

9 And thou hast saved the affliction of our fathers in Egypt: and thou didst hear their cry by the Red Sea.

10 And thou showedst signs and wonders upon Pharaoh, and upon all his servants, and upon the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: and thou madest thyself a name, as it is at this day.

11 And thou didst divide the sea before them, and they passed through the midst of the sea on dry land: but their persecutors thou castest into the depth, as a stone into mighty waters.

12 And in a pillar of a cloud thou wast their leader by day, and in a pillar of fire by night, that they might see the way by which they went.

13 Thou camest down also, to Mount Sinai, and didst speak with them from heaven, and gavest them right judgments, and the law of truth, ceremonies, and good precepts.

14 Thou madest known to them thy holy sabbath, and didst prescribe to them commandments, and ceremonies, and the law, by the hand of Moses, thy servant.

15 And thou gavest them bread from heaven in their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rock in their thirst, and thou saidst to them that they should go in, and possess the land, upon which thou hast lifted up thy hand to give it them.

16 But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks, and hearkened not to thy commandments.

17 And they would not hear, and they remembered not thy wonders which thou hadst done for them. And they hardened their necks, and gave the head to return to their bondage, as it were by contentions. But thou, a forgiving God, gracious, and merciful, long-suffering, and full of compassion, didst not forsake them.

18 Yea, when they had made also to themselves a molten calf, and had said: This is thy God, that brought thee out of Egypt: and had committed great blasphemies:

19 Yet thou, in thy many mercies, didst not leave them in the desert: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day, to lead them in the way, and the pillar of fire by night, to show them the way by which they should go.

20 And thou gavest them thy good Spirit to teach them, and thy manna thou gavest not withhold from their mouth, and thou gavest them water for their thirst.

21 Forty years didst thou feed them in the desert, and nothing was wanting to them: their garments did not grow old, and their feet were not worn.

22 And thou gavest them kingdoms, and nations, and didst divide lots for them: and they possessed the land of Sehon, and the land of the king of Hesebon, and the land of Og, king of Basan.

23 And thou didst multiply their children, as the stars of heaven, and broughtest them to the land concerning which thou hadst said to their fathers, that they should go in and possess it.

24 And the children came and possessed the land, and thou didst humble before them the inhabitants of the land, the Chanaanites, and gavest them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, that they might do with them as it pleased them.

25 And they took strong cities and a fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods: cisterns made by others, vineyards, and oliveyards, and fruit-trees, in abundance: and they ate, and were filled, and became fat, and abounded with delight in thy great goodness.

26 But they provoked thee to wrath, and departed from thee, and threw thy law behind their backs: and they killed thy prophets, who admonished them earnestly to return to thee: and they were guilty of great blasphemies.

27 And thou gavest them into the hands of their enemis, and they afflicted them. And, in the time of their tribulation, they cried to thee, and thou hearest from heaven, and according to the multitude of thy tender mercies thou gavest them saviours, to save them from the hands of their enemies.

28 But after they had rest, they returned to do evil in thy sight: and thou leftest them in the hand of their enemies, and they had dominion over them. Then they returned, and cried to thee: and thou hearest from heaven, and deliveredst them many times in thy mercies.

29 And thou didst admonish them to return to thy law. But they dealt proudly, and hearkened not to thy commandments, but sinned against thy judgments, which if a man do, he shall live in them: and they withdrew the shoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear.

30 And thou didst forbear with them for many years, and didst testify against them by thy spirit, by the hand of thy prophets: and they heard not, and thou didst deliver them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet in thy very many mercies thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them: because thou art a merciful and gracious God.

32 Now, therefore, our God, great, strong, and terrible, who keepest covenant and mercy, turn not away from thy face all the labour which hath come upon us, upon our kings, and our princes, and our priests, and our prophets, and our fathers, and all the people from the days of the king of Assur, until this day.

33 And thou art just in all things that have come upon us: because thou hast done truth, but we have done wickedly.

34 Our kings, our princes, our priests, and our fathers, have not kept thy law, and have not minded thy commandments, and thy testimonies, which thou hast testified among them.

35 And they have not served thee in their kingdoms, and in thy manifold goodness, which thou gavest them, and in the large and fat land, which thou deliveredst before them, nor did they return from their most wicked devices.

36 Behold we, ourselves, this day are bondmen: and the land, which thou gavest our fathers, to eat the bread thereof, and the good things thereof, and we, ourselves, are servants in it.

37 And the fruits thereof grow up for the kings, whom thou hast set over us for our sins, and they have dominion over our bodies, and over our beasts, according to their will, and we are in great tribulation.

38 And because of all this we, ourselves, make a covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Levites, and our priests, sign it.

28 And the rest of the people, priests, Levites, porters, and singing-men, Nathinantes, and all that had separated themselves from the people of the lands to the law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters.

29 All that could understand, promising for their brethren, with their chief men; and they came to promise, and swear that they would walk in the law of God, which he gave in the hand of Moses, the servant of God, that they would do and keep all the commandments of the Lord, our God, and his judgments, and his ceremonies.

30 And that we would not give our daughters to the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons.

31 And if the people of the land bring in things to sell, or any things for use, to sell them on the sabbath-day that we would not buy them of them on the sabbath, or on the holy day. And that we would leave the seventh year, and the exaction of every hand.

32 And we made ordinances for ourselves, to give the third part of a sicle every year for the work of the house of our God.

33 For the loaves of proposition, and for the continual sacrifice, and for a continual holocaust on the sabbaths, on the new moons, on the set feasts, and for the holy things, and for the sin-offering: that atonement might be made for Israel, and for every use of the house of our God.

34 And we cast lots among the priests, and the Levites, and the people, for the offering of wood, that it might be brought into the house of our God, by the houses of our fathers, at set times, from year to year: to burn upon the altar of the Lord, our God, as it is written in the law of Moses:

35 And that we would bring the first-fruits of our land, and the first fruits of all fruit of every tree, from year to year, into the house of our Lord.

36 And the first-born of our sons, and of our cattle, as it is written in the law, and the firstlings of our oxen, and of our sheep, to be offered in the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God.

37 And that we would bring the first-fruits of our meats, and of our libations, and of the fruit of every tree, of the vintage also, and of oil to the priests, to the store-house of our God, and the tithes of our ground to the Levites. The Levites also, shall receive the tithes of our works out of all the cities.

38 And the priest, the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites in the tithes of the Levites, and the Levites shall offer the tithes of their tithes, in the house of our God, to the store-room, into the treasure-house.

39 For the children of Israel, and the children of Levi, shall carry to the treasury the first-fruits of corn, of wine, and of oil: and the sanctified vessels shall be there, and the priests, and the singing-men, and the porters, and the ministers, and we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XI.

Who were the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the other cities.

AND the princes of the people dwelt at Jerusalem: but the rest of the people cast lots, to take one part in ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine parts in the other cities.

2 And the people blessed all the men that willingly offered themselves to dwell in Jerusalem.

3 These, therefore, are the chief men of the province, who dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah. And every one dwelt in his possession, in their cities: Israel, the priests, the Levites, the Nathinites, and the children of the servants of Solomon.

4 And in Jerusalem there dwelt some of the children of Juda, and some of the children of Benjamin: of the children of Juda, Ataiah, the son of Aziam, the son of Zacharias, the son of Amarias, the son of Saphathias, the son of Malaleel: of the sons of Phares,

5 Maasia, the son of Baruch, the son of Cholhoza, the son of Hazia, the son of Adia, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zacharias, the son of the Silonite:

6 All these, the sons of Phares, who dwelt in Jerusalem, were four hundred sixty-eight valiant men.

7 And these are the children of Benjamin: Sellum, the son of Mosollam, the son of Joed, the son of Phahia, the son of Colia, the son of Masia, the son of Ethael, the son of Issia.

8 And after him, Gebbai, Sellai, nine hundred twenty-eight.

9 And Joel, the son of Zechri, their ruler, and Judas the son of Sennua, was second over the city.

10 And of the priests, Idia, the son of Joarib, Jabchin,

11 Saraia, the son of Helcias, the son of Mosollam, the son of Sadoc, the son of Merioth, the son of Achitob, the prince of the house of God,

12 And their brethren that do the works of the temple: eight hundred twenty-two. And Adaia, the son of Jeraham, the son of Cholelia, the son of Anni, the son of Zacharias, the son of Phersur, the son of Melchias.

13 And his brethren, the chiefs of the fathers: two hundred forty-two. And Amassai, the son of Azreel, the son of Ahazi, the son of Mossolom, the son of Emmer.

14 And their brethren, who were very mighty, a hundred twenty-eight: and their ruler, Zabdiel, son of the mighty.

15 And of the Levites, Semeia, the son of Hasub, the son of Azaricam, the son of Hasabia, the son of Bonni,

16 And Sabatthai, and Jozabei, who were over all the outward business of the house of God, of the princes of the Levites.

17 And Mathania, the son of Micha, the son of Zebedei, the son of Asaph, was the principal man to praise, and to give glory in prayer, and Beebeeia, the second, one of his brethren, and Abda, the son of Samua, the son of Galal, the son of Idithun.

18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred eighty-four.

19 And the porters, Accub, Telmon, and their brethren, who kept the doors: a hundred seventy-two.

20 And the rest of Israel, the priests, and the Levites were in all the cities of Juda, every man in his possession.

21 And the Nathinites, that dwelt in Ophel, and Siaha, and Gaspha, of the Nathinites.

22 And the overseer of the Levites, in Jerusalem, was Azzi, the son of Bani, the son of Hasabia, the son of Mathania, the son of Micha. Of the sons of Asaph, were the singing-men in the ministry of the house of God.

23 For the king’s commandment was concerning them, and an order among the singing-men, day by day.

24 And Phathalia, the son of Meszebel, of the children of Zara, the son of Juda, was at the head of the king, in all matters concerning the people.

25 And in the houses through all their countries. Of the children of Juda, some dwelt at Cariatharba, and in the villages thereof: and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof: and at Caleb, and in the villages thereof:
26 And at Jesue, and at Molada, and at Bethphaleth,
27 And at Hazeren, and at Bersabee, and in the villages thereof,
28 And at Siceleg, and at Mochonah, and in the villages thereof,
29 And at Remmon, and at Sarea, and at Jerimoth,
30 Zanoa, Odollam, and in their villages, at Lachis, and its dependencies, and at Azeca, and the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Bersabee unto the valley of Ennom.
31 And the children of Benjamin, from Geba, at Michmas, and at Hai, and at Bethel, and in the villages thereof,
32 At Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,
33 Asor, Ramah, Gethaim,
34 Hadid, Seboim, and Neballat, Lod,
35 And Ono, the valley of craftsmen.
36 And of the Levites, were portions of Juda and Benjamin.

CHAP. XII.

The priests, and Levites, that came up from Zorobabel, the succession of high priests: the solemnity of the dedication of the wall.

NOW these are the priests, and the Levites, that went up with Zorobabel, the son of Salathiel, and Josue:

Saraia, Jeremias, Esdras,
2 Amaria, Melech, Hattus,
3 Sebenias, Rehum, Merimoth,
4 Addo, Genthon, Abia,
5 Miamin, Medaia, Belga,
6 Semeia, and Joiarib, Idia, Sellum, Amoc, Hocias,
7 Idia. These were the chief of the priests, and of their brethren, in the days of Josue.
8 And the Levites, Jesua, Beneui, Cedemiel, Sarebia, Juda, Mathanias, they and their brethren were over the hymns:
9 And Beecbeia, and Hanni, and their brethren, every one in his office.
10 And Josue begot Joacin, and Joacin begot Eliasib, and Eliasib begot Joiada, 11 And Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jozadde.
12 And in the days of Josue, the priests and heads of the families were: Of Saraia, Marania: of Joanania: Of Esdras, Mosollam: and of Amaria, Johanan.
13 Of Milccho, Jonathan: of Sebenia, Joseph.
15 Of Adai, Zacharia: of Gention, Mosollam.
16 Of Abia, Zechri: of Miamin and Moaia, Phelti.
18 Of Joiarib, Mathanai: of Jodaia, Azzi.
19 Of Sellai, Celai: of Amoc, Heber.
20 Of Helcia, Haseba: of Idaia, Nathanael.
21 The Levites, the chief of the families, in the days of Eliasib, and Joiada, and Johanan, and Jozadde, were recorded, and the priests, in the reign of Darius, the Persian.

22 The sons of Levi, heads of the families, were written in the book of Chronicles, even unto the days of Jonathan, the son of Eliasib.
23 Now the chief of the Levites were Haseba, Serebia, and Josue, the son of Cemdiel: and their brethren, by their courses, to praise, and to give thanks, according to the commandment of David, the man of God, and to wait equally in order.
24 Mathaniah, and Boco, Obadia, and Mosollam, Telmon, Accub, were keepers of the gates, and of the enforcements before the gates.
25 These were in the days of Josue, the son of Josue, the son of Josec, and in the days of Nehemias, the governor, and of Esdras, the priest and scribe.
26 And at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem, and to keep the dedication, and to rejoice with thanksgiving, and with singing, and with cymbals, and psaltries, and harps.
27 The sons of the singing-men were gathered together out of the plain country about Jerusalem, and out of the villages of Netophat,
28 And from the house of Galgal, and from the countries of Geba, and Azmaveth: for the singing-men had built themselves villages round about Jerusalem.
29 And the priests, and the Levites, were purified, and they purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.
30 And I made the princes of Juda go up upon the wall, and I appointed two great choirs to give praise.

VER. 29. Choirs. This is not expressed in Heb. and Sept., but must be understood. Protes. great companies of them that gave thanks. Whereof one went. H. —The princes led the way, then the priests sounded the trumpets (Num. x. 8); the Levites sang, and were followed by the people. All were divided into two equal parts, and went round half the city. C.

33 And Azarias, Esdras, and Mosollam, Judas, and Benjamin, and Semeia, and Jeremias.

34 And of the sons of the priests with trumpets, Zacharias, the son of Jonathan, the son of Semeia, the son of Mathaniah, the son of Michaia, the son of Zechar, the son of Asaph, 35 And his brethren, Semeia, and Azareel, Malalai, Galalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Judas, and Hanuni, with the musical instruments of David, the man of God: and Esdras, the scribe, before them at the fountain-gate.

36 And they went up over against them by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall of the house of David, and to the water-gate eastward:

37 And the second choir of them that gave thanks went on the opposite side, and I after them, and half of the people upon the wall, and upon the tower of the furnaces, even to the broad wall,

38 And above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fish-gate, and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Emath, and even to the flocks-gate: and they stood still in the watch-gate.

39 And the two choirs of them that gave praise, stood still at the house of God, and I, and half of the magistrates with me.

40 And the priests, Eliachim, Maasia, Miamin, Michea, Elioenai, Zacharia, Hanania, with trumpets,

41 And Maasia, and Semeia, and Eleazar, and Azzi, and Johanan, and Melchia, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sung loud, and Jezraia was their overseer:

42 And they sacrificed, on that day, great sacrifices, and they rejoiced: for God had made them joyful with great joy: their wives, also, and their children rejoiced, and the joy of Jerusalem was heard afar off.

43 They appointed also, in that day, men over the storehouses of the treasure, for the libations, and for the first-fruits, and for the tithes, that the rulers of the city might bring them in by them in honour of thanksgiving, for the priests and Levites: for Juda was joyful in the priests and Levites that assisted.

And they kept the watch of their God, and the observance of expiation, and the singing-men, and the porters, according to the commandment of David, and of Solomon, his son.

45 For in the days of David and Asaph, from the beginning, there were chief singers appointed, to praise with canticles, and give thanks to God.

46 And all Israel, in the days of Zorobabel, and in the days of Nehemia, gave portions to the singing-men, and to the porters, day by day, and they sanctified the Levites, and the Levites sanctified the sons of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

Divors abuses are reformed.

And on that day they read in the book of the law, in the hearing of the people: and therein was found written, that the Ammonites and the Moabites should not come into the church of God for ever:

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and water: and they hired them against them Balan, to curse them: and our God turned their curse into blessing.

3 And it came to pass, when they heard the law, that they separated every stranger from Israel.

4 And over this thing was Elisib, the priest, who was set over the treasury of the house of our God, and was near skin to Tobias.

5 And he made him a great store-room, where before him they laid up gifts, and frankincense, and vessels, and the tithes of the corn, of the wine, and of the oil, the portions of the Levites, and of the singing-men, and of the porters, and the first-fruits of the priests.

6 But in all this time I was not in Jerusalem, because in the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes, king of Babylon, I went to the king, and after certain days I asked the king:

7 And I came to Jerusalem, and I understood the evil that Elisib had done for Tobias, to make him a storehouse in the courts of the house of God.

8 And it seemed to me exceedingly evil. And I cast forth the vessels of the house of Tobias out of the storehouse.

9 And I commanded, and they cleansed the storehouses: and I brought thither again the vessels of the house of God, the sacrifice, and the frankincense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: and that the Levites, and the singing-men, and they that ministered, were fled away, every man to his own country.

11 And I pleaded the matter against the magistrates, and said: Why have we forsaken the house of God? And I gathered them together, and I made them to stand in their places.

12 And all Judah brought the tithe of the corn, and the wine, and the oil, into the storehouses.

13 And we set over the storehouses Selemias, the priest, and Sadoc, the scribe, and of the Levites, Phadua, and next to them Haman, the son of Zachur, the son of Mathania: for they were approved as faithful, and to them were committed the portions of their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, for this thing, and wipe not out my kindnesses, which I have done relating to the house of my God, and his ceremonies.

15 In those days I saw in Judah some treading the presses on the sabbath, and carrying sheaves, and lading asses with wine, and grapes, and figs, and all manner of burdens, and bringing them into Jerusalem on the sabbath-day. And I charged them that they should sell on a day on which it was lawful to sell.

16 Some Tyrians also dwelt there, who brought fish, and all manner of wares: and they sold them on the sabbaths to the children of Judah in Jerusalem.

17 And I rebuked the chief men of Judah, and said to them: What is this evil thing that you are doing, profaning the sabbath-day?

18 Did not our fathers do these things, and our God brought all this evil upon us, and upon this city? And you bring more wrath upon Israel by violating the sabbath.

19 And it came to pass, that when the gates of Jerusalem were at rest on the sabbath-day, I spoke: and they shut the gates, and I commanded that they should not open them till after the sabbath: and I set some of my servants at the gates, that none should bring in burdens on the sabbath-day.

20 So the merchants, and they that sold all kind of wares, stayed without Jerusalem once or twice.

21 And I charged them, and I said: Why stay you before the wall? if you do so and war will lay hands on you. And from that time there was no more on the sabbath.

22 I spoke also to the Levites, that they should purify, and should come to keep the gates, and to sanctify the sabbath-day: for this, also, remember me, O my God, and spare me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

23 In those days, also, I saw Jews that married wives, women of Azotus, and of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spoke half in the speech of Azotus, and could not speak the Jews language, but they spoke according to the language of this and the people.

25 And I chid them, and laid my curse upon them. And I beat some of them, and shaved off their hair, and made them swear by God that they would not give their daughters to their sons, nor take their daughters for their sons, nor for themselves, saying:

26 'Did not Solomon, king of Israel, sin in this kind of thing? and surely among many nations, there was not a king like him, and he was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Israel'; and yet women of other countries brought even him to sin.

27 And shall we also be disobedient, and do all this great evil, to transgress against our God, and marry strange women?

28 And one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliasia, the high priest, was son-in-law to Sanballat, the Horonite, and I drove him from me.

29 Remember them, O Lord my God, that defile the priesthood, and the law of priests and Levites.

30 So I separated from them all strangers, and I appointed the courses of the priests and the Levites, every man in his ministry:

31 And for the offering of wood at times appointed, and for the first-fruits: remember me, O my God, unto good. Amen.

The Third and Fourth Books of Esdras, and the Prayer of Manasses, (W.) are found in many Latin Bibles, (H.) and translated in that of Douay, (W.) as works of dubious authority. CHAPTER I.

Tobias's early piety: his works of mercy, particularly in burying the dead.

Tobias, of the tribe and city of Nephtali, (which is in the upper parts of Galilee, above Nanaon, beyond the way that leadeth to the west, having on the right hand the city of Seper.)

2 When he was made captive in the days of Salmasar, king of the Assyrians, even in his captivity, forsook not the way of truth.

3 But every day gave all he could get to his brethren, his fellow-captives, that were of his kindred. W.

4 And when he was younger than any of the tribe of Nephtali, yet did he no childish thing in his work.

5 Moreover, when all went to the golden calves, which...

21 And when king Sennacherib was fleeing from Judæa, by reason of the slaughter that had made about him for his blasphemy, and being slew many of the children of Israel, Tobias buried the bodies.

22 But when it was told the king, he commanded him to be slain, and took away all his substance.

23 But Tobias fleeing naked away with his son, and with his wife, lay concealed; for many loved him.

24 But after forty-five days, the king was killed by his own sons.

25 And Tobias returned to his house, and all his substance was restored to him.

CHAP. II.

Tobias leaveth his dinner to bury the dead: he longeth his sight by God’s permission, for manifestation of his patience.

But after this, when there was a festival of the Lord, and a good dinner was prepared in Tobias’s house,

2 He said to his son: Go, and bring some of our tribe, that fear God, to feast with us.

3 And when he had gone, returning, he told him, that one of the children of Israel lay slain in the street. And he forthwith leaped up from his place at the table, and left his dinner, and came fasting to the body:

4 And taking it up, carried it privately to his house, that after the sun was down, he might bury him cautiously.

5 And when he had hid the body, he eat bread with mourning and fear,

6 Remembering the word which the Lord spoke by Amos, the prophet: Your festival days shall be turned into lamentation and mourning.

7 So when the sun was down, he went and buried him.

8 Now all his neighbours blamed him, saying; Once already commandment was given for thee to be slain because of this matter, and thou didst not escape the sentence of death, and dost thou again bury the dead?

9 But Tobias fearing God more than the king, carried off the bodies of them that lay in his house, and at midnight buried them.

10 Now it happened one day, that being wearied with

And as he was sleeping, a dunghill was cast upon his eyes, and he was made blind.

12 Now this trial the Lord, therefore, permitted to happen to him, that an example might be given to posterity of his patience, as also of holy Job.

13 For, whereas, he had always feared God from his infancy, and kept his commandments; he repined not against God, because the evil of blindness had befallen him, 14 But continued inmoveable in the fear of God, giving thanks to God all the days of his life.

15 For as the kings insulted over holy Job, so his relations and kinsmen mocked at his life, saying:

16 Where is thy hope, for which thou gavest alms, and buriedest the dead?

17 But Tobias rebuked them, saying, Speak not so:

18 For we are the children of saints, and look for that life which God will give to those that never change their faith from him.

19 Now Anna, his wife, went daily to weaving work, and she brought home what she could get for their living by the labour of her hands.

20 Whereby it came to pass, that she received a young kid, and brought it home:

21 And when her husband heard it bleating, he said: "Take heed, lest perhaps it be stolen, restore ye it to its owners: for it is not lawful for us either to eat or to touch any thing that cometh by theft.

22 At these words, his wife being angry, answered: It is evident thy hope is come to nothing, and thy alms now appear.

23 And with these, and other such like words, she upbraided him.

CHAP. III.

The prayer of Tobias, and of Sara, in their several afflictions, are heard by God, and the angel Raphael is sent to relieve them.

THEN Tobias sighed, and began to pray with tears,

2 Saying: Thou art just, O Lord, and all thy judgments are just, and all thy ways are mercy, and truth, and judgment:

3 And now, O Lord, think of me, and take not revenge of my sins, neither remember my offences, nor those of my parents.

4 For we have not obeyed thy commandments, therefore are we delivered to spoil and to captivity, and death and are made a fable, and a reproach to all nations amongst which thou hast scattered us.

5 And now, O Lord, great are thy judgments, because we have not done according to thy precepts, and have not walked sincerely before thee:

6 And now, O Lord, do with me according to thy will, and command my spirit to be received in peace: for it is better for me to die, than to live.

7 Now it happened on the same day, that Sara, daughter of Raguel, in Ragas, a city of the Medes, received a reproach from one of her father's servant-maids.

8 Because she had been given to seven husbands, and a devil named Asmodeus had killed them, at their first going in unto her.

9 So when she reproved the maid for her fault, she answered her, saying: May we never see son, or daughter of thee upon the earth, thou murderer of thy husbands.

10 Wilt thou kill me also, as thou hast already killed seven husbands? At these words she went into an upper chamber of her house: and for three days and three nights did neither eat, nor drink:

11 But continuing in prayer, with tears besought God, that he would deliver her from this reproach.

12 And it came to pass on the third day, when she was making an end of her prayer, blessing the Lord,

13 She said: Blessed is thy name, O God of our fathers: who when thou hast been angry, wilt show mercy, and in the time of tribulation forgivest the sins of them that call upon thee.

14 To thee, O Lord, I turn my face, to thee I direct my eyes.

15 I beg, O Lord, that thou loose me from the bond of this reproach, or else take me away from the earth.

CHAP. V.

Then Tobias answered his father, and said: I will do all things, father, which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how shall I get this money, I cannot tell: he knoweth not me, and I know not him: what token shall I give him? nor did I ever know the way which leadeth thither.

3 Then his father answered him, and said: I have a note of his band with me, when thou shalt show him, he will presently pay it.

4 But go now, and seek thee out some faithful man, to go with thee for his hire: that thou mayst receive it, while I yet live.

5 Then Tobias going forth, found a beautiful young man, standing girded, and as it were ready to walk.

6 And not knowing that he was an angel of God, he saluted him, and said: From whence art thou, good young man?

7 But he answered: Of the children of Israel. And Tobias said to him: Knowest thou the way that leadeth to the country of the Medes?

8 And he answered: I know it; and I have often walked through all the ways thereof, and I have abode with Gabelus, our brother, who dwelleth at Rages, a city of the Medes, which is situate in the mount of Ecbatana.

9 And Tobias said to him: Stay for me, I beseech thee, till I tell these same things to my father.

10 Then Tobias going in, told all these things to his father. Upon which his father being in admiration, desired that he should come in unto him.

11 So going in, he saluted him, and said: Joy be to thee always.

12 And Tobias said: What manner of joy shall be to me, who sit in darkness, and see not the light of heaven?

13 And the young man said to him: Be of good courage, thy cure from God is at hand.

14 And Tobias said to him: Canst thou conduct my son to Gabelus, at Rages, a city of the Medes? and when thou shalt return, I will pay thee thy hire.

15 And the angel said to him: I will conduct him thither, and bring him back to thee.

V. 10. This family, Gr., Syn., etc., add, "Thou art my brother, of a noble and good race. For I know Ananias and Jonathan, sons of the great Sennel, as we went together to Jerusalem to adore, carrying the firstborn, and tithe of the produce, and they did not join in the errors of their brethren. Thou art of a great stock, brother. Will tell me what reward I shall give thee? A drachm a day, and what may be requisite for thee and for my son. And I will give more than the hire if you return in health. And they agreed; and he said to Tobias, Be in readiness for the journey, and may you be directed: and his son prepared the requisites for the journey," etc. H.

CHAP. VI.

16 And Tobias said to him: I pray thee, tell me, of what family, or what tribe art thou?

17 And Raphael, the angel, answered: Dost thou seek the family of him thou hirest, or the hired servant himself to go with thy son?

18 But lest I should make thee uneasy, I am Azarias, the son of the great Ananias.

19 And Tobias answered: Thou art of a great family. But I pray thee be not angry that I desired to know thy family.

20 And the angel said to him: I will lead thy son safe and bring him to thee again safe.

21 And Tobias answering, said: May you have a good journey, and God be with you in your way, and his angel accompany you.

22 Then all things being ready, that were to be carried in their journey, Tobias bid his father and his mother farewell, and they set out both together.

23 And when they were departed, his mother began to weep, and to say: Thou hast taken the staff of old age, and sent him away from us.

24 I wish the money for which thou hast sent him, had never been.

25 For our poverty was sufficient for us, that we might account it as riches, that we saw our son.

26 And Tobias said to her: Weep not, our son will arrive thither safe, and will return safe to us, and thy eyes shall see him.

27 For I believe that the good angel of God doth accompany him, and doth order all things well that are done and done, so that he shall return to us with joy.

28 At these words his mother ceased weeping, and held her peace.

AND Tobias went forward, and the dog followed him, and he lodged the first night by the river of Tigris.

And he went out to wash his feet, and beheld a monstrous fish came up to devour him.

And Tobias being afraid of him, cried out with a loud voice, saying: Sir, he cometh upon me.

Herodotus (7. 92) mentions several in the kingdom of Persia.

Ver. 2. Bathe. Gr. "to bathe." — Fish. The learned are of opinion that this was the fish which Pliny calls calliphonius, (I. xxxi. ch. 7.) the gall of which is of sovereign virtue to remove white spots that grow over the eyes. C.—Other fishes have the like virtue; and as the aforisaid has no scales, and is not above a foot long, it could not be lawfully eaten by the Israelites, nor could it suffice for an days' provision. Ver. 6. Lev. xl. 10. Others, therefore, prefer (C.) the sea-catfish, (Bledis,) the hippopotamus, (Crotalus) the crocodile, (Cortina-) whale, (Theocles,) sturgeon, or sturtus, (Bochart, Anim. iv. 18.) But these are great difficulties with respect to all these; and Frnn. George adopts the sentiment of the Rabbinists in favour of thepike, which seems the least objectionable, as it has scales.
And the angel said to him: Take him by the gill, and draw him to thee. And when he had done so, he drew him out upon the land, and he began to pant before his feet.

5 Then the angel said to him: Take out the entrails of this fish, and lay up his heart, and his gall, and his liver, for these are necessary for useful medicines.

6 And when he had done so, he roasted the flesh thereof, and they took it with them in the way: the rest they salted, as much as might serve them, till they came to Rages, the city of the Medes.

7 Then Tobias asked the angel, and said to him: I beseech thee, brother Azarias, tell me what remedies are these things good for, which thou hast bid me keep of the fish?

8 And the angel answering, said to him: If thou put a little piece of its heart upon coals, the smoke thereof driveth away all kind of devils, either from man or from woman, so that they come no more to them.

9 And the gall is good for anointing the eyes, in which there is a white speck, and they shall be cured.

10 And Tobias said to him: Where wilt thou that we lodge?

11 And the angel answering, said: Here is one whose name is Raguel, a near kinsman of thy tribe, and he hath a daughter named Sara, but he hath no son nor any other daughter beside her.

12 All his substance is due to thee, and thou must take her to wife.

13 Ask her, therefore, of her father, and he will give her thee to wife.

14 Then Tobias answered, and said: I hear that she hath been given to seven husbands, and they all died: moreover, I have heard, that a devil killed them.

4. Take him. It is, as proper.—Gill. Gr. Sethe the fish. And draw him to thee. Upon the land. It is, as proper.—Gill. Gr. Gese das fisch, und ziehe ihn heran. This is the method of putting off the entrails, as the ancients practised. (C) This method of putting off the entrails, as the ancients practised. The state of the fish when put upon coals will shed the smoke, which will drive away the devils. Distemper—Ser. 2. II. Cloud.—Plaut. Aeg. Gr. and Pagius, (C) sethe, and both went on till they came near to Ecbatana. From Ninus to Raguel was to be ten or twelve days' journey.

5. Tell him. Gr. What is the heart, the liver, and the gall of the fish for? H. God was pleased to give these things a virtue against those proud spirits, to make them, who are affected to be like the Most High, subject to such mean corporeal creatures, as instruments of his power. Gr. Tell us what is the heart, the liver, and the gall of the fish for. (C) This is to be understood of the fish, which is in the state when put upon coals.

11. Raguel. Gr. told him: Doest thou not remember that thy father ordered thee to take a wife of thy kindred? Now he is dead, and he shall be buried with thee. For this night she shall be given in marriage to thee; and if thou enter the nuptial chamber, thou shalt take the ashes of incense, and shall place them some of the heart and liver.'—Ver. 31. Pether. The Christian Church has given similar counsels, in the Capituluses of France, and of Erard, archbishop of Tours, and in many rituals published in the 16th century. CHAPTER VII.

4 But they said: We are of the tribe of Nephtali, of the captivity of Ninive.
5 And Raguel said to them: Do you know Tobias, my brother? And they said: We know him.
6 And when he was speaking many good things of him, the angel said to Raguel: Tobias, concerning whom thou inquir'st, is this young man's father.
7 And Raguel went to him, and kissed him with tears, and weeping upon his neck, said: A blessing be upon thee, my son, because thou art the son of a good and most virtuous man.
8 And Anna, his wife, and Sara, their daughter, wept.
9 And after they had spoken, Raguel commanded a sheep to be killed, and a feast to be prepared. And when he desired them to sit down to dinner,
10 Tobias said: I will not eat nor drink here this day, unless thou first grant me my petition, and promise to give me Sara, thy daughter.
11 Now when Raguel heard this, he was afraid, knowing what had happened to those seven husbands that went in unto her; and he began to fear, lest it might happen to him also in like manner: and as he was in suspense, and gave no answer to his petition,
12 The angel said to him: Be not afraid to give her to this man, for to him who feareth God, is thy daughter due to be his wife: therefore another could not have her.
13 Then Raguel said: I doubt not but God hath regarded my prayers and tears in his sight.
14 And I believe he hath therefore made you come to me, that this maid might be married to one of her own kindred, according to the law of Moses: and now doubt not but I will give her to thee.
15 And taking the right hand of his daughter, he gave it into the right hand of Tobias, saying: The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, be with you, and may he join you together, and fulfill his blessing in you.
16 And taking paper, they made a writing of the marriage.
17 And afterwards they made merry, blessing God.

CHAPTER VIII.

18 And Raguel called to him Anna, his wife, and bid her prepare another chamber.
19 And she brought Sara, her daughter, in, and she wept.
20 And she said to her: Be of good cheer, my daughter: the Lord of heaven give thee joy for the trouble thou hast undergone.

AND after they had supped, they brought in the young man to her.
2 And Tobias, remembering the angel's word, took out of his bag part of the liver, and laid it upon burning coals.
3 Then the angel, Raphael, took the devil, and bound him in the desert of Upper Egypt.
4 Then Tobias exhorted the virgin, and said to her: Sara, arise, and let us pray to God to-day, and to-morrow, and the next day: because for these three nights we are joined to God: and when the third night is over, we will be in our own wedlock.
5 For we are the children of saints, and we must not be joined together like heathens that know not God.
6 So they both arose, and prayed earnestly both together that health might be given them.
7 And Tobias said: Lord God of our fathers, may the heavens and the earth, and the sea, and the fountains, and the rivers, and all thy creatures that are in them, bless thee.
8 Thou madest Adam of the slime of the earth, and gavest him Eve for a helper.
9 And now, Lord, thou knowest, that not for fleshly lust do I take my sister to wife, but only for the love of posterity, in which thy name may be blessed for ever and ever.
10 Sara also said: Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us, and let us grow old both together in health.
11 And it came to pass about the cock crowing, Raguel ordered his servants to be called for, and they went with him together to dig a grave.

V. 14. Moses. It was not so much in force during the captivity, particularly as Raguel had only moveables; and therefore the seven former husbands had not been near relations. M. It was a disgrace to refuse marrying a relation, who was an heiress. Num. xxvi. 6; Ruth iv, 6. C.

V. 20. And she. Gr. adds, "and gave her to him," i.e. to Tobias, and said: Behold, take care of her according to the law of Moses, and go to thy father, and bless them. And he called Edna, his wife, and taking a book, wrote a note, (or contract, C.) and sealed it, and they began to eat. H. It was almost universally the custom to have such writings, particularly where polygamy prevailed. The wives of lower condition were taken without formality. C.

V. 19. Chamber. Different from that where they kept the feast, and perhaps (H) not the same with the nuptial chamber, which had been so unfortunately, in order that Sara might not be so much alarmed. C.

CHAP. IX.

12 For he said: Lest, perhaps, it may have happened to him, in like manner as it did to the other seven husbands that went in unto her.

13 And when they had prepared the pit, Raguel went back to his wife, and said to her:

14 Send one of thy maids, and let her see if he be lead, that I may bury him before it be day.

15 So she sent one of her maid-servants, who went into the chamber, and found them safe and sound, sleeping both together.

16 And returning, she brought the good news: and Raguel, and Anna, his wife, blessed the Lord.

17 And said: We bless thee, O Lord God of Israel, because it hath not happened as we suspected.

18 For thou hast shown thy mercy to us, and hast shut out from us the enemy that persecuted us.

19 And thou hast taken pity upon two only children.

Make them, O Lord, bless thee more fully: and to offer up to thee a sacrifice of thy praise, and of their health, that all nations may know, that thou alone art God in all the earth.

20 And immediately Raguel commanded his servants to fill up the pit they had made, before it was day.

21 And he spoke to his wife to make ready a feast, and prepare all kind of provisions that are necessary for such as go a journey.

22 He caused also two fat kine, and four wethers to be killed, and a banquet to be prepared for all his neighbours, and all his friends.

23 And Raguel adjured Tobias, to abide with him two weeks.

24 And of all things which Raguel possessed, he gave one half to Tobias, and made a writing, that the half that remained, should, after their decease, come also to Tobias.

CHAP. IX.

The angel, Raphael, goeth to Gabelus, receiveth the money, and bringeth him to the marriage.

THEN Tobias called the angel to him, whom he took to be a man, and said to him: Brother Azarias, I pray thee hearken to my words:

2 If I should give myself to be thy servant, I should not make a worthy return for thy care.

3 However, I beseech thee, to take with thee beasts and servants, and go to Gabelus, to Rages, the city of the Medes; and to restore to him note of hand, and receive of him the money, and desire him to come to my wedding.

4 For thou knowest that my father numbereth the days: and if I stay one day more, his soul will be afflicted.

5 And, indeed, thou seest how Raguel hath adjured me, whose adjuring I cannot despise.

6 Then Raphael took four of Raguel's servants, and two camels, and went to Rages, the city of the Medes: and finding Gabelus, gave him his note of hand, and received of him all the money.

7 And he told him concerning Tobias, the son of Tobias, all that had been done: and made him come with him to the wedding.

8 And when he was come into Raguel's house, he found Tobias sitting at the table: and he leaped up, and they kissed each other: and Gabelus wept, and blessed God.

9 And said: The God of Israel bless thee, because thou art the son of a very good and just man, and that feareth God, and doth alms-deeds:

10 And may a blessing come upon thy wife, and upon your parents.

11 And may you see your children, and your children's children, unto the third and fourth generation: and may your seed be blessed by the God of Israel, who reigneth for ever and ever.

12 And when all had said, Amen; they went to the feast: but the marriage feast they celebrated also, with the fear of the Lord.

CHAP. X.

The parents lament the long absence of their son, Tobias. He sets out to return.

BUT as Tobias made longer stay upon occasion of the marriage, Tobias, his father, was solicitous, saying: Why, thinkest thou, dost my son tarry, or why is he detained there?

2 Is Gabelus dead, thinkest thou, and no man will pay him the money?

3 And he began to be exceedingly sad, both he and Anna, his wife, with him; and they began both to weep together: because their son did not return to them on the day appointed.

4 But his mother wept and was quite disconsolate, and said: Woe, woe is me, my son, why did we send thee

VER. 17. And Gr. saying, Blessed art thou, O God, in all pure and holy benediction: and may all thy saints, and all thy creatures, bless thee. Ver. 18 may all thy angels, and thy elect, bless thee for all ages. Blessed art thou, because thou hast filled me with joy, and it has not happened as I suspected: but thou hast done unto us according to thy great mercy. And, 18.

VER. 19. Make. Gr. Show them mercy, Lord. Perfect their life in health, with gladness and mercy. But he ordered his domestics to fill up the grave, and he removed them a marriage feast for fourteen days. And, 20. The ancient Vulg. seems rather more conformable to the present. "Raguel ordered his wife to make several loaves, and going himself to the flock, he brought two cows and two rams, and ordered them to prepare a feast. He called Tobias, and swore to him, saying, Thou shalt not depart hence these fourteen days, but remain here, eating and drinking with me, and shalt fill with joy me and my daughter, who has been greatly afflicted. Receive half of my goods, and thou shalt return and say to thy father: and after my death, and that of my wife, thou shalt have the other half. " H.-Gr. and Heb. mention nothing of the beasts slaughtered, or of Raguel's testament. C.

VER. 22. Adered. Gr. "said to him before the two days of the marriage were accomplished, with an oath, that he should not depart till the fourteen days of marriage were over; and then taking half of his goods, he might depart in health to his father, and receive the rest when I and my wife shall be no more." to go to a strange country, the light of our eyes, the staff of our old age, the comfort of our life, the hope of our posterity?

5 We, having all things together in thee alone, ought not to have let thee go from us.

6 And Tobias said to her. Hold thy peace, and be not troubled, our son is safe: that man with whom we sent him is very trusty.

7 But she could by no means be comforted, but daily running out, looked round about, and went into all the ways by which there seemed any hope he might return, that she might, if possible, see him coming afar off.

8 But Raguel said to his son-in-law: Stay here, and I will send a messenger to Tobias, thy father, that thou art in health.

9 And Tobias said to him: I know that my father and mother now count the days, and their spirit is grievously afflicted within them.

10 And when Raguel had pressed Tobias with many words, and he by no means would hearken to him, he delivered Sara unto him, and half of all his substance in men-servants, and women-servants, in cattle, in camels, and in kine, and in much money, and sent him away safe and joyful from him.

11 Saying: The holy angel of the Lord be with you in your journey, and bring you through safe, and that you may find all things well about your parents, and my eyes may see your children before I die.

12 And the parents taking their daughter, kissed her, and let her go:

13 Admonishing her to honour her father and mother-in-law, to love her husband, to take care of the family, to govern the house, and to behave herself irreprehensibly.

CHAP. XI.

Tobias anointeth his father's eyes with the fish's gall, and he recovereth his sight.

A
ND as they were returning they came to Charan, which is in the midway to Ninive, the eleventh day.

2 And the angel said: Brother Tobias, thou knowest how thou didst leave thy father.

3 If it please thee, therefore, let us go forward, and let the family follow softly after us, together with thy wife and with the beasts.

4 And as this their going pleased him, Raphael said to Tobias: Take with thee of the gall of the fish, for it will be necessary. So Tobias took some of that gall and departed.

5 But Anna sat beside the way daily, on the top of a hill, from whence she might see afar off.

6 And while she watched his coming from that place, she saw him afar off, and presently perceived it was her son coming: and returning, she told her husband, saying: Behold thy son cometh.

7 And Raphael said to Tobias: As soon as thou shalt come into thy house, forthwith aord the Lord, thy God; and giving thanks to him, go to thy father, and kiss him:

8 And immediately anoint his eyes with this gall of the fish, which thou carriest with thee. For be assured that his eyes shall be presently opened, and thy father shall see the light of heaven, and shall rejoice in the sight of thee.

9 Then the dog, which had been with them in the way, ran before, and coming as if he had brought the news, showed his joy by his fawning and wagging his tail.

10 And his father, that was blind, rising up, began to run, stumbling with his feet: and giving a servant his hand, went to meet his son.

11 And receiving him, kissed him, as did also his wife, and they began to weep for joy.

12 And when they had adored God, and given him thanks, they sat down together.

13 Then Tobias taking of the gall of the fish, anointed his father's eyes.

14 And he stayed about half an hour: and a white skin began to come out of his eyes, like the skin of an egg.

15 And Tobias took hold of it, and drew it from his eyes, and immediately he recovered his sight.

16 And they glorified God, both he and his wife, and all that knew him.

17 And Tobias said: I bless thee, O Lord, God of Israel, because thou hast chastised me, and thou hast saved me: and behold I see Tobias, my son.

Tobias called to him his son, and said to him:

What can we give to this holy man that is come with thee?

Tobias answering, said to his father: Father, what wages shall we give him? or what can be worthy of his benefits?

He conducted me and brought me safe again, he received the money of Gabaelus, he caused me to have my wife, and he chased from her the evil spirit, he gave joy to her parents, myself he delivered from being devoured by the fish, thee also he hath made to see the light of heaven, and we are filled with all good things through him. What can we give him sufficient for these things?

But I beseech thee, my father, to desire him, that he would vouchsafe to accept of one half of all things that have been brought.

So the father and the son calling him, took him aside:

And began to desire him that he would vouchsafe to accept of half of all things that they had brought.

Then he said to them secretly: Bless ye the God of heaven, give glory to him in the sight of all that live, because he hath shown his mercy to you.

For it is good to hide the secret of a king, but honourable to reveal and confess the works of God.

* A. M. 3290.

Prayer is good with fasting and alms, more than to lay up treasures of gold:

For alms delivereth from death, and the same is that which purgeth away sins, and maketh to find mercy and life everlasting.

But they that commit sin and iniquity, are enemies to their own soul.

I discover then the truth unto you, and I will not hide the secret from you.

When thou didst pray with tears, and didst bury the dead, and didst leave thy dinner, and hide the dead, by day, in thy house, and bury them by night, I offered thy prayer to the Lord.

And because thou wast acceptable to God, it was necessary that temptation should prove thee.

And now the Lord hath sent me to heal thee, and to deliver Sara, thy son's wife, from the devil.

For I am the angel Raphael, one of the seven, who stand before the Lord.

And when they had heard these things, they were troubled, and being seized with fear, they fell upon the ground on their face.

And the angel said to them: Peace be to you, fear not.

For when I was with you, I was there by the will of God: bless ye him, and sing praises to him.

I seemed, indeed, to eat, and to drink with you, but I use an invisible meat and drink, which cannot be seen by men.

It is time, therefore, that I return to him that sent me: but bless ye God, and publish all his wonderful works.

When he had said these things, he was taken from their sight, and they could see him no more.

Then they lying prostrate for three hours upon their face, blessed God: and rising up, they told all his wonderful works.

VER. 8. Alms. Gr. adds, "and justice. Better is a little with justice, than much with iniquity." H. — Fasting and alms are like the wings of prayer. W.

VER. 9. Soul. If this were understood of the present life, nothing could be less accurate, as the wicked often prosper. See Psal. x. 6; John xii. 25. C.

VER. 11. Gr. "I will not hide from you any word or thing." I said then: It is good to conceal the mystery of the king, but glorious to manifest the works of God. And now, when thou and thy daughter-in-law, Sara, did pray, I brought forward the memorial of your prayer before the Holy One." VER. 14. From the devil, is not in Greek. H. — In this history, as well as in other parts of Scripture, we have convincing proofs of the good which each one receives from his angel guardian, and from the other blessed spirits. See S. VER. 19. Gr. "I appeared to you all the days; yet I did not eat nor drink. But you beheld a vision." H.

A. 20. H. Gr. "And now confess to God, because I ascended to him who sent me. Write ye all these occurrences in a book. And they arose, and beheld him no longer; and they proclaimed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared to them." H.
And Tobias, the elder, opening his mouth, blessed the Lord, and said: Thou art great, O Lord, for ever, and thy kingdom is unto all ages: 2. For thou scornest, and thou savest: thou leadest down to hell, and bringest up again: and there is none that can escape thy hand. 3. Give glory to the Lord, ye children of Israel, and praise him in the sight of the Gentiles: 4. Because he hath therefore scattered you among the Gentiles, who know not him, that you may declare his wonderful works, and make them know that there is no other Almighty God besides him. 5. He hath chastised us for our iniquities: and he will save us for his own mercy. 6. See then what he hath done with us, and with fear and trembling give ye glory to him: and extol the eternal King of worlds in your works. 7. As for me, I will praise him in the land of my captivity: because he hath shown his majesty toward a sinful nation. 8. Be converted, therefore, ye sinners, and do justice before God, believing that he will show his mercy to you. 9. And I and my soul will rejoice in him. 10. Bless ye the Lord, all his elect, keep days of joy, and give glory to him. 11. Jerusalem, city of God, the Lord hath chastised thee for the works of thy hands. 12. Give glory to the Lord for thy good things, and bless the God eternal, that he may rebuild his tabernacle in thee, and may call back all the captives to thee, and thou mayest rejoice for ever and ever. 13. Thou shalt shine with a glorious light: and all the ends of the earth shall worship thee. 14. Nations from afar shall come to thee: and shall bring gifts, and shall adore the Lord in thee, and shall esteem thy land as holy.

A. M. 3329.—Deut. xxxii. 39.—I Kings ii. 6.—Wisd. xvi. 12.—Isa. ix. 5.

VER. 3. Hell; death, M.—Out of hell there is no redemption or return. H.

VER. 4. Therefore, is not in Greek. H.—But God had the good of the Gentiles in view, that they might become acquainted with his law, and behold the conduct of his saints. Tobias, Esther, Daniel, &c., &c., as well as to punish his people. W.—Gr. — Temperate afflictions are sometimes for the spiritual good of others. W.—Gr. — because he has scattered you among them. There show forth his grandeur, and extol him before every one living: for he is our Lord and God, our Father for ever. Yes, he hath chastised us in our iniquities, and again he will have mercy, and will gather us from all nations where he has scattered us, if ye be converted to him with all your heart, and with all your soul, to set sincerely. Then he will turn towards you, and will not hide his face from you; and ye shall behold what he will do with you, and ye shall confess to him with all your mouth, and bless the Lord of power, and extol the King of kings. H.—Gr. — In the 1st century, the Church was in the same position, sending the words and the virtues of his saints. C.

VER. 21. Emerald. Gr. adds, and precious stones: thy walls, and towers, and battlements of pure gold. And the streets of Jerusalem shall be strewed with beryl and emerald, and stones from Souphen. H.—This description resembles that of Isaiah, (liv. 11.) who lived a little before. S. John (Apoc. xxxi. 10) represents the Church in the same ornaments, denoting the merits of Christ and the virtues of his saints. C.

VER. 22. Alleluia, a sound of praise, (S. Aug. ep. 60.) means, Praise ye the Lord (H.) with joy. W.—It is dispersed in times of pestence. C. Gr. adds and they shall praise, and sing. Blessed be God, who has exalted it for ever.

CHAP. XIV. VER. 1. Words. Gr. —confession (or hymn of praise); and he was fifty-eight years old when he lost his sight, which he recovered eight years after, and gave alms, and continued to fear the Lord God, and to confess unto him. Now he arrived at a very advanced age.

VER. 6. The. Gr. —Son, take thy children. Behold, I am grown old, and my life is hastening to an end. Depart into Media, my son, for I believe all that the prophet, Jonas, spoke concerning Nineveh, that it will be overthrown. But if Media there will be more peace for a time, and that our brethren in the land will be scattered from the good land; and Jerusalem shall be deserted, and the know. of the Lord must be fulfilled: and our brethren, that are scattered abroad from the land of Israel, shall return to it.
7 And all the land thereof, that is desert, shall be filled with people, and the house of God which is burnt in it, shall again be rebuilt: and all that fear God shall return thither.
8 And the Gentiles shall leave their idols, and shall come into Jerusalem, and shall dwell in it.
9 And all the kings of the earth shall rejoice in it, adoring the King of Israel.
10 Hearken, therefore, my children, to your father: serve the Lord in truth, and seek to do the things that please him:
11 And command your children that they do justice and alms-deeds, and that they be mindful of God, and bless him at all times in truth, and with all their power.

12 And now, children, hear me, and do not stay here: but as soon as you shall bury your mother, by me, in one sepulchre, without delay direct your steps to depart hence.
13 For I see that its iniquity will bring it to destruction.
14 And it came to pass, that after the death of his mother, Tobias departed out of Nineve with his wife, and children, and children’s children, and returned to his father and mother-in-law.
15 And he found them in health in a good old age, and he took care of them, and he closed their eyes: and all the inheritance of Raguel’s house came to him: and he saw his children’s children, to the fifth generation.
16 And after he had lived ninety-nine years in the fear of the Lord, with joy they buried him.
17 And all his kindred, and all his generation continued in good life, and in holy conversation, so that they were acceptable, both to God and to men, and to all that dwelt in the land.

The sacred writer of this Book is generally believed to be the high priest Eliezeriah (called also Joschim). The transactions herein related most probably happened in his days, and in the reign of Manasses, after his repentance and return from captivity. It takes its name from that illustrious woman, by whose virtue and fertility, and armed with prayer, the children of Israel were preserved from the destruction threatened them by Holofernes and his great army. It finishes with the establishment of the New Testament. C.

The Book of Judith is a historical novel, set in the period of the division of the kingdom of Israel and the start of the Babylonian Captivity. It tells the story of Judith, a Jewish woman who saves her people from the Assyrian threat by carrying out a daring act of espionage and assassination. The book is significant for its portrayal of female heroism and its role in shaping the idea of martyrdom in Jewish literature.

CHAPTER I.

NOW Arphaxad, king of the Medes, had brought many nations under his dominion, and he built a very strong city, which he called Ecbatana.

2 Of stones squared and hewed: he made the walls thereof seventy cubits broad, and thirty cubits high, and the towers thereof he made a hundred cubits high. But on the square of them, each side was extended the space of twenty feet.

3 And he made the gates thereof according to the height of the towers:

4 And he gloried as a mighty one in the force of his army, and in the glory of his chariots.

5 Now in the twelfth year of his reign: Nabuchodonosor, king of the Assyrians, who reigned in Nineveh, the great city, fought against Arphaxad, and overcame him.

6 In the great plain which is called Ragan, about the Euphrates, and the Tigris, and the Jadason, in the plain of Erioch, the king of the Elicians.

7 Then was the kingdom of Nabuchodonosor exalted, and his heart was elevated: and he sent to all that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus.

8 And to the nations that are in Carmelus, and Cedar, and to the inhabitants of Galilee, in the great plain of Edreelon,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and beyond the river Jordan, even to Jerusalem, and all the land of Jesse, till you come to the borders of Ethiopia.

10 To all these, Nabuchodonosor, king of the Assyrians, sent messengers:

11 But they all, with one mind, refused, and sent them back empty, and rejected them without honour.

12 Then king Nabuchodonosor being angry against all that land, swore by his throne and kingdom, that he would revenge himself of all those countries.

CHAPTER II.

Nabuchodonosor senteth Holofernes to waste the countries of the west.

A. M. 3347, A. C. 535.

VER. 1. Nebuchodonosor, Now. Many of the books begin with And, showing their connexion. This work formed a part of the general history. The building of Ecbatana likewise took place soon after the destruction of Ninive, mentioned in the preceding book.—Arphaxad. He was probably the same as is called Arphaxad by Herodotus; to whom he attributes the building of Ecbatana, the capital city of Media (Ch. 3); or rather Arphaxad more resembles both in name and actions the second king, Pharamaies, or Pharamaces, (Monahumus and Hunsbc.) who fortified and embellished the city.

VER. 2. Hezdal. Gr. adds, "three cubits broad and six long." The ancients aimed at solidity in their architecture, as appears from their ruins. C.—High. Sallen (A. 3345) thinks there is a transposition, and that the walls were 70 cubits high. M.—What need was there of such a breadth? Gr. allows 70 in height, and 50 in breadth, which seems more proportionate. Old Vulg. has 60 cubits high, and 50 broad. On the walls of Nineve three chariots might fight abreast, (C.) and six on those of Babylon. Ctesias.—Feet. Projecting from the wall, to remove an enemy. Gr. —the towers thereof he placed above the gates 100 cubits, and the towers which were 80 cubits broad. And he made the gates to rise to 70 cubits, being 40 cubits in breadth, to send out the armies of his mighty men, and to draw up his infantry." H.

VER. 5. Nabuchodonosor. Not the king of Babylon, who took and destroyed Jerusalem, but another of the same name, who reigned in Ninive; and is called, ye profane historians, Assurhadon. He succeeded Asshurhadon in the kingdom of the Assyrians, and was contemporary with Maccabeus, king of Judah. C.—Hunsbc. Gr. afterwards (ver. 18) intimates that he prevented any from mounting the throne of Media, till this work was written: "he transferred him with his darts, and destroyed him till this day." Houbigant.

VER. 6. Ragan, near Ragus. Gr. and M., M.—Syv. „Dura," mentioned Dan. III. 1. C.—Jadason, or Mount Jazon, above the Caspian gates (Strabo, 11): unless it may be the city Jasuas, in Armenia. Gr. has "the Ilissasians," a river of India, though Curtius (5) places it near Susa; confounding it with the Chosapes—Elicians. Gr. "Elymians," perhaps the same with Pontus. Heb. Illas.

A. M. 3346.

VER. 11. Refused. Gr. adds, "and did not come to help him in the war because they feared him not, (11, supposing he would have enough to do with Arphaxad, as he was but like their equal, or as one man. C.

VER. 12. Countries. Those who were subject to him did wrong in refusing aid. But the Jews were under so many obligations, and God espoused their cause the more, as the king set up for a deity. C. III. C.

VER. 13. Empire. "The thirst of empire and riches is an old and deep-rooted cause of making war." Sallust. Frag. Gr. adds, "and they (counselors) judged that all flesh must be destroyed of those who had not complied with his order." H.—God laughs at the vain designs of men. C.

VER. 4. Armies. Gr. adds, "and the second after himself," in the king dom. M.

VER. 5. Commandment. Gr. adds, he must demand "earth and water," as an acknowledgment of his dominion, and that all necessaries of life belonged to him. This custom prevailed in Persia. Herod, iv. 123; Polyb, xii.; Ptolemy on VER. 12. When. Gr. "and they proceeded from Ninive, three days' journey to the plains of Becliti, or Baktiti, in Cappadocia, between Mount Arge and Taurus. Strabo (15) assures us that Arge is the highest mountain in the country from which the two seas of Cilicia and the Euxine may be seen. C.

VER. 12. Melodius, or Medius, built by Semiramis, (Dilse, vi. 3), in the same children of Ishmael, who were over against the face of the desert, and on the south of the land of Cellon.

14 And he passed over the Euphrates, and came into Mesopotamia: and he forced all the stately cities that were there, from the torrent of Mambre, till one comes to the sea:

15 And he took the borders thereof, from Cilicia to the coasts of Japheth, which are towards the south.

16 And he carried away all the children of Madian, and stripped them of all their riches, and all that resisted he slew with the edge of the sword.

17 And after these things he went down into the plains of Damascus in the days of the harvest, and he set all the corn on fire, and he caused all the trees and vineyards to be cut down:

18 And the fear of them fell upon all the inhabitants of the land.

CHAP. III.

Many submit themselves to Holofernes. He destroyeth their cities, and their gods, that Nabuchodonosor only might be called god.

THEN the kings and the princes of all the cities and provinces, of Syria, Mesopotamia, and Syria Sobal, and Lybia, and Cilicia, sent their ambassadors, who coming to Holofernes, said:

2 Let thy indignation towards us cease: for it is better for us to live and serve Nabuchodonosor, the great king, and be subject to thee, than to die and to perish, or suffer the miseries of slavery.

3 All our cities and our possessions, all mountains, and hills, and herds of oxen, and flocks of sheep, and goats, and horses, and camels, and all our goods, and families, are in thy sight:

4 Let all we have be subject to thy law.

5 Both we and our children are thy servants.

6 Come to us a peaceable lord, and use our service as it shall please thee.

7 Then he came down from the mountains with horsemen, in great power, and made himself master of every city, and all the inhabitants of the land.

CHAP. IV.

The children of Israel prepare themselves to resist Holofernes. They cry to the Lord for help.

THEN the children of Israel, who dwelt in the land of Juda, hearing these things, were exceedingly afraid of him.

2 Dread and horror seized upon their minds, lest they should do the same to Jerusalem, and to the temple of the Lord, that he had done to other cities, and their temples.

3 And they sent into all Samaria round about, as far as Jericho, and seized upon all the tops of the mountains:

4 And they compassed their towns with walls, and gathered together corn, for provision for war.

5 And Eliachim, the priest, wrote to all that were over against Esdrelon, which facethe great plain near Dothan, and to all by whom there might be a passage of way, that they should take possession of the ascents of the south. C.—Yet (H.) Gabara may designate a mountainous country, as 1 Kings viii. 22. and there is no reason why Idumea might not have felt the power of Holofernes, as well as Madian, &c. II. —The order of conquests is not evident, (M.) for while the commander-in-chief was in one place, his generals were dispersed into different parts. He had now advanced as far as Gabara of Saul, (H.) when, anticipating a serious attack upon Egypt, he thought proper to concentrate his forces; little expecting to meet with such a check at Bethulia. C.—Gr. He came to Esdrelon, near Cena (or, Jotham, north of Sichem), which is opposite the great wall of Judea, or the range of mountains of Ephraim, C.—Old Vulg. "of Judah," dividing it from Idumea. The kings of Israël had finished the defection. 3 Kings xv. 17.

CHAP. IV. Vers. 1. Juda, whither those had retreated who had escaped the fury of the Assyrians, under Tiglath-pileshuvarsha, &c. H.

Vers. 2. Temples. Surrounding would not secure these places; so that their very life and religion were at stake. Resistance, in other circumstances, would have been rashness. C.—Gr. "Bethulia." C. &c. —Samaria, though an enemy's country, at the danger was common. M. —Ezechias and Josias seemed to claim a right over the country 2 Par. xxxiii. 15 &c.; xxvii. 4 and 55.

Vers. 5. Priest. Gr. adds, "as the harvest was just ended." C. —Gr. "the great priest in Jerusalem. In those days, wrote to the inhabitants of Bethulia, (H. Bethulia, in the tribe of Simeon,) and of Bethanath, (Bethanath, &c.) which is over against Esdrelon, and the plain near Dothan, giving orders to seize the mountainous ascents, by which there was a passage into Judæa; and it was easy to stop their progress, as the passage was narrow, and would not admit above two men at once." —It seems the Jews attempted to defend these defiles. They had received the orders before the enemy encamped near Scythopolis. and indignation, and he called all the princes of Moab, and the leaders of Ammon.

3 And he said to them: Tell me what is this people that beseteth the mountains: or what are their cities, and of what sort, and how great: also what is their power, or what is their multitude: or who is the king over their warfare:

4 And why they, above all that dwell in the east, have despised us, and have not come out to meet us, that they might receive us with peace?

5 Then Achior, captain of all the children of Ammon, answering, said: If thou vouchsafe, my lord, to hear, I will tell the truth in thy sight, concerning this people, that dwelleth in the mountains, and there shall not a false word come out of my mouth.

6 This people is the offspring of the Chaldeans.

7 They dwelt first in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, who were in the land of the Chaldeans.

8 Wherefore, forsaking the ceremonies of their fathers, which consisted in the worship of many gods.

9 They worshipped one God of heaven, who also commanded them to depart from thence, and to dwell in Charan. And when there was a famine over all the land, they went down into Egypt, and there for four hundred years were so multiplied, that the army of them could not be numbered.

10 And when the king of Egypt oppressed them, and made slaves of them, to labour in clay and brick, in the building of his cities, they cried to their Lord, and he struck the whole land of Egypt with divers plagues.

11 And when the Egyptians had cast them out from them, and the plague had ceased from them, and they had a mind to take them again, and bring them back to their service,

12 'The God of heaven opened the sea to them in their flight, so that the waters were made to stand firm as a wall on either side, and they walked through the bottom of the sea, and passed it dry foot.

13 And when an innumerable army of the Egyptians pursued after them in that place, they were so overwhelmed with waters, that there was not one left, to tell what had happened to posterity.

14 And after they came out of the Red Sea, they abode

6. Them. Gr. adds, "and the senate of all the people of Israel, which sat at Jerusalem."

7. Wine. Gr. adds, "and their little ones, and beasts, and every sojourner, and hired servant, and slave. They put sackcloth on their lots, and every man, woman, and child, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell prostrate before the temple, and sprinkled ashes on their heads."

8. Priests. Gr. "and they spread their sacrifices before the Lord, and arrayed the altar with sackcloth." II.

9. Off. Lit. "divided" from their husbands, (II.) or among the victors.

10. Gentiles. Gr. adds, "and God heard their petition, and rescued them from their affliction; and all the people fainted many days in all Judas and Jerusalem, before the sanctuary of the Lord all mightily; and the high priest, Joashim, and all the priests who stood before the Lord, and ministered to the Lord, having their lots girded with sackcloth, offered the ascensional holocaust and the vows and presents of the people, and ashes were upon their caps, and they cried to the Lord with all their power, to look down graciously upon all the house of Jerusalem."

11. Mountains. Gr. adds, "and had fortified every summit of a high mountain, and had placed scandaits in the plains," obstructing the passage (H) with ditches, trees, (C) and stones of every description. I.

in the deserts of Mount Sina, in which never man could dwell or son of man rested.

15 There bitter fountains were made sweet for them to drink, and for forty years they received food from heaven.

16 Wheresoever they went in without bow and arrow, and without shield and sword, their God fought for them, and overcame.

17 And there was no one that triumphed over this people, but when they departed from the worship of the Lord, their God.

18 But as often as, beside their own God, they worshipped any other, they were given to spoil, and to the sword, and to reproach.

19 And as often as they were penitent for having revolted from the worship of their God, the God of heaven gave them power to resist.

20 So they overthrew the king of the Chanaanites, and of the Jebusites, and of the Pherezites, and of the Hitites, and of the Hevites, and of the Amorrites, and all the mighty ones in Hesebon, and they possessed their lands, and their cities:

21 And as long as they sinned not in the sight of their God, it was well with them: for their God hatheth iniquity.

22 And even some years ago, when they had revolted from the way which God had given them, to walk therein, they were destroyed in battles by many nations, and very many of them were led away captive into a strange land.

23 But of late returning to the Lord, their God, from the different places wherein they were scattered, they are come together, and are gone up into all these mountains, and possess Jerusalem again, where their holies are.

24 Now, therefore, my lord, search if there be any iniquity of theirs in the sight of their God: let us go up to them, because their God will surely deliver them to thee, and they shall be brought under the yoke of thy power:

25 But if there be no offence of this people in the sight of their God, we cannot resist them, because their God will defend them: and we shall be a reproach to the whole earth.

26 And it came to pass, when Achior had ceased to speak these words, all the great men of Holofernes were angry, and they had a mind to kill him, saying to each other:

27 Who is this, that saith the children of Israel can resist king Nabuchodonosor, and his armies, men unarmed, and without force, and without skill in the art of war?

28 That Achior, therefore, may know that he deceiveth us, let us go up into the mountains: and when the bravest of them shall be taken, then shall he, with them, be stabbed with the sword:

29 That every nation may know that Nabuchodonosor is god of the earth, and besides him there is no other.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes, in great rage, senteth Achior to Bethulia, there to be slain with the Israelites.

AND it came to pass, when they had left off speaking, that Holofernes, being in a violent passion, said to Achior:

2 Because thou hast prophesied unto us, saying, that the nation of Israel is defended by their God, to show thee that there is no God, but Nabuchodonosor:

3 When we shall slay them all as one man, then thou also shalt die with them, by the sword of the Assyrians, and all Israel shall perish with thee:

4 And thou shalt find that Nabuchodonosor is lord of the whole earth: and then the sword of my soldiers shall pass through thy sides, and thou shalt be stabbed, and fall among the wounded of Israel, and thou shalt breathe no more till thou be destroyed with them.

5 But if thou think thy prophecy true, let not thy countenance sink, and let the paleness that is in thy face depart from thee, if thou imaginest these, my words, cannot be accomplished.

6 And that thou mayst know that thou shalt experience these things, together with them, behold from this hour thou shalt be associated to their people, that when they shall receive the punishment they deserve from my sword, thou mayst fall under the same vengeance.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his servants to take Achior, and to lead him to Bethulia, and to deliver him into the hands of the children of Israel.

8 And the servants of Holofernes taking him, went through the plains: but when they came near the mountains, the slingers came out against them.

9 Then turning out of the way by the side of the mountain, they tied Achior to a tree hand and foot, and so left him bound with ropes, and returned to their master.

10 And the children of Israel coming down from Bethulia, came to him. And loosing him, they brought him to Bethulia, and setting him in the midst of the people, asked him what was the matter, that the Assyrians had left him bound.

11 In those days the rulers there were Ozias, the son and the sons of Mobi: and what are the mercenaries of Ephraim, that thou?

VER. 2. To shew. Gr. "and who is God but Nabuchodonosor? He will, &c."—The generous advice of Achior was highly resented.

VER. 6. People. Gr. "my slaves shall station thee on the mountainous country, and in one of the cities on the seacoast, (of which thou hast so much spoken,) and thou shalt not perish till thou perish with them. But if thou believest in thy heart that they will not be taken, let not thy countenance fail, I have spoken, and nothing that I have said shall be without effect."

VER. 7. Bethulia. Travelers, depending on the uncertain traditions of the country, generally place this fortress in the tribe of Zabulon, about three miles west of Tiberias. See Broedar, &c. But S. Jerome places it nearer Egypt (Vita Illi); and the Scripture speaks of Bethul (in the tribe of Shechem, [Jos. xix. 4,] to which Judith and the ancients belonged). Holofernes left his camp near Scythopolis, (chap. vii. 1,) when he proceeded (C) to attack the southern cities. H of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Charmi, called also Gothoñiel.

12 And Achior related in the midst of the ancients, and in the presence of all the people, all that he had said, being asked by Holofernes: and how the people of Holofernes would have killed him for this word.

13 And how Holofernes himself, being angry, had commanded him to be delivered for this cause to the Israelites: that when he should overcome the children of Israel, then he might command Achior also himself to be put to death by diverse torments, for having said: The God of heaven is their defender.

14 And when Achior had declared all these things, all the people fell upon their faces, adoring the Lord, and all of them together, mourning and weeping, poured out their prayers with one accord to the Lord.

15 Saying: O Lord God of heaven and earth, behold their pride, and look upon our low condition, and have regard to the face of thy saints, and show that thou forsaikst not them that trust on thee, and that thou humblest them that presume of themselves, and glory in their own strength.

16 So when their weeping was ended, and the people's prayer, in which they continued all the day, was concluded, they comforted Achior.

17 Saying: The God of our fathers, whose power thou hast set forth, will make this return to thee, that thou rather shalt see their destruction.

18 And when the Lord, our God, shall give this liberty to his servants, let God be with thee also in the midst of us: that as it shall please thee, so thou, with all thine, mayest converse with us.

19 Then Ozias, after the assembly was broken up, received him into his house, and made him a great supper.

20 And all the ancients were invited, and they refreshed themselves together after their fast was over.

21 And afterwards all the people were called together, and they prayed the all night long within the church, desiring help of the God of Israel.

But Holofernes, on the next day, gave orders to his army, to go up against Bethulia.

2 Now there were in his troops a hundred and twenty thousand footmen, and two and twenty thousand horsemen, besides the preparations of those men who had been taken, and who had been brought away out of the provinces and cities, of all the youth.

3 All these prepared themselves together to fight against the children of Israel, and they came by the hill side to the top, which looketh towards Dothan, from the place which is called Belma, unto Chelmon, which is over against Esdrelon.

4 But the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, prostrated themselves upon the ground, putting ashes upon their heads, praying, with one accord, that the God of Israel would show his mercy upon his people.

5 And taking their arms of war, they posted themselves at the places, which by a narrow path-way lead directly between the mountains, and they guarded them all day and night.

6 Now Holofernes, in going round about, found that the fountain which supplied them with water, run through an aqueduct without the city, on the south side: and he commanded their aqueduct to be cut off.

7 Nevertheless, there were springs not far from the walls, out of which they were seen secretly to draw water, to refresh themselves a little rather than to drink their fill.

8 But the children of Ammon, and Moab, came to Holofernes, saying: The children of Israel trust not in their spears, nor in their arrows, but the mountains are their defence, and the steep hills and precipices guard them.

9 Wherefore, that thou mayst overcome them without joining battle, set guards at the springs, that they may not draw water out of them, and thou shalt destroy them without sword, or at least being wearied out, they will yield up their city, which they suppose, because it is situate in the mountains, to be impregnable.

10 And these words pleased Holofernes, and his officers, and he placed all round about a hundred men at every spring.

11 And when they had kept this watch for full twenty days, the cisterns, and the reserve of waters, failed among all the inhabitants of Bethulia, so that there was not within the city enough to satisfy them, no not for one day, for water was daily given out to the people by measure.

12 Then all the men and women, young men, and children, gathering themselves together to Ozias, all together with one voice,

13 Said: God be judge between us and thee, for city, and came to the fountains of their waters, and took them; and leaving a guard of soldiers, he returned to his men." So. Ver. 8. H. The Syr. is also silent about the aqueduct and the small springs. C. —The servants of God first humble themselves, and then take arms, confiding in God.

W. Ver. 10. Spring. Gr. and Syr. intimate that the Ammonites and Moabites, with 5000 Assyrian infantry, guarded the springs: the rest of the army, according to the old Vulg., was stationed in the plain. Gr. and Syr. specify over against Dothaim, which seems too remote (C.); though such an immense army might cover a great part of the country, as all would not be necessary to besiege Bethulia; and it was agreed only to blockade the place, in order that no man might be lost, and the army might be ready to march against the more distant and powerful nations of Egypt. Another disputation was (H.) "southward, at Sorek, (Syr. Esdochet, probably Abrahim, the ascent of the scorpions,) near Cach, (or Arabah,) which is above the torrent Mochmar, (Syr. Poor, or Bezer, C.) and the rest of the army of the Assyrians encamped in the plain, and covered the face of the earth." H.

thou hast done evil against us, in that thou wouldst not speak peaceably with the Assyrians, and for this cause God hath sold us into their hands.

14 And therefore there is no one to help us, while we are cast down before their eyes in thirst, and sad destruction.

15 And now, assemble ye all that are in the city, that we may, of our own accord, yield ourselves all up to the people of Holofernes.

16 For it is better that, being captives, we should live and bless the Lord, than that we should die, and be a reproach to all flesh, after we have seen our wives and our infants die before our eyes.

17 We call to witness this day heaven and earth, and the God of our fathers, who taketh vengeance upon us according to our sins, conjuring you to deliver now the city into the hand of the army of Holofernes, that our end may be short by the edge of the sword, which is made longer by the drought of thirst.

18 And when they had said these things, there was great weeping and lamentation of all in the assembly, and for many hours with one voice they cried to God, saying:

19 "We have sinned with our fathers, we have done unjustly, we have committed iniquity:

20 Have thou mercy on us, because thou art good, or punish our iniquities, by chastising us thyself, and deliver not them that trust in thee to a people that knoweth not thee,

21 That they may not say among the Gentiles: Where is their God?

22 And when, being wearied with these cries, and tired with these weepings, they held their peace,

23 Ozias, rising up all in tears, said: Be of good courage, my brethren, and let us wait these five days for mercy from the Lord.

24 For perhaps he will put a stop to his indignation, and will give glory to his own name.

25 But if, after five days be past, there come no aid, we will do the things which you have spoken.

months and four days — Menora. Gr. adds, "the infants, women, and young men fainted, and fell down dead." H.

Ver. 16. Assembly. Gr. "Call them, and give up all the city to plunder to the &c."

Ver. 17. Confounding. Gr. "And the sins of our parents, that he may not treat us thus to-day," and deliver us up to death. H.

Ver. 35. Spoken. Gr. and Syr. add, "And he dispersed the people to their tents, and they went upon the walls and towers of the city, and sent their wives and children home. And they were under great humiliation in the city."

CHAP. VIII. Ver. 1. Idok. Gr. "Or," &c. All the versions disagree, as the copyists have probably taken in ver. 8 too soon, supposing that the genealogy of women was never given. S. Fulgentius (op. ad Galliam) differs from all, giving the ancestors of Manasses as the same with those of Judith. C.—Since Simeon, the son of Ruben, in the Greek it is, the son of Israel. For Simeon, the patriarch, from whom Judith descended, was not the son, but the brother of Ruben. It seems more probable, that the Simeon and the Ruben here mentioned are not the patriarchs, but two of the descendants of the patriarch Simeon; and that the genealogy of Judith, recorded in this place, is not carried up so high as the patriarchs; no more than that of Eleazar, the father of Samuel, (1 Kings 1. 1) and that of king Saul, 1 Kings ix. 1. Ch.—Others think that Judith descended from Ruben, by her father, and from Simeon, by her mother (E.V.); or that instead of son of Ruben, we should read "brother." But as we know that Judith calls Simeon her father, (chap. ix. 2) it is more likely that Ruben has been placed for Israel, as it is in Syr. S. Fulgentius, &c. This correction is maintained by Bellarmine, Salmen, &c.

Ver. 3. Died. Gr. "fell upon his couch (Grabe adds, "and died in Bethulia, his own city"); and they buried him with his fathers, in the field between Dannah and Bethlesem." H.

Ver. 4. Six. Gr. and Syr. have four months.—In which, Gr. "and she put sackcloth, &c." Ver. 8. H.—Judith led a most religious life, in prayer, fasting, and fasting, all the year, except on the festivals. W.

Ver. 5. Looms. Gr. "and she had on the garments of her widowhood, and— She laid these aside, Chap. x. 2. C.—Life. Gr. "widowhood, except the day before the sabbath, and the sabbaths, and the new moons, and feasts, and days of rejoicing of the house of Israel." H. C.—New moons were days of rejoicing. M. 1 Kings xx. 5.—The Jews kept two days together, for four of missing the day on which the moon really appeared. Several facts were also prescribed for the piece of cloth, on the 1st and 22nd of Nisan, &c.

Ver. 7. Of oxen. Gr. and Syr., &c. add, "and fields, and she lived on them." Ver. 8. Her. "The reputation of chastity in women is tender, and, like a beating, produces the precepts of the last breath, and perishes; particularly when they are at an age prone to vice, and destined of the authority of a husband, whose shadow is the safeguard to a wife." S. Jer. ad 1 Samuin.—The Scripture says, "She could not give Judith a greater character."

Ver. 9. When. Gr. and Syr. "And she heard of the evil discourses of the populace against the magistrates, as they lost courage on account of the scarcity of water; and Judith heard of all the words of Oxias to them, how he had sworn before this time, on the 1st and 22nd of Nisan, &c.

Ver. 10. Pleasure. She blames the magistrates for taking a rash oath, preceding to fathom the designs of God, and to fix a time for him, and not attempting to make any resistance, though the welfare of the whole nation, and the sacred things, depended on their exertions. C. and you have appointed him a day, according to your pleasure.

14 But forasmuch as the Lord is patient, let us be penitent for this same thing, and with many tears let us beg his pardon:

15 For God will not threaten like man, nor be inflamed to anger like the son of man.

16 And therefore, let us humble our souls before him, and continuing in a humble spirit, in his service:

17 Let us ask the Lord with tears, that according to his will so he would show his mercy to us: that as our heart is troubled by their pride, so also we may glory in our humility:

18 For we have not followed the sins of our fathers, who forsook their God, and worshipped strange gods.

19 For which crime, they were given up to their enemies, to the sword, and to pillage, and to confusion: but we know no other God but him.

20 Let us humbly wait for his consolation, and the Lord, our God, will require our blood of the affictions of our enemies, and he will humble all the nations that shall rise up against us, and bring them to disgrace.

21 And now, brethren, as you are the ancients among the people of God, and their very soul resteth upon you: comfort their hearts by your speech, that they may be mindful how our fathers were tempted, that they might be proved, whether they worshipped their God truly.

22 They must remember how our father, Abraham, was tempted, and being proved by many tribulations, was made the friend of God.

23 So Isaac, so Jacob, so Moses, and all that have pleased God, passed through many tribulations, remaining faithful.

24 But they that did not receive the trials with the fear of the Lord, but uttered their impatience, and the reproach of their murmuring against the Lord,

25 Were destroyed by the destroyer, and perished by serpents.

26 As for us, therefore, let us not revenge ourselves for these things which we suffer,

27 But esteeming these very punishments to be less than our sins deserve, let us believe that these scourges of the Lord, with which, like servants, we are chastised, have happened for our amendment, and not for our destruction.

28 And Ozaia, and the ancients, said to her: All things which thou hast spoken are true, and there is nothing to be reprehended in thy words.

29 Now therefore pray for us, for thou art a holy woman, and one fearing God.

30 And Judith said to them: As you know that what I have been able to say, is of God:

31 So that which I intend to do, prove ye if it be of God, and pray that God may strengthen my design.

32 You shall stand at the gate this night, and I will go out with my maid-servant: and pray ye, that as you have said, in five days the Lord may look down upon his people, Israel.

33 But I desire that you search not into what I am doing; and till I bring you word, let nothing else be done but to pray for me to the Lord, our God.

34 And Ozaia, the prince of Juda, said to her: Go in peace, and the Lord be with thee, to take revenge of our enemies. So, returning, they departed.

CHAP. IX.

Judith’s prayer, to beg of God to fortify her in her undertaking.

AND when they were gone, Judith went into her oratory: and putting on haircloth, laid ashes on her head: and falling down prostrate before the Lord, she cried to the Lord, saying:

2 O Lord God of my father Simeon, who gavest him a sword to execute vengeance against strangers, who had defiled by their uncleanness, and uncovered the virgin into confusion:

3 And who gavest their wives to be made a prey, and their daughters into captivity: and all their spoils to be divided to thy servants, who were zealous with thy zeal: assist, I beseech thee, O Lord God, me, a widow.

4 For thou hast done the things of old, and hast devised one thing after another: and what thou hast designed, hath been done.

5 For all thy ways are prepared, and in thy providence thou hast placed thy judgments.

6 Look upon the camp of the Assyrians now, as thou wast pleased to look upon the camp of the Egyptians, when they pursued armed after thy servants, trusting in their chariots, and in their horsemen, and in a multitude of warriors.

7 But thou lookedst over their camp, and darkness wearied them.

8 The deep held their feet, and the waters overwhelmed them.

9 So may it be with these also, O Lord, who trust in their multitude, and in their chariots, and in their pikes, and in their shields, and in their arrows, and glory in their spears.

10 And know not that thou art our God, who destroyest wars from the beginning, and the Lord is thy name.

11 Lift up thy arm from the beginning, and crush their power with thy power: let their power fall in their wrath, who promise themselves to violate thy sanctuary, and deifie the dwelling-place of thy name, and to beat down with their sword the horn of thy altar.

12 Bring to pass, O Lord, that his pride may be cut off with his own sword.

13 Let him be caught in the net of his own eyes, in my regard, and do thou strike him by the graces of the words of my lips.

14 Give me constancy in my mind, that I may despise him: and fortitude, that I may overthrow him.

15 For this will be a glorious monument for thy name, when he shall fall by the hand of a woman.

16 For thy power, O Lord, is not in a multitude, nor is thy pleasure in the strength of horses, nor from the beginning have the proud been acceptable to thee: but the prayer of the humble and the meek hath always pleased thee.

17 O God of the heavens, creator of the waters, and Lord of the whole creation, hear me, a poor wretch, making supplication to thee, and presuming of thy mercy.

18 Remember, O Lord, thy covenant, and put thou words in my mouth, and strengthen the resolution in my heart, that thy house may continue in thy holiness: and all nations may acknowledge that thou art God, and there is no other besides thee.

Judith seth out towards the camp, and is taken, and brought to Holopherne.

* July 14, 21, and 26.

AND it came to pass, when she had ceased to cry to the Lord, that she rose from the place wherein she lay prostrate before the Lord.

2 And she called her maid, and going down into her house, she took off her haircloth, and put away the garments of her widowhood.

3 And she washed her body, and anointed herself with the best ointment, and plaited the hair of her head, and put a bonnet upon her head, and clothed herself with the garments of her gladness, and put sandals on her feet, and took her bracelets, and lilies, and carlets, and rings, and adorned herself with all her ornaments.

4 And the Lord also gave her more beauty: because all this dressing up did not proceed from sensuality, but from virtue: and therefore the Lord increased this her beauty, so that she appeared to all men's eyes incomparably lovely.

5 And she gave to her maid a bottle of wine to carry, and a vessel of oil, and parched corn, and dry figs, and bread and cheese, and went out.

6 And when they came to the gate of the city, they found Ozius, and the ancients of the city waiting.

7 And when they saw her they were astonished, and admired her beauty exceedingly.

8 But they asked her no question, only they let her pass, saying: The God of our fathers give thee grace, and may he strengthen all the counsel of thy heart with his power, that Jerusalem may glory in thee, and thy name may be in the number of the holy and just.

9 And they that were there said, all with one voice: So be it, so be it.

10 But Judith praying to the Lord, passed through the gates, she and her maid.

11 And it came to pass, when she went down the hill, about break of day, that the watchmen of the Assyrians met her, and stopped her, saying: Whence comest thou? or whither goest thou?

12 And she answered: I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I am fled from them, because I knew they would be made a prey to you, because they despised you, and would not of their own accord yield themselves, that they might find mercy in your sight.

13 For this reason, I thought with myself, saying: I will go to the presence of the prince Holopherne, that I may multiply my power, and exalted on account of their cavalry; they have boasted on the strong arm of the infantry, have trusted in their shield, and bow, and a sword, and they have not known that thou art the Lord, making an end of war: Thy name is Lord; break their force, by thy power, &c., ver. 11.

Ver. 13. Lips, or with my encouraging speeches. God inspired her with the laudable design of freeing her country, but the means were left to her own choice. Ver. 9. Because I knew, &c. In this and the following chapter, some things are related to have been said by Judith, which seem hard to reconcile with truth. But all that is related in Scripture of the servants of God, is not approved by the Scripture: and even the snares in their enterprise may sometimes slip into verbal sins. C.—I knew. 14 And when the men had heard her words, they beheld her face, and their eyes were amazed, for they wondered exceedingly at her beauty.

15 And they said to her: Thou hast saved thy life by taking this resolution, to come down to our lord.

16 And be assured of this, that when thou shalt stand before him, he will treat thee well, and thou wilt be most acceptable to his heart. And they brought her to the tent of Holofernes, telling him of her.

17 And when she was come into his presence, forthwith Holofernes was caught by his eyes.

18 And his officers said to him: Who can despise the people of the Hebrews, who have such beautiful women, that we should not think it worthy of our while for their sakes to fight against them?

19 And Judith, seeing Holofernes sitting under a canopy, which was woven of purple and gold, with emeralds and precious stones:

20 After she had looked on his face, bowed down to him, prostrating herself to the ground. And the servants of Holofernes lifted her up, by the command of their master.

CHAP. XI.
Judith's speech to Holofernes.

THEN Holofernes said to her: Be of good comfort, and fear not in thy heart; for I have not hurt a man that was willing to serve Nabuchodonosor, the king.

2 And if thy people had not despised me, I would never have lifted up my spear against them.

3 But now tell me, for what cause hast thou left them, and why it hath pleased thee to come to us?

4 And Judith said to him: Receive the words of thy handmaid, for if thou wilt follow the words of thy handmaid, the Lord will do with thee a perfect thing.

5 For as Nabuchodonosor, the king of the earth, liveth, and his power liveth, which is in thee for the chastising of all straying souls: not only men serve him through thee, but also the beasts of the field obey him.

6 For the industry of thy mind is spoken of among all nations, and it is told through the whole world, that thou only art excellent and mighty in all his kingdom, and thy discipline is cried up in all provinces.

7 It is known, also, what Achior said, nor are we ignorant of what thou hast commanded to be done to him.

8 For it is certain that our God is so offended with sins, that he hath sent word by his prophets to the people, that he will deliver them up for their sins.

9 And because the children of Israel know they have offended their God, thy dread is upon them.

10 Moreover, also, a famine hath come upon them, and for drought of water they are already to be counted among the dead.

11 And they have a design even to kill their cattle, and to drink the blood of them.

12 And the consecrated things of the Lord, their God, which God forbid them to touch, in corn, wine, and oil, these have they purposed to make use of, and they design to consume the things which they ought not to touch with their hands: therefore, because they do these things, it is certain they will be given up to destruction.

13 And I, thy handmaid, knowing this, am fled from them, and the Lord hath sent me to tell thee these very things.

14 For I, thy handmaid, worship God even now that I am with thee, and thy handmaid will go out, and I will pray to God.

15 And he will tell me when he will repay them for their sins, and I will come and tell thee, so that I may bring thee through the midst of Jerusalem, and thou shalt have all the people of Israel, as sheep that have no shepherd, and there shall not so much as one dog bark against thee:

16 Because these things are told me by the providence of God.

17 And because God is angry with them, I am sent to tell these very things to thee.

18 And all these words pleased Holofernes, and his servants, and they admired her wisdom, and they said one to another:

19 There is not such another woman upon earth in look, in beauty, and in sense of words.

20 And Holofernes said to her: God hath done well who sent thee before the people, that thou mightest give them into our hands:

21 And because thy promiss e is good, if thy God shall do this for me, he shall also be my God, and thou shalt be great in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and thy name shall be renowned through all the earth.

CHAP. XII.

Judith goeth out in the night to pray: she is invited to a banquet with Holofernes.

THEN he ordered that she should go in where his treasures were laid up, and bade her tarry there, and he appointed what should be given her from his own table

2 And Judith answered him, and said: Now I cannot eat of these things which thou commandest, lest sin come upon me: but I will eat of the things which I have brought.

3 And Holofernes said to her: If these things which thou hast brought with thee fail thee, what shall we do for thee?

4 And Judith said: As thy soul liveth, my lord, thy handmaid shall not spend all these things till God do by my hand that which I have proposed. And his servants brought her into the tent which he had commanded.

5 And when she was going in, she desired that she might have liberty to go out, at night, and before day, to pray, and to beseech the Lord.

6 And he commanded his chamberlains that she might go out and in, to adore God as she pleased, for three days.

7 And she went out in the nights into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself in a fountain of water.

8 And as she came up, she prayed to the Lord, the God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the deliverance of his people.

9 And going in, she remained pure in the tent, until she took her own meat in the evening.

10 And it came to pass on the fourth day, that Holofernes made a supper for his servants, and said to Vagao, his eunuch: Go, and persuade that Hebrew woman, to consent of her own accord to dwell with me

11 For it is looked upon shamefully among the Assyrians, if a woman mock a man, by doing so as to pass free from him.

12 Then Vagao went in to Judith, and said: Let not my good maid be afraid to go in to my lord, that she may be honoured before his face, that she may eat with him, and drink wine, and be merry.

13 And Judith answered him: Who am I, that I should gainsay my lord?

14 All that shall be good and best before his eyes, I will do. And whatsoever shall please him, that shall be best to me all the days of my life.

15 And she arose and dressed herself out with her garments, and going in, she stood before his face.

16 And the heart of Holofernes was smitten, for he was burning with the desire of her.

17 And Holofernes said to her: Drink now, and sit down and be merry; for thou hast found favour before me.

18 And Judith said: I will drink, my lord, because my life is magnified, this day, above all days.

19 And she took, and eat and drank before him, what her maid had prepared for her.

20 And Holofernes was made merry on her occasion, and drank exceedingly much wine, so much as he had never drunk in his life.

CHAP. XIII.

Judith cutteth off the head of Holofernes, and returneth to Bethulia.

AND when it was grown late, his servants made haste to their lodgings, and Vagao shut the chamberdoors, and went his way.

2 And they were all overcharged with wine:

3 And Judith was alone in the chamber.

4 But Holofernes lay on his bed, fast asleep, being exceedingly drunk.

5 And Judith spoke to her maid to stand without be fore the chamber, and to watch:

6 And Judith stood before the bed, praying with tears, and the motion of her lips in silence,

7 Saying: Strengthen me, O Lord, God of Israel, and in this hour look on the works of my hands, that as thou hast promised, thou mayst raise up Jerusalem, thy city:

and that I may bring to pass that which I have purposed, having a belief that it might be done by thee.

8 And when she had said this, she went to the pillar that was at his bed's head, and loosed his sword that hung tied upon it.

9 And when she had drawn it out, she took him by the hair of his head, and said: Strengthen me, O Lord God, at this hour.

10 And she struck twice upon his neck, and cut off his head, and took off his canopy from the pillars, and rolled away his headless body.

11 And after a while she went out, and delivered the head of Holofernes to her maid, and bade her put it into her wallet.

12 And they two went out according to their custom, as if it were to prayer, and they passed the camp, and having compassed the valley, they came to the gate of the city.

13 And Judith, from afar off, cried to the watchmen upon the walls: Open the gates, for God is with us, who hath shown his power in Israel.

14 And it came to pass, when the men had heard her voice, that they called the ancients of the city.

15 And all ran to meet her, from the least to the greatest: for they had now no hopes that she would come.

16 And lighting up lights they all gathered round about her: and she went up to a higher place, and commanded silence to be made. And when all had held their peace,

17 Judith said: Praise ye the Lord, our God, who hath not forsaken them that hope in him.

18 And by me, his handmaid, he hath fulfilled his mercy, which he promised to the house of Israel: and he hath killed the enemy of his people, by my hand, this night.

19 Then she brought forth the head of Holofernes out of the wallet, and showed it them, saying: Behold the head of Holofernes, the general of the army of the Assyrians, and behold his canopy, wherein he lay in his drunkenness, where the Lord, our God, slew him by the hand of a woman.

20 But as the same Lord liveth, his angel hath been my keeper, both going hence, and abiding there, and returning from thence hither: and the Lord hath not suffered me, his handmaid, to be defiled, but hath brought me back to you without pollution of sin, rejoicing for his victory, for my escape, and for your deliverance.

21 Give all of you glory to him, because he is good, because his mercy endureth for ever.

22 And they all adored the Lord, and said to her: The Lord hath blessed thee by his power, because by thee he hath brought our enemies to nought.

23 And Ozius, the prince of the people of Israel, said to her: Blessed art thou, O daughter, by the Lord, the most high God, above all women upon the earth.

24 Blessed be the Lord who made heaven and earth, who hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the prince of our enemies.

25 Because he hath so magnified thy name this day, that thy praise shall not depart out of the mouth of men, who shall be mindful of the power of the Lord, for ever; for that thou hast not spared thy life, by reason of the distress and tribulation of thy people, but hast prevented our ruin in the presence of our God.

26 And all the people said: So be it, so be it.

27 And Achior, being called for, came, and Judith said to him: The God of Israel, to whom thou gavest testimony, that he revenged himself of his enemies, he hath cut off the head of all the unbelievers this night by my hand.

28 And that thou mayst find that it is so, behold the head of Holofernes, who in the contempt of his pride despised the God of Israel: and threatened thee with death, saying: When the people of Israel shall be taken, I will command thy sides to be pierced with a sword.

29 Then Achior, seeing the head of Holofernes, being seized with a great fear, he fell on his face upon the earth, and his soul swooned away.

30 But after he had recovered his spirits, he fell down at her feet, and reverenced her, and said:

31 Blessed art thou, by thy God, in every tabernacle of Jacob, for in every nation which shall hear thy name, the God of Israel shall be magnified on occasion of thee.

CHAP. XIV.

The Israelites assault the Assyrians, who, finding their general slain, are seized with a panic fear.

And Judith said to all the people: Hear me, my brethren, hang ye up this head upon our walls:

2 And as soon as the sun shall rise, let every man take his arms, and rush ye out, not as going down beneath, but as making an assault.

3 Then the watchmen must needs run to awake their prince for the battle.

4 And when the captains of them shall run to the tent

Psalm. cx. 1, and cxlv. 1.

CHAP. XIV. VER. 1. Walls. Gr. adds, "upon the pinnacle."

VER. 2. Beneath, into the valley, but make your appearance just out of the walls, as if you were rushing upon the enemy. *Gr. adds after arms, "and you shall appoint a leader over them, as if descending into the plain to the advanced guard of the Assyrians; but ye shall not go down. Then these seizing all their armour, will go to the camp, and awake the leaders of the Assyrians and they will run to the tent of Holofernes, and shall not find him. Then four shall seize upon them, and they will flee before us. Whereupon ye, and all who inhabit the confines of Israel, shall follow after, and swarm in their veins."

of Holofernes, and shall find him without his head, wallowing in his blood, fear shall fall upon them.

5 And when you shall know that they are fleeing, go after them securely, for the Lord will destroy them under your feet.

6 Then Achior, seeing the power that the God of Israel had wrought, leaving the religion of the Gentiles, he believed God, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined to the people of Israel, with all the succession of his kindred, until this present day.

7 And immediately at break of day, they hung up the head of Holofernes upon the walls, and every man took his arms, and they went out with a great noise and shouting.

8 And the watchmen, seeing this, ran to the tent of Holofernes.

9 And they that were in the tent, came and made a noise before the door of the chamber to awake him, endeavouring by art to break his rest, that Holofernes might awake, not by their calling him, but by their noise.

10 For no man durst knock, or open and go into the chamber of the general of the Assyrians.

11 But when his captains and tribunes were come, and all the chief of the army of the king of the Assyrians, they said to the chamberlains:

12 Go in, and awake him, for the mice coming out of their holes, have presumed to challenge us to fight.

13 Then Vagao going into his chamber, stood before the curtain, and made a clapping with his hands: for he thought that he was sleeping with Judith.

14 But when with heartenking, he perceived no motion of one lying, he came near to the curtain, and lifting it up, and seeing the body of Holofernes, lying upon the ground, without the head, wettering in his blood, he cried out with a loud voice, with weeping, and rent his garments.

15 And he went into the tent of Judith, and not finding her, he ran out to her.

16 And said: One Hebrew woman hath made confusion in the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold Holofernes lieth upon the ground, and his head is not upon him.

Vers. 6. Then. Gr. &c. "But before ye do this, call to me Achior, the Ammonite, that seeing, he may recognise the commander of the house of Israel, and the man who sent him away to us unto certain death. And they called Achior from the house of Oza. But as soon as he came, and saw the head of Holofernes in the hand of one of the assembly of the people, he fell," &c., as chap. xiv. 29, 30. "Blessed art thou in every tent of Judah, and in every nation. All the terrors of the earth are at thy feet. They that stand in the midst of the assembly of the people, shall exalt thee above them. But now tell me what thou hast done during these days. And Judith, in the midst of the people, informed him of all that she had performed, since the day of her departure till the time when she was speaking. She had no sooner ended her speech, than all the people set up a loud shout of joy in their city. Then," &c., ver. 18. H. H. I. - Achior, he had already considered the Deity as the peculiar God of Israel, (C,) or as the common god "revived by all" (i. e. Israelites, and those that came within their range.) He now becomes a prophet, not merely, like Naaman, to adore one God; but also to observe all the rites of the Jewish religion.

Vers. 13. Gr. "In knocking at the hall (i. e. an antechamber) of the tent, for he suspected that he was sleeping with Judith. But as he answered, he opened and went into the bed-chamber, and found him thrown upon his floor, dead, and his head taken from him, and he cried." &c.
And when she was come out to the city, they all blessed her with one voice, saying: Thou art the glory of Jerusalem, thou art the joy of Israel, thou art the honour of our people.

For thou hast done manfully, and thy heart has been strengthened, because thou hast loved chastity, and after thy husband hast not known any other; therefore, also, the hand of the Lord hath strengthened thee, and therefore thou shalt be blessed for ever.

And all the people said: So be it, so be it.

And thirty days were scarce sufficient for the people of Israel to gather up the spoils of the Assyrians.

But all those things that were proved to be the peculiar goods of Holofernes, they gave to Judith, in gold and silver, and garments, and precious stones, and all household stuff, and they all were delivered to her by the people.

And all the people rejoiced with the women and virgins, and young men, playing on instruments and harps.

Then Judith sang this canticle to the Lord, saying:

2. Begin ye to the Lord with timbrels, sing ye to the Lord with cymbals, tune unto him a new psalm, extol, and call upon his name.

3. The Lord putteth an end to wars, the Lord is his name.

4. He hath set his camp in the midst of his people, to deliver us from the hand of all our enemies.

5. The Assyrian came out of the mountains from the north in the multitude of his strength: his multitude stopped up the torrents, and their horses covered the valleys.

6. He bragged that he would set my borders on fire, and kill my young men with the sword, to make my infants a prey, and my virgins captives.

7. But the Almighty Lord hath struck him, and delivered him into the hands of a woman, and hath slain him.

8. For their mighty one did not fall by young men, neither did the sons of Titan strike him, nor tall giants oppose themselves to him, but Judith, the daughter of Merari, weakened him with the beauty of her face.

9. For she put off her the garments of widowhood, and put on her the garments of joy, to give joy to the children of Israel.

10. She anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her locks with a crown, she took a new robe to deceive him.

11. Her sandals ravished his eyes, her beauty made his soul her captive, with a sword she cut off his head.

12. The Persians quaked at her constancy, and the Medes at her boldness.

13. Then the camp of the Assyrians howled, when my lowly ones appeared, parched with thirst.

14. The sons of the damsels have pierced them through, and they have killed them like children fleeing away: they perished in battle before the face of the Lord, my God.

15. Let us sing a hymn to the Lord, let us sing a new hymn to our God.

16. O Adonai, Lord, great art thou, and glorious in thy power, and no one can overcome thee.

17. ‘Let all thy creatures serve thee: because thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou didst send forth thy Spirit, and they were created, and there is no one that can resist thy voice.

18. The mountains shall be moved from the foundations with the waters: the rocks shall melt as wax before thy face.

19. But they that fear thee, shall be great with thee in all things.

20. Woe be to the nation that riseth up against my people: for the Lord Almighty will take revenge on them; in the day of judgment he will visit them.

21. For he will give fire, and worms into their flesh, that they may burn, and may feel for ever.

Psalm xxix. 9.

Vers. 10. She. Gr. "They were gone into her apartment, they," &c.—Art she. Gr. adds, "great joy, and the great boast of our race; because thou hast done all these things with thy hand, thou hast procured the good of Israel, and God will have been pleased with them: He be blessed by the innumerable Lord for ever." H.—Judith was a figure of the blessed Virgin, to whom these praises chiefly belong. Fulbert, W.

Vers. 11. Chastity, &c. This is not in Syr., &c., and though generally speaking, celibacy was not esteemed honourable among the Jews; yet chastity was so much the more admired, as it was more uncommon. A widow was deserving of praise for not lightly entering upon a second marriage. C.

Vers. 13. Thirty. Gr. "And the people plundered the camp thirty (Syri. three) days." The camp of the Assyrians was in various places, and the people waited a month before they began to divide the spoils among all, according to their laws. Num. xxxi. 27, and 1 Kings xxx. 24, C.

Vers. 14. But. Gr. "And they gave to Judith the tent of Holofernes, and all the silver plate, and beds, and basins, and all his furniture, which she taking, placed upon her mule, and put to her chariot, and bared them therein; and every woman of Israel ran to see them, and they blessed her, and danced in her honour. Then she took some thyme (H. or branches entwined with ivy, &c. C.) in her hands, and gave to those women who accompanied her; and they crowned with olive both her and her attendant; (maid., or Alex. Sept. "and she was crowned with olive, and her mule;"") Grabe substitutes "female companions;"") and she brought before many people, leading the dance of all the women; and every man of Israel followed in joy with garlands, and with hymns in their mouth. Then," &c. Clap. xvi. H.—The bearing of green branches on such occasions was very common. Lev. xxiii. 40; 2 Sam. x. 7; Matt. xxvi. 6.—The processions of the Church often admit of similar ornaments in honour of God, (T.) and to promote prayer. H.

chap. xvi. Ver. 1. Sing. Gr. "Gave out this composition, in all Israel: and all the people of Israel is praises of her." (C.) or "repeating the whole after her, or singing the first verse as a chorus. Exod. xlv. 20; 1 Kings xvii. 6; 1 Par. xxvi. 8. C.—Saying. Gr. "And Judith said: Depth ye to my Lord." H.—It is time for us to break silence, and to sound forth the praises of God. C.
And it came to pass after these things, that all the people, after the victory, came to Jerusalem to adore the Lord: and as soon as they were purified, they all offered holocausts, and vows, and their promises.

And Judith offered for an anathema of oblivion all the arms of Holofernes, which the people gave her, and the canopy that she had taken away out of his chamber.

And the people were joyful in the sight of the sanctuary, and for three months the joy of this victory was celebrated with Judith.

And after those days each man returned to his house, and Judith was made great in Bethulia, and she was most renowned in all the land of Israel.

And chastity was joined to her virtue, so that she knew no man all the days of her life, after the death of Manasses, her husband.

And on festival days she came forth with great glory.

And she abode in her husband's house a hundred and five years, and made her handmaid free, and she died, and was buried with her husband in Bethulia.

And all the people mourned for seven days.

And all the time of her life there was none that troubled Israel, nor many years after her death.

But the day of the festivity of this victory is received by the Hebrews in the number of holy days, and is religiously observed by the Jews, from that time until this day.

Seventy days. The usual term (Eccl. xxil. 13); but it was extraordinary for the whole province (C.) to mourn for an individual. Gr. and Syr. add, "And she divided all her possessions, before her death, among the nearest relations of her husband, Manasses, and among her own." (H.): which was very equitable, and agreeable to Jewish custom.

Years. Gr. "days." See the prof. H. Judith was a widow near seventy years, showing an excellent pattern to all in that state. Notwithstanding the many inducements which she might have had to marry again, she chose to abstain, for greater perfection. Matt. xix. and I Cor. vii. 5. From the death of Holofernes (3348) to that of Josias, (3934), only forty-six years of peace would occur in Judah. Hence Hardwicke would suppose that the text speaks of the kingdom of Israel. But it would be hard to prove that it existed at that time, after the ten tribes had been led away. A. 5926. As the Scripture does not specify how old Judith was when she addressed Holofernes, (C.) she might be sixty-five. Titre. If, therefore, we should make this peace last till the coming of Nabuchodonosor to attack Jerusalem, about forty-six years might elapse before the period here assigned. C. It is, however, much more probable (H.) that the peace subsisted from the 11th of Manasses to the death of Josias, seventy-three (Gr. seventy-eight) years (T.) and that she was not above forty when she performed her exploit; as she was then styled a beautiful girl, (chap. xii. 12), and many desired to marry her. H.

At this point, the book of Esther begins. The book of Esther is a historical narrative that focuses on the deliverance of the Jews from the筹划 of Haman, a Persian official. The story is set in Susa, the capital of the Persian Empire, and involves themes of love, courage, and political manipulation. The book begins with the reign of Ahasuerus (Ahasuerus was the ancient name for Xerxes), who was the king of Persia. The story then follows the life of Esther, a Jewish woman who becomes the queen of Persia after convincing Ahasuerus to spare her people.

The book of Esther is written in the form of a historical narrative, rather than a theological or didactic work. It is known for its use of symbolism and allegory, and it has been interpreted in various ways throughout history. Some have seen it as a story of God's providence, while others have seen it as a moral tale about the importance of courage and wisdom in the face of adversity.

The book of Esther is an example of the historical genre that flourished in the Persian period. It is a story of the past, told in a way that reflects the values and beliefs of the time. It is a story of the triumph of good over evil, of the power of love over hate, and of the importance of faith and courage.

In the days of Assuerus, who reigned from India to Ethiopia over a hundred and twenty-seven provinces:

2 When he sat on the throne of his kingdom, the city Susan was the capital of his kingdom.

3 Now in the third year of his reign he made a great feast for all the princes and for his servants, for the most mighty of the Persians, and the nobles of the Medes, and the governors of the provinces, in his sight.

4 That he might show the riches of his glory to his kingdom, and the greatness, and boasting of his power, for a long time, to wit, for a hundred and fourscore days.

5 And when the days of the feast were expired, he invited all the people that were found in Susan, from the greatest to the least: and commanded a feast to be made seven days in the court of the garden, and of the wood, which was planted by the care and the hand of the king.

6 And there were hung up on every side sky-coloured, and green, and violet hangings, fastened with cords of silk, and of purple, which were put into rings of ivory, and were held up with marble pillars. The beds, also, were of gold and silver, placed in order upon a floor, paved with porphyry and white marble: which was embellished with painting of wonderful variety.

7 And they that were invited, drank in golden cups, and the meats were brought in divers vessels, one after another. Wine, also, in abundance and of the best was presented, as was worthy of a king's magnificence.

8 Neither was there any one to compel them to drink that were not willing, but as the king had appointed, who set over every table one of his nobles, that every man might take what he would.

9 Also Vasti, the queen, made a feast for the women in the palace, where king Assuerus was used to dwell.

10 Now on the seventh day, when the king was merry, and after very much drinking, was well warmed with wine, he commanded Maunam, and Bazatha, and Harbona, and Bagatha, and Abgatha, and Zethar, and Chars, the seven eunuchs that served in his presence,

11 To bring in queen Vasti before the king, with the crown set upon her head, to show her beauty to all the people, and the princes: for she was exceedingly beautiful.

12 But she refused, and would not come at the king's commandment, who had signified to her by the eunuchs. Whereupon the king, being angry, and inflamed with a very great fury,

13 Asked the wise men, who, according to the custum of the kings, were always near his person, and all he did was by their counsel, who knew the laws, and judgments of their forefathers:

14 (Now the chief and nearest him were, Charsenas, and Setrah, and Adamas, and Tarsis, and Mares, and Marsana, and Mammedan, seven princes of the Persians and of the Medes, who saw the face of the king, and were used to sit first after him.)

15 What sentence ought to pass upon Vasti, the queen, who had refused to obey the commandment of king Assuerus, which he had sent to her by the eunuchs?

16 And Mammedan answered, in the hearing of the king and the princes: Queen Vasti hath not only injured the king, but also all the people and princes that are in all the provinces of king Assuerus.

17 For this deed of the queen will go abroad to all women, so that they will despise their husbands, and will say: King Assuerus commanded that queen Vasti should come to him, and she would not.

18 And by this example, all the wives of the princes of the Persians, and the Medes, will slight the command ments of their husbands: wherefore, the king's indignation is just.

19 If it please thee, let an edict go out from thy presence, and let it be written according to the law of the Persians, and of the Medes, which must not be altered, that Vashti come in no more to the king, but another, that is better than she, be made queen in her place.

20 And let this be published through all the provinces of thy empire, (which is very wide,) and let all wives, as well of the greater as of the lesser, give honour to their husbands.

21 His counsel pleased the king, and the princes: and the king did according to the counsel of Manucham.

22 And he sent letters to all the provinces of his kingdom, as every nation could hear and read, in divers languages and characters, that the husbands should be rulers and masters in their houses: and that this should be published to every people.

ACHAP. II.

Esther is advanced to be queen. Mardochai detects a plot against the king.

AFTER this, when the wrath of king Assuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what she had suffered:

2 And the king's servants and his officers said: Let young women be sought for the king, virgins, and beautiful.

3 And let some persons be sent through all the provinces to look for beautiful maidens and virgins: and let them bring them to the city of Susan, and put them into the house of the women, under the hand of Egeus, the eunuch, who is the overseer and keeper of the king's women, and let them receive women's ornaments, and other things necessary for their use.

4 And whosoever among them shall please the king's eyes, let her be queen instead of Vashti. The word pleased the king: and he commanded it should be done as they had suggested.

5 There was a man in the city of Susan, a Jew, named Mardochai, the son of Jair, the son of Semei, the son of Cis, of the race of Jemini,

6 Who had been carried away from Jerusalem at the

"ough of contempt and Indignation." This may be referred either to the king or to the women's husbands. The example will prove a source of constant quarrels.

hand, when Esther, the daughter of Abihail, the brother of Mordecai, whom he had adopted for his daughter, was to go in to the king. But she sought not women's ornaments, and whatsoever Eguz, the eunuch, the keeper of the virgins, had a mind, she gave her to adorn her. For she was exceedingly fair, and her incredible beauty made her appear agreeable, and amiable, in the eyes of all.

16 So she was brought to the chamber of king Assuerus, the tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

17 And the king loved her more than all the women, and she had favour and kindness before him above all the women, and he set the royal crown on her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

18 And he commanded a magnificent feast to be prepared for all the princes, and for his servants, for the marriage and wedding of Esther. And he gave rest to all the provinces, and bestowed gifts according to princely magnificence.

19 And when the virgins were sought the second time, and gathered together, Mordecai stayed at the king's gate,

20 Neither had Esther as yet declared her country, and people, according to his commandment. For whatsoever he commanded, Esther observed: and she did all things in the same manner as she was wont at that time, when he brought her up a little one.

21 At that time, therefore, when Mordecai abode at the king's gate, Bagathan, and Thares, two of the king's eunuchs, who were porters, and presided in the first entry of the palace, were angry: and they designed to rise up against the king, and to kill him.

22 And Mordecai had notice of it, and immediately he told it to queen Esther: and she to the king in Mordecai's name, who had reported the thing unto her.

23 It was inquired into, and found out: and they were both hanged on a gibbet. And it was put in the histories, and recorded in the chronicles before the king.

Anna, advanced by the king, is offended at Mordecai, and therefore proceeds the king's decree to destroy the whole nation of the Jews.

AFTER these things, king Assuerus advanced Aman, the son of Amadathi, who was of the race of Agag; and he set his throne above all the princes that were with him.

2 All and the king's servants, that were at the doors of the palace, bent their knees, and worshipped Aman: for so the emperor had commanded them; only Mordecai did not bend his knee, nor worship him.

3 And the king's servants that were chief at the doors of the palace, said to him: Why dost thou alone not observe the king's commandment?

4 And when they were saying this often, and he would not hearken to them, they told Aman, desirous to know whether he would continue in his resolution: for he had told them that he was a Jew.

5 Now when Aman had heard this, and had proved by experience that Mordecai did not bend his knee to him, nor worship him, he was exceedingly angry.

6 And he counted it as nothing to lay his hands upon Mordecai alone: for he had heard that he was of the nation of the Jews, and he chose rather to destroy all the nation of the Jews that were in the kingdom of Assuerus.

7 In the first month, (which is called Nisan,) in the twelfth year of the reign of Assuerus, the lot was cast into an urn, which, in Hebrew, is called Phur, before Aman, on what day and what month the nation of the Jews should be destroyed: and there came out the twelfth month, which is called Adar.

8 And Aman said to king Assuerus: There is a people scattered through all the provinces of thy kingdom, and separated one from another, that use new laws and ceremonies, and moreover despise the king's ordinances: and thou knowest very well that it is not expedient for thy kingdom that they should grow insolent by impunity.

9 If it please thee, decree that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents to thy treasurers.
And the king took the ring that he used, from his own hand, and gave it to Aman, the son of Amadathil, of the race of Agag, the enemy of the Jews,

And he said to him: As to the money which you promised, keep it for thyself: and as to the people, do with them as seemeth good to thee.

And the king's scribes were called in the first month, Nisan, on the thirteenth day of the same month: and they wrote, as Aman had commanded, to all the king's lieutenants, and to the judges of the provinces, and of divers nations, as every nation could read, and hear, according to their different languages, in the name of king Assuerus; and the letters, sealed with his ring.

Were sent by the king's messengers to all provinces, to kill and destroy all the Jews, both young and old, little children, and women, in one day, that is, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, which is called Adar, and to make a spoil of their goods.

And the contents of the letters were to this effect, that all provinces might know, and be ready against that day.

The couriers, that were sent, nade haste to fulfil the king's commandment. And, immediately, the edict was hung up in Susan, the king and Aman feasting together, and all the Jews, that were in the city, weeping.

CHAP. IV.

Mardochai desireth Esther to petition the king for the Jews. They join in fasting and prayer.

NOW when Mardochai had heard these things, he rent his garments, and put on sackcloth, strewing ashes on his head: and he cried with a loud voice in the street, in the midst of the city, showing the anguish of his mind.

And he came, lamenting in this manner, even to the gate of the palace: for no one clothed with sackcloth might enter the king's court.

And in all provinces, towns, and places, to which the king's cruel edict was come, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, wailing, and weeping, many using sackcloth and ashes for their bed.

Then Esther's maids, and her eunuchs, went in, and told her. And when she heard it, she was in a consternation: and she sent a garment, to clothe him, and to take away the sackcloth: but he would not receive it.

And she called for Athach, the eunuch, whom the king had appointed to attend upon her, and she commanded him to go to Mardochai, and to learn of him, why he did this.

And Athach going out, went to Mardochai, who was standing in the street of the city, before the palace gate:

And Mardochai told him all that had happened, how Aman had promised to pay money into the king's treasures to have the Jews destroyed.

He gave him, also, a copy of the edict which was hanging up in Susan, that he should show it to the queen, and admonish her to go in to the king, and to entreat him for her people.

And Athach went back and told Esther all that Mardochai had said.

She answered him, and bade him say to Mardochai:

All the king's servants, and all the provinces that are under his dominion, know that whosoever, whether man or woman, cometh into the king's inner court, who is not called for, is immediately to be put to death without any delay: except the king shall hold out the golden sceptre to him, in token of clemency, that so he may live. How then can I go in to the king, who, for these thirty days now, have not been called unto him?

And when Mardochai had heard this,

He sent word to Esther again, saying: Think not that thou mayest save thy life only, because thou art in the king's house, more than all the Jews:

For if thou wilt now hold thy peace, the Jews shall be delivered by some other occasion: and thou, and thy father's house shall perish. And who knoweth whether thou art not, therefore, come to the kingdom, that thou mightest be ready in such a time as this?

And again Esther sent to Mardochai in these words:

Go, and gather together all the Jews whom thou shalt find in Susan, and pray ye for me. Neither eat, nor drink, for three days and three nights: and I, with my handmaids, will fast in like manner, and then I will... go in to the king, against the law, not being called, and expose myself to death and to danger.
17 So Mardoehai went, and did all that Esther had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

Esther is graciously received; she inviteth the king and Aman to dinner; Aman prepareth a gibbet for Mardoehai.

AND on the third day Esther put on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the king’s house, over against the king’s hall: now he sat upon his throne in the hall of the palace, over against the door of the house.
2 And when he saw Esther, the queen, standing, she pleased his eyes, and he held out toward her the golden sceptre, which he held in his hand: and she drew near, and kissed the top of his sceptre.
3 And the king said to her: What wilt thou, queen Esther? what is thy request? if thou shouldst even ask one half of the kingdom, it shall be given to thee.
4 But she answered: If it please the king, I beseech thee to come to me this day, and Aman with thee, to the banquet which I have prepared.
5 And the king said forthwith: Call ye Aman quickly, that he may obey Esther’s will. So the king and Aman came to the banquet which the queen had prepared for them.
6 And the king said to her, after he had drank wine plentifully: What dost thou desire should be given thee? and for what thing askest thou? although thou shouldst ask the half of my kingdom, thou shalt have it.
7 And Esther answered: My petition and request is this:
8 If I have found favour in the king’s sight, and if it please the king to give me what I ask, and to fulfill my petition: let the king and Aman come to the banquet which I have prepared them, and to-morrow I will open my mind to the king.
9 So Aman went out that day joyful and merry. And when he saw Mardoehai sitting before the gate of the palace, and that he not only did not rise up to honour him, but did not so much as move from the place where he sat, he was exceedingly angry:
10 But dissembling his anger, and returning into his house, he called together to him his friends, and Zares, his wife:

12 And after this he said: Queen Esther also hath invited no other to the banquet with the king, but me: and with her I am also to dine to-morrow, with the king.
13 And whereas I have all these things, I think I have nothing, so long as I see Mardoehai, the Jew, sitting before the king’s gate.
14 Then Zares, his wife, and the rest of his friends, answered him: Order a great beam to be prepared, fifty cubits high, and in the morning speak to the king, that Mardoehai may be hanged upon it, and so thou shalt go full of joy with the king to the banquet. The counsel pleased him, and he commanded a high gibbet to be prepared.

CHAP. VI.

The king hearing the good service done him by Mardoehai, commandeth Aman to honour him next to the king, which he performeth.

THAT night the king passed without sleep, and he commanded the histories and chronicles of former times to be brought him. And when they were reading them before him,
2 They came to that place where it was written, how Mardoehai had discovered the treason of Bagathan and Thares, the eunuchs, who sought to kill king Assuerus.
3 And when the king heard this, he said: What honour and reward hath Mardoehai received for this fidelity? His servants and ministers said to him. He has received no reward at all.
4 And the king said immediately: Who is in the court? for Aman was coming in to the inner court of the king’s house, to speak to the king, that he might order Mardoehai to be hanged upon the gibbet which was prepared for him.
5 The servants answered: Aman standeth in the court. And the king said: Let him come in.
6 And when he was come in, he said to him: What ought to be done to the man whom the king is desirous to honour? But Aman thinking in his heart, and supposing that the king would honour no other but himself,
7 Answered: The man whom the king desireth to honour,

10 And the king said to him: Make haste and take the robe and the horse, and do as thou hast spoken to Mardochai, the Jew, who sitteth before the gates of the palace. Beware thou pass over any of those things which thou hast spoken.

11 So Aman took the robe and the horse, and arraying Mardochai in the street of the city, and setting him on the horse, went before him, and proclaimed: This honour is he worthy of, whom the king hath a mind to honour.

12 And Mardochai returned to the palace gate; and Aman made haste to go to his house, mourning, and having his head covered.

13 And he told Zares, his wife, and his friends, all that had befallen him. And the wise men whom he had in counsel, and his wife answered him: If Mardochai be of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou canst not resist him, but thou shalt fall in his sight.

14 As they were yet speaking, the king’s eunuchs came, and compelled him to go quickly to the banquet which the queen had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

Esther’s petition for herself and her people: Aman is hanged upon the gibbet he had prepared for Mardochai.

8* the king and Aman went in to drink with the queen.

2 And the king said to her again the second day, after he was warm with wine: What is thy petition, Esther, that it may be granted thee? and what wilt thou have done? although thou ask the half of my kingdom, thou shalt have it.

3 Then she answered: If I have found favour in thy sight, O king, and if it please thee, give me my life for which I ask, and my people for which I request.

CHAP. VIII.

4 For we are given up, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. And would God we were sold for bond-men and bond-women: the evil might be borne with, and I would have mourned in silence: but now we have an enemy, whose cruelty redoundeth upon the king.

5 And king Assuerus answered, and said: Who is this and of what power, that he should do these things?

6 And Esther said: It is this Aman that is our adversary and worst wicked enemy. Aman hearing this was forthwith astonished, not being able to bear the countenance of the king and of the queen.

7 But the king being angry rose up, and went from the place of the banquet into the garden set with trees. Aman also rose up, to entreat Esther, the queen, for his life, for he understood that evil was prepared for him by the king.

8 And when the king came back out of the garden set with trees, and entered into the place of the banquet, he found Aman was fallen upon the bed on which Esther lay and he said: He will force the queen, also, in my presence, in my own house. The word was not yet gone out of the king’s mouth, and immediately they covered his face.

9 And Harbona, one of the eunuchs that stood waiting on the king, said: Behold the gibbet which he hath prepared for Mardochai, who spoke for the king, standeth in Aman’s house, being fifty cubits high. And the king said to him: Hang him upon it.

10 So Aman was hanged upon the gibbet which he had prepared for Mardochai: and the king’s wrath ceased.

CHAP. VII.

Mardochai is advanced: Aman’s letters are reversed.

9* that day king Assuerus gave the house of Aman, the Jews’ enemy, to queen Esther, and Mardochai came in before the king. For Esther had confessed to him that he was her uncle.

2 And the king took the ring which he had commanded to be taken again from Aman, and gave it to Mardochai. And Esther set Mardochai over her house.

3 And not content with these things, she fell down at the king's feet and wept, and speaking to him, besought him that he would give orders that the malice of Aman, the Agagite, and his most wicked devices which he had invented against the Jews, should be of no effect.

4 But he, as the manner was, held out the golden sceptre with his hand, which was the sign of clemency: and she arose up and stood before him,

5 And said: If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and my request be not disagreeable to him, I beseech thee, that the former letters of Aman, the traitor, and enemy of the Jews, by which he commanded that they should be destroyed in all the king's provinces, may be reversed by new letters.

6 For how can I endure the murdering and slaughter of my people?

7 And king Assuerus answered Esther, the queen, and Mordecai, the Jew: I have given Aman's house to Esther, and I have commanded him to be hanged on a gibbet, because he durst lay hands on the Jews.

8 Write ye, therefore, to the Jews, as it pleaseth you in the king's name, and seal the letters with my ring. For this was the custom, that no man durst gainsay the letters which were sent in the king's name, and were sealed with his ring.

9 Then the king's scribes and secretaries were called for (now it was the time of the third month, which is called Sivan) the three and twentieth day of the month, and letters were written, as Mordecai had a mind, to the Jews, and to the governors, and to the deputies, and to the judges, who were rulers over the hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India even to Ethiopia: to province and province, to people and people, according to their languages and characters, and to the Jews, according as they could read and hear.

10 And these letters which were sent in the king's name, were sealed with his ring, and sent by posts: who were to run through all the provinces, to prevent the former letters with new messages.

11 And the king gave orders to them, to speak to the Jews in every city, and to command them to gather themselves together, and to stand for their lives, and to kill and destroy all their enemies, with their wives and children, and all their houses, and to take their spoil.

12 And one day of revenge was appointed through all the provinces, to wit, the thirteenth of the twelfth month, Adar.

13 And this was the content of the letter, that it should be notified in all lands and peoples that were subject to the empire of king Assuerus, that the Jews were ready to be revenged of their enemies.

14 So the swift posts went out carrying the messages, and the king's edict was hung up in Susan.

15 And Mordecai going forth out of the palace, and from the king's presence, shone in royal apparel, to wit, of violet and sky-colour, wearing a golden crown on his head, and clothed with a cloak of silk and purple. And all the city rejoiced, and was glad.

16 But to the Jews a new light seemed to rise, joy, honour, and dancing.

17 And in all peoples, cities, and provinces, whithersoever the king's commandments came, there was wonderful rejoicing of feasts, and banquets, and keeping holyday; insomuch that many of other nations and religion, joined themselves to their worship and ceremonies. For a great dread of the name of the Jews had fallen upon all.

CHAP. IX.

The Jews kill their enemies that would have killed them. The days of Phurim are appointed to be kept holy.

So on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which, as we have said above, is called Adar, when all the Jews were designed to be massacred, and their enemies were greedy after their blood, the case being altered, the Jews began to have the upper hand, and to revenge themselves of their adversaries.

2 And they gathered themselves together in every city, and town, and place, to lay their hands on their enemies, and their persecutors. And no one durst withstand them for the fear of their power had gone through every people.

3 And the judges of the provinces, and the governors, and lieutenants, and every one in dignity, that presided over every place and work, extolled the Jews, for fear of Mordecai:

4 For they knew him to be prince of the palace, and to have great power: and the fame of his name increased daily, and was spread abroad through all men's mouths.

5 So the Jews made a great slaughter of their enemies, and killed them, repaying according to what they had prepared to do to them.

6 Insomuch that even in Susan they killed five hundred men, besides the ten sons of Aman, the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews: whose names are these:...
Pharsandatha, and Delphon, and Esphatha,
And Pheremest, and Arisai, and Ariadai, and Jezatha.
And when they had slain them, they would not touch the spoils of their goods.
And presently the number of them that were killed in Susan was brought to the king.

And he said to the queen: The Jews have killed five hundred men in the city of Susan, besides the ten sons of Aman: how many dost thou think they have slain in all the provinces? What askest thou more, and what wilt thou have me to command to be done?

And she answered: If it please the king, let it be granted to the Jews, to do to-morrow, in Susan, as they have done to-day, and that the ten sons of Aman may be hanged upon gibbets.

And the king commanded that it should be so done. And forthwith the edict was hung up in Susan, and the ten sons of Aman were hanged.

And on the fourteenth day of the month Adar, the Jews gathered themselves together, and they killed, in Susan, three hundred men: but they took not their substance.

Moreover, through all the provinces which were subject to the king's dominion, the Jews stood for their lives, and slew their enemies and persecutors: insomuch that the number of them that were killed amounted to seventy-five thousand, and no man took any of their goods.

Now the thirteenth day of the month, Adar, was the first day with them all of the slaughter, and on the fourteenth day they left off. Which they ordained to be kept holyday, so that all times hereafter they should celebrate it with feasting, joy, and banquets.

But they that had killed in the city of Susan, were employed in the slaughter in the thirteenth and fourteenth day of the same month: and on the fifteen day they rested. And, therefore, they appointed that day to be a holyday of feasting and gladness.

But those Jews that dwelt in towns, not walled, and in villages, appointed the fourteenth day of the month, Adar, for banquets and gladness, so as to rejoice on that day, and send one another portions of their banquets and meats.

And Mardochoi wrote all these things, and sent them comprised in letters to the Jews that abode in all the king's provinces, both those that lay near, and those afar off.

That they should receive the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month, Adar, for holydays, and always, at the return of the year, should celebrate them with solemn honour:

Because, on those days, the Jews revenged themselves of their enemies, and their mourning and sorrow were turned into mirth and joy, and that these should be days of feasting and gladness, in which they should send one to another portions of meats, and should give gifts to the poor.

And the Jews undertook to observe, with solemnity, all that they had begun to do at that time, which Mardochoi, by letters, had commanded to be done.

For Aman, the son of Amadai, the race of Agag, the enemy and adversary of the Jews, had devised evil against them, to kill them, and destroy them: and had cast Phur, that is, the lot.

And, afterwards, Esther went in to the king, beseeching him that his endeavours might be made void by the king's letters: and the evil that he had intended against the Jews, might return upon his own head. And so both he and his sons were hanged upon gibbets.

And since that time, these days are called Phurim, that is, of lots: because Phur, that is, the lot, was cast into the urn. And all things that were done, are contained in the volume of this epistle, that is, of this book:

And the things that they suffered, and that were afterwards changed, the Jews took upon themselves and their seed, and upon all that had a mind to be joined to their religion, so that it should be lawful for none to pass these days without solemnity: which the writing testifieth and certain times require, as the years continually succeed one another.

These are the days which shall never be forgot: and which all provinces in the whole world shall celebrate throughout all generations: neither is there any city wherein the days of Phurim, that is, of lots, must not be observed by the Jews, and by their posterity, which is bound to these ceremonies.

And Esther, the queen, the daughter of Abihai, and Mardochoi, the Jew, wrote also a second epistle, that with all diligence, this day should be established a festival for the time to come.
And king Assuerus made all the land, and all the islands of the sea, tributary.

And his strength and his empire, and the dignity and greatness wherewith he exalted Mordecai, are written in the books of the Medes, and of the Persians:

And how Mordecai, of the race of the Jews, was next after king Assuerus: and great among the Jews, and acceptable to the people of his brethren, seeking the good of his people, and speaking those things which were for the welfare of his seed.

Then Mordecai said: God hath done these things.

I remember a dream that I saw, which signified these same things: and nothing thereof hath failed.

The little fountain which grew into a river, and was turned into a light, and into the sun, and abounded into many waters, is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen.

But the two dragons; are I, and Aman.

The nations that were assembled: are they that endeavoured to destroy the name of the Jews.

And my nation; is Israel, who cried to the Lord, and the Lord saved his people: and he delivered us from all evils, and hath wrought great signs and wonders among the nations.

CHAP. XI.

The dream of Mordecai, which, in the ancient Greek and Latin Bible, was in the beginning of the book, but was detached by S. Jerome, and put in this place.

In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest, and of the Levitical race, and Ptolemy, his son, brought this epistle of Phurim, which they said Lysmachus, the son of Ptolemy, had interpreted in Jerusalem.

In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Semei, the son of Cis, of the tribe of Benjamin:

A Jew, who dwelt in the city of Susam, a great man and among the first of the king's court, had a dream.

Now he was of the number of the captives, whom Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, had carried away from Jerusalem, with Jechonias, king of Juda:

And this was his dream: Behold there were voices and tumults, and thunders, and earthquakes, and a disturbance upon the earth.

And behold two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

And at their cry all nations were stirred up to fight against the nation of the just.

CHAP. XIII.

And that was a day of darkness and danger, of tribulation and distress, and great fear upon the earth.

And the nation of the just was troubled, fearing their own evils, and was prepared for death.

And they cried to God: and as they were crying, a little fountain grew into a very great river, and abounded into many waters.

The light and the sun rose up, and the humble were exalted, and they devised the glorious.

And when Mardochai had seen this, and arose out of his bed, he was thinking what God would do: and he kept it fixed in his mind, desirous to know what the dream should signify.

CHAP. XII.

Mardochai detects the conspiracy of the two eunuchs.

And he abode at that time in the king's court with Bagatha, and Thara, the king's eunuchs, who were porters of the palace.

And when he understood their designs, and had diligently searched into their projects, he learned that they went about to lay violent hands on king Artaxerxes, and he told the king thereof.

Then the king had them both examined: and after they had confessed, commanded them to be put to death.

But the king made a record of what was done: and Mardochai also committed the memory of the thing to writing.

And the king commanded him, to abide in the court of the palace, and gave him presents for the information.

But Aman, the son of Amadathi, the Bugite, was in great honour with the king, and sought to hurt Mardochai and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king who were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

A copy of a letter sent by Aman to destroy the Jews. Mardochai's prayer for the people.

And this was the copy of the letter. Artaxerxes, the great king, who reigneth from India to Ethiopia, to the princes and governors of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces, that are subject to his empire, greeting.

Whereas I reigned over many nations, and had brought all the world under my dominion, I was not willing to abuse the greatness of my power, but to govern my subjects with clemency and lenity, that they might live quietly without any terror, and might enjoy peace, which is desired by all men.

But when I asked my councillors how this might be accomplished, one that excelled the rest in wisdom and fidelity, and was second after the king, Aman by name, told me that there was a people scattered through the whole world, which used new laws, and acted against the customs of all nations, despised the commandments of kings, and violated by their opposition the concord of all nations.

Wherefore having learned this, and seeing one nation in opposition to all mankind, using perverse laws, and going against our commandments, and disturbing the peace and concord of the provinces subject to us,

We have commanded, that all whom Aman shall mark out, who is chief over all the provinces, and second after the king, and whom we honour as a father, shall be utterly destroyed by their enemies, with their wives and children, and that none shall have pity on them, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month, Adar, of this present year:

That these wicked men going down to hell in one day, may restore to our empire the peace which they had disturbed.

But Mardochai besought the Lord, remembering all his works,

And said: O Lord, Lord, almighty King, for all things are in thy power, and there is none that can resist thy will, if thou determine to save Israel.

Thou hast made heaven and earth, and all things that are under the cope of heaven.

Thou art Lord of all, and there is none that can resist thy majesty.

Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest that it was not out of pride and contempt, or any desire of glory that I refused to worship the proud Aman.

But I feared lest I should transfer the honour of my...

16 Despise not thy portion, which thou hast redeemed for thyself out of Egypt.

17 Hear my supplication, and be merciful to thy lot and inheritance, and turn our mourning into joy, that we may live and praise thy name, O Lord, and shut not the mouths of them that sing to thee.

18 And all Israel, with like mind and supplication, cried to the Lord, because they saw certain death hanging over their heads.

CHAP. XIV.

The prayer of Esther, for herself and her people.

QUEEN Esther, also, fearing the danger that was at hand, had recourse to the Lord.

2 And when she had laid away her royal apparel, she put on garments suitable for weeping and mourning, instead of divers precious ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body with fasts: and all the places in which before she was accustomed to rejoice, she filled with her torn hair.

3 And she prayed to the Lord, the God of Israel, saying: O my Lord, who alone art our King, help me, a desolate woman, and who have no other helper but thee.

4 My danger is in my hands.

5 "I have heard of my father that thou, O Lord, didst take Israel from among all nations, and our fathers from all their predecessors, to possess them as an everlasting inheritance, and thou hast done to them as thou hast promised.

6 We have sinned in thy sight, and therefore thou hast delivered us into the hands of our enemies:

7 For we have worshipped their gods. Thou art just, O Lord.

8 And now they are not content to oppress us with most hard bondage, but attributing the strength of their hands to the power of their idols,

9 They design to change thy promises, and destroy thy inheritance, and shut the mouths of them that praise thee, and extinguish the glory of thy temple and altar,

10 That they may open the mouths of Gentiles, and praise the strength of idols, and magnify, for ever, a carnal king.

11 Give not, O Lord, thy sceptre to them that are not, lest they laugh at our ruin: but turn their counsel upon themselves, and destroy them that hath begun to rage against us.

12 Remember, O Lord, and show thyself to us in the time of our tribulation, and give me boldness, O Lord, King of gods, and of all power:

13 Give me a well ordered speech in my mouth in the presence of the lion, and turn his heart to the hatred of our enemy, that both he himself may perish, and the rest that consent to him.

14 But deliver us by thy hand, and help me, who have no other helper but thee, O Lord, who hast the knowledge of all things.

15 And thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised, and of every stranger.

16 Thou knowest my necessity, that I abominat the sign of my pride and glory, which is upon my head in the days of my public appearance, and detest it as a monstrous rag, and wear it not in the days of my silence.

17 And that I have not eaten at Aman’s table, nor hath the king’s banquet pleased me, and that I have not drunk the wine of the drink-offerings:

18 And that thy handmaid hath never rejoiced, since I was brought hither unto this day, but in thee, O Lord, the God of Abraham.

19 O God, who art mighty above all, hear the voice of them, that have no other hope, and deliver us from the hand of the wicked, and deliver me from my fear.

CHAP. XV. VER. 1. S. Jerom says, "These additions Fulchi found in the Vulg. edition." H. This title is more accurately rendered, chap. 7. C.-S. Ester.

VER. 2. Remember. This is not here in Greek, but more regularly. Chap. 8. c.

VER. 3. Death. S. Jerom subjunct. I found there "also what follows."
upon God, the ruler and saviour of all, she took two maids with her.
6 And upon one of them she leaned, as if for delicatelyness and overmuch tenderness, she were not able to bear up her own body:
7 And the other maid followed her lady, bearing up her train flowing on the ground.
8 But she with a rosy colour in her face, and with gracious and bright eyes, hid a mind full of anguish, and exceedingly great fear.
9 So going in she passed through all the doors in order, and stood before the king, where he sat upon his royal throne, clothed with his royal robes, and glittering with gold, and precious stones, and he was terrible to behold.
10 And when he had lifted up his countenance, and with burning eyes had shown the wrath of his heart, the queen sunk down, and her colour turned pale, and she rested her weary head upon her handmaid.
11 And God changed the king's spirit into mildness, and all in haste and in fear he leaped from his throne, and holding her up in his arms, till she came to herself, caressed her with these words:
12 What is the matter, Esther? I am thy brother, fear not.
13 Thou shalt not die: for this law is not made for thee, but for all others.
14 Come near then, and touch the sceptre.
15 And as she held her peace, he took the golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, and kissed her, and said: Why dost thou not speak to me?
16 She answered: 'I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majesty.
17 For thou, my lord, art very admirable, and thy face is full of graces.
18 And while she was speaking, she fell down again, and was almost in a swoon.
19 But the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

VER. 6. As if. Gr. "as being delicate. But the other followed, holding up her garment. But she, blossoming in the height of her beauty, with a cheerful and most lovely countenance, felt the pressure of fear on her heart."

VER. 10. Eyes. Gr. adds, "with glory," with which he was surrounded. This made him at first resent the coming in of women uncalled, till he perceived Esther, and saw her fainting. H.-Ammirers had at first only perceived the maid, who went before the queen, and the hall was very spacious. Heubig.-Pale. Gr. "in a fainting fit, and she leaned upon the head of her maid, (Abra) who was going before."

VER. 15. Others, is not expressed (H.); and Esther might well suppose that she was included, as she probably was, (chap. Ir. 11. Capella,)

VER. 16. Why. Gr. "speak to me;" and she said to him." H.

VER. 20. Angel. The Chaldees had the same notions as the Jews about angels; and the latter never showed more devotion towards them than after the captivity, when the Scriptures speak more plainly on this subject. Jacob compares his brother Esau to an angel, (C.) or to God. Gen. xxxiii. 10. See also 1 Kings xxi. 9, and 2 Kings xiv. 17, H.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 1. From India to Ethiopia. That is, who reigneth from India to Ethiopia. Ch.-S. Jeron writes, "The copy of the letter of king Artaxerxes, which he wrote in favour of the Jews, to all the provinces of his kingdom, which also is not in the Heb. volume."

VER. 2. Princes. Gr. "Beneficent." Luke xxii. 25. C.-Gr. "Many of those who had been the most honoured by the kindness of the beneficent, have increased in folly, and not only endeavour to injure our subjects, but, unable to bear the weight of favours, devise schemes against their benefactors."

VER. 4. Neither. Gr. "And they not only take away gratitude from among men, but elated with good fortunes, which they had not before experienced, they flatter themselves that they will escape the sentence of an all-seeing God, levelled against the wicked." H.-Artaxerxes is not insensible to the ingratitude of Aman, as it was a crime punishable by their laws (Cyrop. 1. Brissius, p. 250.); and the Persian kings were particularly careful to reward those who had done them good. C.

VER. 6. And. Gr. "For oftentimes fair speeches, or (H.) revenge, (magnifica. Isa. 1. 24.) has made several of those who have been in authority, and intrusted with the affairs of their friends, partakers in the spilling of innocents, and involved them in iniquitous calamities, by the wicked craft of those who purposely laid astray the unsuspecting beneficence of governors." H.

VER. 7. Proved. Gr. "may be seen, not so much from ancient histories, as we have observed, but more so, if ye examine what wicked things have been done recently, by the fruit (or crushy) of those who have been unworthily in command; and if ye attend, in future, that we may without trouble settle our king's dom in peace for all men. For though we make some changes, yet we make a discernment of what falls under our inspection, and order things with more equity."

VER. 10. None. Gr. "For as Aman, of Amadathos, a Macedonian, a stranger to the real blood of the Persians, and of a very different character from our goodness, and who, through a stranger to us, partook of that philanthropy which we have for every nation, insomuch as to be stylef," H.-Staining. The fruits of ministers often redound to the disgrace of those who employ them. M. 589
12 But he was so far puffed up with arrogance, as to go about to deprive us of our kingdom and life.
13 For with certain new and unheard of devices, he hath sought the destruction of Mardochai, by whose fidelity, and good services, our life was saved; and of Esther, the partner of our kingdom, with all their nation:
14 Thinking that after they were slain, he might work treason against us, left alone, without friends, and might transfer the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians.
15 But we have found that the Jews, who were, by that most wicked man, appointed to be slain, are in no fault at all, but, contrariwise, use just laws.
16 And are the children of the highest, and the greatest, and the ever-living God; by whose benefit the kingdom was given, both to our fathers and to us, and is kept unto this day.
17 Wherefore know ye that those letters which he sent in our name, are void, and of no effect.
18 For which crime, both he himself that devised it, and all his kindred, hang on gibbets, before the gates of this city, Susan: not we, but God, repaying him as he deserved.
19 But this edict, which we now send, shall be published in all cities, that the Jews may freely follow their own laws.
20 And you shall aid them, that they may kill those who had prepared themselves to kill them, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is called Adar.
21 For the Almighty God hath turned this day of sadness and mourning into joy to them.
22 Wherefore, you shall also count this day among other festival days, and celebrate it with all joy, that it may be known also in times to come.
23 That all they who faithfully obey the Persians, receive a worthy reward for their fidelity; but they that are traitors to their kingdom, are destroyed for their wickedness.
24 And let every province and city, that will not be partaker of this solemnity, perish by the sword, and by fire, and be destroyed in such manner as to be made unpassable, both to men and beasts, for an example of contempt, and disobedience.

BOOK OF JOB.

This Book takes its name from the holy man of whom it treats; who, according to the more probable opinion, was of the race of Eneas, and the same as Jobah, king of Eznon, mentioned Gen. xxxvi. 33. It is uncertain who was the writer of it. Some attribute it to Job himself; others to Moses, or some one of the prophets. In the Hebrew it is written verse, in the beginning of the third chapter to the forty-second chapter. Ch.—The beginning and conclusion are historical, and in prose. The sacred writers speak of Job as of a personage who had really existed, (C.) and set the most noble pattern of virtue, and particularly of patience. Tob. i. 12; Ezro. xiv. 18; James v. 11.—The time when Job lived is not clearly ascertained. Some have supposed (C.) that he was a contemporary with Esther (D. Tholuck); on which supposition the work is here placed in its chronological order. But Job more probably lived during the period when the Hebrews groaned under the Egyptian bondage, (H.) or asunder in the wilderness. Num. xiv. 9. The Syrians place the book at the head of the Scriptures. C.—Its situation has often varied, and is of so great importance. The subject which is here treated, is of far more; as it is intended to show that the wicked sometimes prosper, while the good are afflicted. H.—This had seldom been witnessed before the days of Abraham: but as God had now selected his family to be witnesses and guardians of religion a new order of things was beginning to appear. This greatly perplexed Job himself; who, therefore, confesses that he had not sufficiently understood the ways of God, till He had designed to explain them in the parable of the two great beasts. Chap. xliii. 3. We cannot condemn the sentiments expressed by Job, since God has declared that they were right, (ib. ver. 8.) and reprimands Elihu, (chap. xxxvii. 2.) and the other three friends of Job, for maintaining a false opinion, though, from the history of past times, they had judged it to be true. This remark may exculpate them from the stain of wilful lying and vain delusion. Huguenot. —However, as they asserted what was false, their words of themselves are of no authority; and they are even considered as the forerunners of heretics. S. Greg., S. Aug., ccc. 7.—Job refutes them by sound logic. S. Jerome. —We may discover in this book the sum of Christian morality, (W.) for which purpose it has been chiefly explained by S. Gregory. The style is very poetical, (H.) though at the same time simple, like that of Moses. D.—It is interspersed with many Arabic and Chaldaic idioms (S. Jer.); whence some have concluded that it was written originally by Job and his friends (H.) in Arabic, and translated into Heb. by Moses, for the consolation of his brethren. W.—The Heb. text is in many places incorrect (Hebog.) and the Sept. seem to have omitted several verses. Orig. S. Jerome says almost eight hundred, (C.) each consisting of about six words. H.—Those who desire further information may consult Pindari, (W.) whose voluminous work, in two folios, will nearly (H.) give all necessary information. C.
CHAPTER I.

Job's virtue and riches. Satan, by permission from God, stripeth him of all his substance. His patience.

THERE was a man in the land of Hus, whose name was Job, and that man was simple and upright, and fearing God, and avoiding evil.

And there were born to him seven sons and three daughters.

And his possession was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she-asses, and a family exceedingly great: and this man was great among all the people of the east.

And his sons went, and made a feast by houses, every one in his day. And sending, they called their three sisters, to eat and drink with them.

And when the days of their feasting were gone about, Job sent to them, and sanctified them: and rising up early, offered holocausts for every one of them. For he said: Lost perhaps my sons have sinned, and have blessed God in their hearts. So did Job all days.

Now on a certain day, when the sons of God came to stand before the Lord, satan also was present among them.

And the Lord said to him: Whence comest thou? And he answered and said: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it.

And the Lord said to him: Hast thou considered my servant, Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a simple and upright man, and fearing God, and avoiding evil?

And satan answering, said: Doth Job fear God in vain?

10 Hath not thou made a fence for him, and his house, and all his substance round about, blessed the works of his hands, and his possession hath increased on the earth?

11 But stretch forth thy hand a little, and touch all that he hath, and see if he bless thee not to thy face.

12 Then the Lord said to satan: Behold, all that he hath is in thy hand: only put not forth thy hand upon his person. And satan went forth from the presence of the Lord.

Now upon a certain day, when his sons and daugh-

CHAP. II.

Satan, by God's permission, striketh Job with ulcers from head to foot. His patience is still invincible.

A ND it came to pass, when on a certain day the sons of God came, and stood before the Lord, and satan came amongst them, and stood in his sight.

2 That the Lord said to satan: Whence comest thou? And he answered, and said: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it.

3 And the Lord said to satan: Hast thou considered my servant, Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a man simple and upright, and fearing God, and avoiding evil?

evil, and still keeping his innocence? But thou hast moved me against him, that I should afflict him without cause.

4 And satan answered, and said: Skin for skin; and all that a man hath, he will give for his life:

5 But put forth thy hand, and touch his bone and his flesh, and then shalt thou see that he will bless thee to thy face.

6 And the Lord said to satan: Behold, he is in thy hand, but yet save his life.

7 So satan went forth from the presence of the Lord, and struck Job with a very grievous ulcer, from the sole of the foot even to the top of his head:

8 And he took a potsherder and scraped the corrupt matter, sitting on a dunghill.

9 And his wife said to him: Dost thou still continue in thy simplicity? bless God and die.

10 And he said to her: Thou hast spoken like one of the foolish women: If we have received good things at the hand of God, why should we not receive evil? In all these things Job did not sin with his lips.

11 Now when Job’s three friends heard all the evil that had befallen him, they came every one from his own place, Eliphaz, the Theemanite, and Baldad, the Suhite, and Sophar, the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment to come together and visit him, and comfort him.

12 And when they had lifted up their eyes afar off, they knew him not, and crying out, they wept, and rending their garments, they sprinkled dust upon their heads toward heaven.

13 And they sat with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and no man spoke to him a word: for they saw that his grief was very great.

JOB.

AFTER this, Job opened his mouth, and cursed his day.

2 And he said:

3 ‘Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said: A man child is conceived.

4 Let that day be turned into darkness, let not God regard it from above, and let not the light shine upon it.

5 Let darkness, and the shadow of death, cover it, let a mist overspread it, and let it be wrapped up in bitterness.

6 Let a darksome whirlwind seize upon that night, let it not be counted in the days of the year, nor numbered in the months.

7 Let that night be solitary, and not worthy of praise.

8 Let them curse it who curse the day, who are ready to raise up a levitaian:

9 Let the stars be darkened with the mist thereof: let it expect light, and not see it, nor the rising of the dawn of the day:

10 Because it shut not up the doors of the womb that bore me, nor took away evils from my belly.

11 Why did I not die in the womb? why did I not perish when I came out of the belly?

12 Why received upon the knees? why sucked at the breasts?

13 For now I should have been asleep and still, and should have rest in my sleep:

14 With kings and consuls of the earth, who build themselves solitudes.

15 Or with princes, that possess gold, and fill their houses with silver:

16 Or as a hidden untimely birth, I should not be; or as they that, being conceived, have not seen the light.

17 There the wicked cease from tumult, and there the wearied in strength are at rest.

18 And they sometime bound together without dispute, have not heard the voice of the oppressor.

* Ex. xxv. 14.

CHAP. III.

VER. 4. Skin: a proverbial expression, denoting that a man will part with any thing sooner than his life, (C.,) or health. H.—Satan hints that if those inestimable blessings should be endangered, (G.) Job would show his real sentiments. H.

VER. 8. Patcherd. His nails were worn, and poverty had left him nothing else. Dunghill. Heb. “abases.” H.—Chrysostom represents this place as visited by pilgrims, instructive and more brilliant than any throne. Hom. 5, ad Pop. Ant. Sept. add, “unto the dunghill, without the city: and after a long time had elapsed, his wife also said to him, How long wilt thou wait, saying: Lo, I will stir up a little while, expecting the hope of my salvation? For beholding thy memory is perished from the land, thy sons and daughters, the pains and labours of my womb, whom I brought forth in labour and sorrow, to no purpose. But thou sittest in the open air, the night long, amid the corruption of worms, while I wander like a slave, seeking for one place and house after another, in expectation of the day setting, that my labours may cease, and the sorrows which now surround and hold me fast. But speak thou some word to (or against) the Lord, and die.” H.—This addition has been omitted in the Camp. edition, to make it like the Vulg., (C.,) though it is found in all the Greek copies (2) and Fathers, and also in several Latin Vulg. It seems, however, to be only a close of some transcriber.

VER. 9. Bless. She speaks with cruel irony. C.—Curse God, that he may take away (S. Basul) thy miserable life; or, after taking this revenge on such unjust treatment, put an end to thy own existence. Beza and Ammassa excuse this woman, though condemned by Job. They pretend that she only meant to instigate, like the rest of his friends, that he must be guilty of some grievous crime, which she urged him to confess, giving glory to God, before it be too late. H.

VER. 12. Heaven. This denoted mourning or indigination. Jos. vii. 6; Acts xxvii. 23.

VER. 13. Seven days. &c. They sat with him for a good part of the day, and of the night, during seven days: and spoke nothing all that time that could give him any uneasiness. Ch. M. Olympiad.—They mortured him for as if he had been dead, Their mutual grief was too great for utterance. But the text seems to

CHAP. III.
19 The small and great are there, and the servant is free from his master.
20 Why is light given to him that is in misery, and life to them that are in bitterness of soul?
21 That look for death, and cometh not, as they that dig for a treasure:
22 And they rejoice exceedingly when they have found the grave?
23 To a man whose way is hidden, and God hath surrounded him with darkness?
24 Before I was born, I knew it: and as by the forcing of waters, so is my roaring:
25 For the fear which I feared, came upon me:
26 Have I not dissembled? have I not kept silence? have I not been quiet? and indignation is come upon me.

CHAP. IV.

Then Eliphaz the Theban, answered and said:
2 If we begin to speak to thee, perhaps thou wilt take it ill; but who can withhold the words he hath conceived?
3 Behold thou hast taught many, and thou hast strengthened the weary hands:
4 Thy words have confirmed them that were staggering, and thou hast strengthened the trembling knees:
5 But now the scourge is come upon thee, and thou faintest: It hath touched thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Where is thy fear, thy fortitude, thy patience, and his perfection of thy ways?
7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished being innocent? or when were the just destroyed?
8 On the contrary, I have seen those who work iniquity, and sow sorrows, and reap them,

VER. 21. Not. They feel the same eagerness for death as those who seek for a treasure (C); and when death is at hand, they rejoice no less than those who do so for the prize, because they hope to find some riches, ver. 15, 22.
VER. 22. Grave, full of stores, or the place where they may repose her.
VER. 23. To. Why is life given to? etc. The uncertainty whether a man shall be worthy of love or hatred, (Ex. ix. 1,) and whether he will persevere to the end, is what fills Job with distress: though we must trust that God will suffer none to be tempted above their strength. 1 Cor. x. 13. He finds himself surrounded with precipices, and in the dark. C—So God often tries his faithful servants.
VER. 25. Fear. In prosperity he feared the assaults of pride. Now he is in danger of yielding to impatience and despair. C.
VER. 26. Dissembled my sufferings, making no complaint, not only during the seven days that his friends had been with him, but long before. Heb. and Sept. "I was not in safety, nor at rest; neither was I indolent (H, in the administration of affiirs, C); yet trouble came." H—I have enjoyed no peace, since the day on which (as you think?) I was found. C—in such a situation Job might well beg to be delivered, (H,) and to pray that those things which obstructed his repose in God might be removed; considering them not so much the works of God, as the effects of sin. Pindar, W—In this light he curses his birth-day, and will no longer look upon it as a joyful and happy day. D.

CHAP. IV. VER. 1. Thebanite. People of this city, about twelve miles from Petra, in Arabia, were renowned for wisdom. Jer. xliv. 7; Bar. iii. 22. Eliphaz attempts to prove that no innocent person is chastised. He does not speak of small faults, to which any person may be exposed, and which God may severely punish. But he will have Job to be a great offender, at least in secret, and representeth himself as too advantagous a light; though he was really a good man, and meant well. C—but this did not exempt him from sin, (chap. xxiii,) no more than Elia. Chap. xxxiii.

VER. 5. And thou. Sept. "and has touched thee. But thou mayest haste." (H,) to run. Heb. "art consternated. We may easily prescribe for others, but when we are sick we know not what to do. G."
3 I have seen a fool with a strong root, and I cursed his beauty immediately.
4 His children shall be far from safety, and shall be destroyed in the gate, and there shall be none to deliver them.
5 Whose harvest the hungry shall eat, and the armed man shall take by violence, and the thirsty shall drink up his riches.
6 Nothing upon earth is done without a cause, and sorrow doth not spring out of the ground.
7 Man is born to labour, and the bird to fly.
8 Wherefore I will pray to the Lord, and address my speech to God:
9 Who doth great things, and unsearchable and wonderful things without number:
10 Who giveth rain upon the face of the earth, and watereth all things with waters:
11 Who setteth up the humble on high, and comforteth with health those that mourn:
12 Who bringeth to nought the designs of the malignant, so that their hands cannot accomplish what they had begun:
13 Who catcheth the wise in their craftiness, and disappointeth the counsel of the wicked:
14 They shall meet with darkness in the day, and grope at noon-day as in the night.
15 But he shall save the needy from the sword of their mouth, and the poor from the hand of the violent.
16 And to the needy there shall be hope, but liquity shall draw in her mouth.
17 Blessed is the man whom God correcteth: refuse not, therefore, the chastising of the Lord.
18 For he woundeth, and curseth: he striketh, and his hands shall heal.
19 In six troubles he shall deliver thee, and in the seventh, evil shall not touch thee.
20 In famine he shall deliver thee from death; and in battle, from the hand of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue: and thou shalt not fear calamity when it cometh.

CHAP. VI.

22 In destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: and thou shalt not be afraid of the beasts of the earth.
23 But thou shalt have a covenant with the stones of the hands, and the beasts of the earth shall be at peace with thee.
24 And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle is in peace, and visiting thy beauty, thou shalt not sin.
25 Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be multiplied, and thy offshoot like the grass of the earth.
26 Thou shalt enter into the grave in abundance, as a heap of wheat is brought in its season.
27 Behold, this is even so, as we have searched out: which thou having heard, consider it thoroughly in thy mind.

CHAP. VI.

Job maintains his innocence, and complains of his friends.

But Job answered, and said:
2 O that my sins, whereby I have deserved wrath, and the calamity that I suffer, were weighed in a balance.
3 As the sand of the sea, this would appear heavier, therefore, my words are full of sorrow:
4 For the arrows of the Lord are in me, the rage wherewith he driveth up my spirit, and the terror of the Lord war against me.
5 Will the wild ass bray when he hath grass? or will the ox low when he standeth before a full manger?
6 Or can an unsavoury thing be eaten, that is not seasoned with salt? or can a man taste that which, when tasted, bringeth death?
7 The things which before my soul would not touch, now, through anguish, are my meats.
8 Who will grant that my request may come: and that God may give me what I look for?
9 And that he that hath begun may destroy me, that he may let loose his hand, and cut me off?
10 And that this may be my comfort, that afflicting me with sorrow, he spare not, nor I contradict the words of the Holy one.
11 For what is my strength, that I can hold out? or what is my end, that I should keep patience?
Chap. VI.

12 My strength is not the strength of stones, nor is my flesh of brass.

13 Behold there is no help for me in myself, and my familiar friends also are departed from me.

14 He that taketh away mercy from his friend, forsaketh the fear of the Lord.

15 My brethren have passed by me, as the torrent that passeth swiftly in the valleys.

16 They that fear the hoary frost, the snow shall fall upon them.

17 At the time when they shall be scattered they shall perish: and after it groweth hot, they shall be melted out of their place.

18 The paths of their steps are entangled: they shall walk in vain, and shall perish.

19 Consider the paths of Othaim, the ways of Saba, and wait a little while.

20 They are confounded, because I have hoped: they are come also even unto me, and are covered with shame.

21 Now you are come: and now, seeing my affliction, you are afraid.

22 Did I say: Bring to me, and give me of your substance?

23 Or deliver me from the hand of the enemy, and rescue me out of the hand of the mighty?

24 Teach me, and I will hold my peace: and if I have been ignorant of anything, instruct me.

25 Why have you detracted the words of truth, whereas there is none of you that can reprove me?

26 You dress up speeches only to rebuke, and you utter words to the wind.

27 You rush in upon the fatherless, and you endeavour to overthrow your friend.

28 However, finish what you have begun: give ear, and see whether I lie.

29 Answer, I beseech you, without contention: and speaking that which is just, judge ye.

30 And you shall not find iniquity in my tongue, neither shall folly sound in my mouth.

Ver. 12. Brass. This is proverbial. Those who are aware of their own frailty, ought not to expose themselves to dangerous companies, particularly to those of the other sex.

Ver. 28. Give ear. Job 3:34. C.

Ver. 30. Neither shall folly sound. Pr. 3:4. C.

CHAP. VII.

Job declares the miseries of man's life: and addresses himself to God.

THE life of man upon earth is a warfare, and his days are like the days of a hireling.

2 As a servant longeth for the shade, as the hireling looketh for the end of his work;

3 So I also have had empty months, and have numbered to myself wearisome nights.

4 If I lie down to sleep, I shall say: When shall I rise? and again, I shall look for the evening, and shall be filled with sorrows even till darkness.

5 My flesh is clothed with rottenness and the filth of dust; my skin is withered and drawn together.

6 My days have passed more swiftly than the web is cut by the weaver, and are consumed without any hope.

7 Remember that my life is but wind, and my eye shall not return to see good things.

8 Nor shall the sight of man behold me: thy eyes are upon me, and I shall be no more.

9 As a cloud is consumed, and passeth away: so he that shall go down to hell shall not come up.

10 Nor shall he return any more into his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Wherefore, I will not spare my mouth, I will speak in the affliction of my spirit: I talk with the bitterness of my soul.

12 Am I a sea, or a whale, that thou hast inclosed me in a prison?

13 If I say: My bed shall comfort me, and I shall be relieved, speaking with myself on my couch;

14 Thou wilt frighten me with dreams, and terrify me with visions.

15 o that my soul rather chooseth hanging, and my bones death.

16 I have done with hope, I shall now live no longer: spare me, for my days are nothing.

17 What is a man, that thou shouldest magnify him? or why dost thou set thy heart upon him?

3, and viii. 25); and the days of a hireling are also defined and short. Isa. xvi. 14. Amarna.

Ver. 3. And hate. Heb. "they have appointed for me." C.

Ver. 29. Answer. C.

Ver. 30. Neither shall folly sound. Pr. 3:4. C.

Ver. 31. And the days of a hireling are also defined and short. Isa. xvi. 14. Amarna.

Ver. 32. And hate. Heb. "they have appointed for me." C.
18 Thou visitest him early in the morning, and thou provest him suddenly.
19 How long wilt thou not spare me, nor suffer me to swallow down my spittle?
20 I have sinned: what shall I do to thee, O keeper of men? why hast thou set me opposite to thee, and am I become burdensome to myself?
21 Why dost thou not remove my sin, and why dost thou not take away my iniquity? Behold now I shall sleep in the dust: and if thou seek me in the morning, I shall not be.

CHAP. VIII.
Baldad, under pretence of defending the justice of God, accuses Job, and exhorts him to return to God.

THEN Baldad, the Suhite, answered, and said:
2 How long wilt thou speak these things, and how long shall the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind?
3 Doth God pervert judgment, or doth the Almighty overthrow that which is just?
4 Although thy children have sinned against him, and he hath left them in the hand of their iniquity:
5 Yet it thou wilt arise early to God, and wilt beseech the Almighty:
6 If thou wilt walk clean and upright, he will presently awake unto thee, and will make the dwelling of thy justice peaceable:
7 Insomuch, that if thy former things were small, thy latter things would be multiplied exceedingly.
8 For inquire of the former generation, and search diligently into the memory of the fathers:
9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant that our days upon earth are but as a shadow;)
10 And they shall teach thee: they shall speak to thee, and utter words out of their hearts.
11 Can the rush be green without moisture? or is a sedge-bush grow without water?
12 When it is yet in flower, and is not plucked up with the hand, it withereth before all herbs.

CHAP. IX.
Job acknowledges God's justice: although he often afflicts the innocent.

And Job answered, and said:
2 Indeed I know it is so, and that man cannot be justified, compared with God.
3 If he will contend with him, he cannot answer him one for a thousand.
4 He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath resisted him, and hath had peace?
5 Who hath removed mountains, and they whom he overthrew in his wrath, knew not it.
6 Who shaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble.
7 Who commandeth the sun, and it riseth not: and shutteth up the stars, as if it were, under a seal:
8 Who alone spreadeth out the heavens, and walketh upon the waves of the sea:
9 Who maketh Arcturus, and Orion, and Hyades, and the inner parts of the south.

Ver. 17. Magnify him, or put him to such severe trials. He is not worthy of thy attention. C.—Job ii. 6, 7.
Ver. 20. Sinned. I acknowledge my fault. M.—How may I obtain redress? C.—Job's friends maintained that he was guilty. But he does not acquiesce in their conclusion, that these sufferings were precisely in punishment of some crime, though he acknowledges that he is not without his faults. H.—Shall, Heb. also, "what have I done to thee?" I have only hurt myself. C.—Opposite, as a butt to shoot at. H.—Myself. Heb. was formerly "to thee," till the Jews changed it, as less respectable. C.—Sept. still read, "and why am I a burden to thee?" (11.) As I am under the necessity of complaining, in my own defence. C.—Job.

Ver. 2. How long. It seems tired with hearing, (H.), and accuses Job of wear of moderation, by representing him as a hypocrite, (C.), and an obstinate deader of his own opinion, against the better judgment of Eliphaz, (M.), though he was in reality only a constant assertor of truth. W.

Ver. 6. Peaceable. Justice and peace shall kiss. H.—Prosperity will attend thee righteous. C.

Ver. 9. That. Heb. "because of our days." H.—Baldad strives, in vain, to prove what nobody contested. But he does not come to the point, and show that Job was guilty. Post historians might have informed him that the just are often persecuted, like Abel, Abraham, Jacob, and Joseph. C.—It is true, these were afterwards comforted in honour, except the first, who was slain, and better off in the other world.

Ver. 14. Him, the hypocrite, or God, C.—Both shall one day condemn the ill use of riches. H.

Ver. 15. Stoneth. Heb. "he is green before the sun" beat upon him.—Rising, oris, for burnt, (H.), as the Heb., &c., have "garden," (M.), with some Latin editors. He had compared the wicked to a rush without moisture. But the just is like a plant in a fine garden, which is not hurt by the sun-beams. It will grow even among stones, (C.), and may be transplanted without danger, ver. 16. H.—The whole be may be, however, a continuation of the former simile. The rush will presently be scorched, as if it were thrown among stones, and its place will know it no longer, ver. 16. M.

Ver. 19. Sept. "the catastrophes of the wicked, for another shall spring," &c. H.

Ver. 21. Until. If thou be simple, (H.), or irreplaceable, (C.), God will make the exalt. H.—Until, &c. M.—He will restore thee to thy former state of sufficiency, C.

CHAP. IX. Ver. 2. God. Job answers both his friends, and with admirable humility, acknowledges that in God's sight he is full of defects; but not of such nature as to fall, (C,) under the curse of man's imputation. "I am not conscious to myself of any thing; but God is the judge." 1 Cor. iv. 4. H.

Ver. 4. Heavens. Thousand. Pesh. eell. 2. "We even to the praise-worthy life of man, if God judge without mercy." (2.) Aug. H.

Ver. 4. Provoked, Heb. and Sept. "hardened himself against him." Pesh. 7. Scot. So that they appear not. He alludes (C.) to masters of fixing their servants with seals, before locks were invented. M. aso. 1. 3. From these noble effects of God's power Job takes occasion to humble himself. C.

Ver. 5. Hesitates. Hebrew, like a tent. Pesh. eell. 2. These nations lived under tents, (C.), and beholding the magnificent one which God had spread over the heads of all, Job, in rapacity, (H.) wonders that he should have created such a pavilion for his servants.

Ver. 9. Arcturus. &c. These are names of stars or constellations. In 10 Who doth things great and incomprehensible, and wonderful, of which there is no number.

11 If he come to me, I shall not see him; if he depart, I shall not understand.

12 If he examine on a sudden, who shall answer him? or who can say: Why dost thou so?

13 God, whose wrath no man can resist, and under whom they stoop that bear up the world.

14 What art thou then, that I should answer thee, and have words with him?

15 I, who although I should have any just thing, would not answer, but would make supplication to my judge.

16 And if he should hear me when I call, I should not believe that he had heard my voice.

17 For he shall crush me in a whirlwind, and multiply my wounds even without cause.

18 He alloweth not my spirit to rest, and he filleth me with bitterness.

19 If strength be demanded, he is most strong: if equity of judgment, no man dare bear witness for me.

20 If I would justify myself, my own mouth shall condemn me: if I would show myself innocent, he shall prove me wicked.

21 Although I should be simple, even this my soul shall be ignorant of, and I shall be weary of my life.

22 One thing there is that I have spoken, both the innocent and the wicked he consumeth.

23 If he scourge, let him kill at once, and not laugh at the pains of the innocent.

24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked, he covereth the face of the judge thereof: and if it be not he, who is it then?

25 My days have been swifter than a post: they have fled away and have not been seen.

26 They have passed by as ships carrying fruits, as an eagle flying to the prey.

27 If I say: I will not speak so: I change my face, and am tormented with sorrow.

28 I feared all my works, knowing that thou didst not spare the offender.

29 But if so also I am wicked, why have I laboured in vain?

30 If I be washed, as it were, with snow-waters, and my hands shall shine ever so clean:

31 Yet thou shalt plunge me in filth, and my garments shall abhor me.

32 For I shall not answer a man that is like myself nor one that may be heard with me equally in judgment.

33 There is none that may be able to reprove both, and to put his hand between both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let his fear terrify me.

35 I will speak, and will not fear him: for I cannot answer while I am in fear.

CHAP. X.

Job laments his afflictions, and begs to be delivered.

My soul is weary of my life, I will let go my speech against myself, I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.

2 I will say to God: Do not condemn me: tell me why thou judgest me so?
3 Doth it seem good to thee that thou shouldest excommunicate me, oppress me, the work of thy own hands, and help the counsel of the wicked? 4 Hast thou eyes of flesh: or, shalt thou see as man seeth? 5 Are the days as of man, and are thy years as the times of men? 6 That thou shouldst inquire after my iniquity, and search after my sin? 7 And shouldst know that I have done no wicked thing, whereas there is no man that can deliver out of thy hand? 8 Thy hands have made me, and fashioned me wholly round about, and dost thou thus cast me down headlong on a sudden? 9 Remember, I beseech thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and thou wilt make me into dust. 10 Hast thou not milked me as milk, and curdled me like cheese? 11 Thou hast clothed me with skin and flesh: thou hast put me together with bones and sinews. 12 Thou hast granted me life and mercy, and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit. 13 Although thou conceal these things in thy heart, yet I know that thou rememberest all things. 14 If I have sinned, and thou hast spared me for an hour: why dost thou not suffer me to be clean from my iniquity? 15 And if I be wicked, woe unto me: and if just, I shall not lift up my head, being filled with affliction and misery. 16 And for pride thou wilt take me as a lioness, and returning, thou tormentest me wonderfully: 17 Thou renewest thy witnesses against me, and multipliest thy wrath upon me, and pains war against me. 18 Why didst thou bring me forth out of the womb? 19 That I had been consumed, that eye might not see me! 20 I should have been as if I had not been, carried from the womb to the grave. 21 Shall not the fewness of my days be ended shortly? Suffer me, therefore, that I may lament my sorrow a little:

3 21 Before I go and return no more, to a land that is dark and covered with the mist of death: 22 A land of misery and darkness, where the shadow of death, and no order, but everlasting horror dwelleth.

CHAP. XI.

Soriar reproves Job for justifying himself, and inveigling him to repentance.

THEN Sophar, the Naamathite, answered, and said: 2 Shall not he that speaketh much, hear also? or shall a man full of talk be justified? 3 Shall men hold their peace to thee only? and when thou hast mocked others, shall no man confute thee? 4 For thou hast said: My word is pure, and I am clean in thy sight. 5 And I wish that God would speak with thee, and would open his lips to thee, 6 That he might show thee the secrets of wisdom, and that his law is manifold, and thou mightest understand that he exacteth much less of thee, than thy iniquity deserveth.

7 Peradventure thou wilt comprehend the steps of God, and wilt find out the Almighty perfectly? 8 He is higher than heaven, and what wilt thou do? he is deeper than hell, and how wilt thou know? 9 The measure of him is longer than the earth, and broader than the sea.

10 If he shall overturn all things, or shall press them together, who shall contradict him? 11 For he knoweth the vanity of men, and when he seeth iniquity, doth he not consider it? 12 A vain man is lifted up into pride, and thinketh himself born free like a wild ass's colt. 13 But thou hast hardened thy heart, and hast spread thy hands to him. 14 If thou wilt put away from thee the iniquity that is in thy hand, and let not injustice remain in thy tabernacle: 15 Then mayst thou lift up thy face without spot, and thou shalt be stedfast, and shalt not fear.

16 Thou shalt also forget misery, and remember it only as waters that are passed away.

17 And brightness like that of the noon-day, shall arise to thee at evening: and when thou shalt think thyself consumed, thou shalt rise as the day-star.

VERS. 3. Men. Heb. "shall thy life make man keep silence?" Sept. "Blessed be the short-lived son of a woman. Speak not more, for there is no one to give sentence against thee." H. VERS. 4. Sight. Job had just said the reverse. Chap. xvi. 28. Chrys. VERS. 5. Laws. Heb. "Thou hast found out the Almighty perfectly." Sept. "Thee doth he not consider?" VERS. 6. "Israel, the Hebr. Sept. "the wisdom of men." Hence it is explained, "law, strength, comfort." &c. We might translate, "and that the reality of thy crimes deserved double punishment," &c. The obligations of the natural, and also of the written law of Moses, with which Job was (C.) perhaps (p.) acquainted, (chap. xxii. 29), are very numerous and difficult. &c. Sept. "for it is double of what has come against thee, and then thou wouldst not know that thy sins are justly required." Sept. "that they are double to that which is known: therefore, that God executeth of times less than thine iniquity deservest." 1 Esd. 13. H. VERS. 7. 8. Job did not overlook, that had he known the sins for which he was punished, he would not have been punished. Ex. 19. 13. H. VERS. 11. 12. "He will not overlook thee." H. VERS. 13. 14. "He is heart &c. (C.) he who is born like a &c. Shall he assert his independence, or pretend to be wise? II.—The Hebrews place wisdom in the heart, as we do courage. Chap. xlii. 3; Prov. iv. 19; &c. VERS. 15. But. Heb. "If thou direct thy heart, &c. Thou mayst lift up thy head." (ver. 15. H.) without fear. 2 Kings ii. 22. C. VERS. 16. "As clean water, thou shalt put away corruption, and shalt not fear." VERS. 17. Brightness. Sept. "That thy prayer, like the day-star, and life, shall arise to thee from the south, or as at noon-day." Heb. "Thy age (H.) shall appear clearer than the noon-day, and darkness like the morning." Prosperity shall succeed, (C.) when thou shalt think all lost. M.
18 And thou shalt have confidence, hope being set before thee, and being buried thou shalt sleep secure.
19 "Thou shalt rest, and there shall be none to make thee afraid: and many shall entreat thy face.
20 "But the eyes of the wicked shall decay, and the way to escape shall fail them, and their hope the abomination of the soul.

CHAP. XII.

Job, a reply to Sophar. He extols God's power and wisdom.

THEN Job answered, and said:
2 Are you then men alone, and shall wisdom die with you?
3 "I also have a heart as well as you: for who is ignorant of these things which you know?
4 "He that is mocked by his friend as I, shall call upon God and he will hear him: for the simplicity of the just man is laughed to scorn.
5 The lamp despised in the thoughts of the rich, is ready for the time appointed.
6 "The tabernacles of robbers abound, and they provoke God boldly; whereas it is he that hath given all into their hands.
7 But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee: and the birds of the air, and they shall tell thee.
8 Speak to the earth, and it shall answer thee: and the fishes of the sea shall tell.
9 Who is ignorant that the hand of the Lord hath made all these things?
10 In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the spirit of all flesh of man.
11 "Dost not the ear discern words, and the palate of him that eateth, the taste?
12 In the ancient is wisdom, and in length of days prudence.
13 With him is wisdom and strength, he hath counsel and understanding.
14 "If he pull down, there is no man that can build up: if he shut up a man, there is none that can open.
15 If he withhold the waters, all things shall be dried up: and if he send them out, they shall overturn the earth.

CHAP. XIII.

Job persists in maintaining his innocence: and reproves his friends.

BEHOLD my eye hath seen all these things, and my ear hath heard them, and I have understood them all.
2 According to your knowledge, I also know: neither am I inferior to you.
3 But yet I will speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God:
4 Having first shown that you are forgers of lies, and maintainers of perverse opinions.
5 And I wish you would hold your peace, that you might be thought to be wise men.
6 Hear ye therefore my reproof, and attend to the judgment of my lips.
7 Hath God any need of your lie, that you should speak deceitfully for him?
8 Do you accept his person, and do you endeavour to judge for God?
9 Or shall it please him, from whom nothing can be

VER. 15. Secure, dying full of hope. Chal. Heb. "thou shalt dig," (for water, which was there a great treasure. Gen. xxvi. 25, and xxvi. 16,) or to fasten down thy tent. (C.) "and rest secure." II.

VER. 4. Mocked. He retaliates on Sophar, (chap. xii. 3, 8, 9,) who had very seriously exhorted Job to call on God, as if he been ignorant of this duty. C.
VER. 5. The lamp. Such is the just man, who under affliction is exposed to the ridicule of men who live at their ease.-Ver. 44. to fall.-Sept. "It was appointed for me to fall under others at the time I lived." C.
VER. 6. Abound. Heb. "are at peace." C.-The prosperity of the wicked is therefore no proof that they are pleasing to him. R.-All nature testifies that God exercises a sovereign dominion over his works. He may therefore cause the just to suffer, though they be guiltless. This is one of Job's grand maxims. C.
VER. 12. Ancient. He rather chides the youth of Sophar for offering to give him lessons.

VER. 17. To a. Heb. "to be despised" of their wisdom and riches.-Sept. "into captivity." H.

VER. 19. Looseth. Sept. "seventh kings upon the throne," &c. -Belt. This was usually very magnificent, and a military ornament. Job intimates that God deprives kings of their authority at pleasure. Heb. may also signify that he lootheth the bond or prisoner of kings, and reduces themselves to slavery. C.

VER. 21. Relaxed. Heb. "ungirded (disarms) the strong." C.-Sept. "but the lowly (humble) he has insulted." C.
VER. 22. Of death. Chap. xvi. (H.) may perhaps simply denote darkness.-C.-God bringeth to light the most hid things. H.

VER. 23. Multipleth. Heb., Sept., and Syr. "doeth evil," (C.) suffering them to suffer too much in their strength, so that they fall in easy prey.-H.

VER. 24. Chevaphath. Heb. "aloud away the heart," or "preyence of princes." Hence they follow the most assured counsels. Isa. xxix. 10. C.

CHAP. XIII. VER. 3. Reasons. Heb. "to dispute with, or before God," concerning the matter which we have in hand. He appeals to God, as to the judge of all.

VER. 5. Aten. Prov. xxviii. 38. If you had been silent, you might still have had the reputation of wisdom, C.

VER. 9. Or. Heb. "Is it good that he should examine you, would you escape?" C.
JOB.

27 Thou hast put my feet in the stocks, and hast observed all my paths, and hast considered the steps of my feet:
28 Who am to be consumed as rottenness, and as a garment that is moth-eaten.

CHAP. XIV.

Job declares the shortness of man's days: and professes his belief of a resurrection.

MAN born of a woman, living for a short time, is filled with many miseries.

2 "Who cometh forth like a flower, and is destroyed, and fleeth as a shadow, and never continueth in the same state.

3 And dost thou think it meet to open thy eyes upon such an one, and to bring him into judgment with thee?
4 "Who can make him clean that is conceived of unclean seed? is it not thou who only art?

5 The days of man are three score and ten, yea, if I live with thee thirty years, and the appointed age of my life.

6 Depart a little from me, that I may rest, until I may be restored, and until I haveASM.
7 A tree hath hope: if it be cut, it groweth green again, and the boughs thereof sprout.
8 If its root be old in the earth, and its stock be dead in the dust:
9 At the scent of water it shall spring, and bring forth leaves, as when it was first planted.
10 But man when he shall be dead, and stripped and consumed, I pray thee where is he?

11 As if the waters should depart out of the sea, and an emptied river should be dried up:
12 So man, when he is fallen asleep, shall not rise again: till the heavens be broken, he shall not awake, nor rise up out of his sleep.

CHAP. XIV.

1. Man. He exposes to God the common miseries of mankind.
2. With thee. He seems beneath God's attention (Arist. Met. VIII. 9. Cicero, Nat. H.: but as the knowledge and other attributes of the Deity are infinite, he must necessarily attend to the whole creation. The moral actions of men being also infinite in their object, tending to God, or contravening his ordinances, they are not beneath the consideration of an infinite Being.
3. Seed. It is not expressed in Heb. "unclean." It may refer to Adam. 1. It is the only art. Essence itself. Corinthus. "The justification of the sinner is a greater miracle than the creation of the world." S. Aug. ibid. The birth of Jesus Christ was free from stain (Luke i. 35); and was also the conception of his virgin Mother, by the power of God (M.); and his gene, as it is plausibly believed. 11. He alone can purify man. C. Heb. "who can produce what is clean out of the uncleanness? Not one." Or Chal. "Is there not one?" Sept. "For who shall be pure from corruption? Not so much as one." (5) though his life be only of one day upon earth. The more ancient Fathers have generally quoted the text in this manner, to prove original sin (H. S. Cup., Tert., S. Leo Magn. in Nat. 1. c. T.); and Bellarmine almost does the same, (Grat. iv. 4.) observing that the Sept. have taken in three words from the following verse: "though his days are few." Yet there are some words which are not in Heb., though the doctrine here maintained be indubitable. Amaran. Job was fully convinced of it, and added it as a plea for mercy. It also tends to keep us in the most profound humility and watchfulness, to resist the motions of conceit. C.
4. Is he? Will he naturally come to life again?
5. Sit. There would be no supply of rain for the fountains. Eccles. 7.
6. All would continue dry: or when the blood is once gone, life is at an end. See 2 Kings xiv. 14. C. -The water cannot go back. M.
7. Till. At that time the general resurrection will take place. Val. Scaliger.
8. Psal. 1. 2.

18 Who will grant me this, that thou mayest protect me in hell, and hide me till thy wrath pass, and appoint me a time when thou wilt remember me?
19 Shall man that is dead, thinkest thou, live again? all the days, in which I am now in warre, I expect until my change come.
20 Thou shalt call me, and I will answer thee: to the work of thys hands thou shalt reach out thy right hand.
21 Thou indeed hast numbered my steps, but spare my sins.
22 Thou hast sealed up my offences as it were in a bag, but hast cured my iniquity.
23 A mountain falling cometh to nought, and a rock is removed out of its place.
24 Waters wear away the stones, and with inundation the ground by little and little is washed away: so in like manner thou shalt destroy man.
25 Thou hast strengthened him for a little while, that he may pass away for ever: thou shalt change his face, and shalt send him away.
26 Whether his children come to honour or dishonour, he shall not understand.
27 But yet his flesh, while he shall live, shall have pain, and his soul shall mourn over him.

A ND Eliphaz, the Thebanite, answered, and said:
2 Will a wise man answer as if he were speaking in the wind, and fill his stomach with burning heat?
3 Thou provest him by words, who is not equal to thee, and thou speakest that which is not good for thee.
4 As much as is in thee, thou hast made void fear, and hast taken away prayers from before God.
5 For thy iniquity hath taught thy mouth, and thou imitatest the tongue of blasphemers.
6 Thy own mouth shall condemn thee, and not I: and thy own lips shall answer thee.

VER. 18. That thou mayest protect me in hell. That is, in the state of the dead, and in the place wherein souls are kept waiting for their Redeemer (Ch. 1.) and in the grave, where the body awaiting the resurrection. H.—These words are repeated in the office for the dead, in the name of the souls in purgatory. Cart. n. 84.—They are added in proof of limbs. But and dissentia also “the grave.”
Am. —What then! I The soul is not confined there. It must, consequently, be explained of the lower receptacles for souls, as well as of the grave. H.
Ver. 14. Deal. Shall one in a condition nearly as bad, as, like myself, be restored to health? If the latter, let there be health. H.—I entertain this hope. C.—Athink thou, is not in Heb. or Sept. The latter speaks (H.) clearly of the resurrection. C.
Ver. 15. Burnt. Heb. "sewed up." This method and sealing was in use to prevent the dryness of walls, before locks were invented. G. C.
Ver. 16. Man. Heb. and Sept. “the hope of man.” H.—He must not expect to be more privileged than all other things, which time consumes.
—Job again deplores human misery. M.
Ver. 16. He cannot naturally be informed. M.—God may, however, reveal to souls departed, what may increase their accidental happiness or misery. H.—Hence the Church prays to the saints. Job is speaking chiefly of the dead grace, and the condition of what appears externally. During life man cannot foresee the state of his children; nor in the other world, would their condition render him happy or otherwise. M. Merc., Sept. “If his sons be many, or few, he knoweth not.”

CHAP. XV. VER. 2. Host. Heb. “cess wind.” (M.) or give vent to passion. H.—Eliphaz now rebukes Job without any reserves. He was perhaps displeased at the comparison used by the latter. Chap. xiv. 4.
VER. 3. Equal. God, who is far above thee. Heb. “He will be the wise...” argue with useless words, or with speeches which are nothing to the purpose!” C.
Ver. 4. God. Another, after thy example, will assert his own innocence under affliction, and will be sure, not have recourse to God by humble prayer. Behold the dark and serious consequences of thy principle. C.

VER. 5. Blasphemers. Heb. “of the crafty,” which is sometimes taken in a good sense. Sept. “they have not distinguished the speeches of the princes.” Thou hast not shown respect to our admonitions. (C.) or understood our meaning. H.
Ver. 7. First. Is thy experience so great, (M.) or art thou the most excellent of men? To hear thee we are but men. Chap. xiii. 5. C.
Ver. 8. His. Heb. “dost thou restrain wisdom to thyself?” Sept. “or his wisdom come to thee?” H.
Ver. 10. Fathers. Heb. and Sept. “father.” H.—Eliphaz always speaks first, and hints that he was as old, perhaps elder, than Job; who had rather found fault with the youth of Sophon. Chap. xiii. 10. He also boasts that they, or their country, furnished masters of greater wisdom and experience than even Job’s father. C.
Ver. 11. Thee. This would not be difficult, (T.) if thy presumption did not prove an obstacle. Thou makest small account of those comforts, or of our advice, trusting in thy own justice. C.—Sept. “Thou hast been chastised little, considering thy sins. Thou hast spoken with excessive inaccuracy.”
